CHICAGO IS NEXT IN AAA PLAN FOR MILK DICTATOR

Promote Scheme to Fix Prices.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Milk price fixing in Chicago is the next objective of the Agricultural Adjustment administration in carrying out the New Deal plan to make Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, the milk dictator of the nation.

This program, long rumored, was confirmed yesterday when it became known that AAA agents have been conducting investigations and doing "educational" work among farmers in the Chicago district for several weeks.

Farmers Must Give Approval.

Under the 1937 federal marketing agreement act Wallace has the authority to set the minimum price that dealers pay farmers for milk if the milk producing farmers approve the plan by a two-thirds vote.

Already Wallace is fixing the price that farmers get for milk in at least nine markets, including some of the largest in the country. The AAA forces are now concentrating their efforts on getting a milk marketing plan adopted by the farmers who supply milk to New York City, the largest market in the country.

The Wallace price fixing plan is to be voted on in a referendum on Aug. 20 of the 60,000 farmers in the seven northeastern states which furnish New York with milk. If the plan is approved by two-thirds of the producers voting or by producers of two-thirds of the milk for the New York market, Wallace will have the authority to compel payment of a minimum farm price for milk.

Nine Cities Have Plan.

This price fixing system already is in force in the marketing areas that serve St. Louis and Kansas City, Mo., Boston and Fall River, Mass., Dubuque, Ia., La Porte and Fort Wayne, Ind., and Cincinnati, O. An order issued for the Toledo, O., area on Aug. 1 is to be voted upon by dairymen in that region soon.

In Chicago the federal grand jury is now investigating the milk situation. Witnesses representing all branches of the industry are being heard. Friends of the new AAA price fixing plan are hopeful that the grand jury investigation will boost Wallace's program.

Gerhart H. Ekhoff, president of the Chicago Pure Milk association, said yesterday that his board of directors recently voted in favor of going along with groups that are agitating for the price fixing plan. The association is the bargaining agency for about 14,500 dairymen in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana.

Opposed by Skeptical Farmers.

Although the plan has the approval of Pure Milk association officials, its adoption has been delayed in the Chicago district because many skeptical farmers oppose it. These skeptics still remember the experiences they had with government price control in 1933, '34, and '35 under the original Agricultural Adjustment act.

In the summer of 1933 the first AAA milk control scheme was launched. A code was set up giving the government authority to fix the price paid farmers and the price charged consumers. Independent dealers defied the secretary of agriculture and continued to sell milk at prices lower than those charged by the larger distributors, who, with the Pure Milk association, signed the code.

Finding the code unenforceable, Secretary Wallace terminated it on Jan. 1, 1934. AAA machinery was put to work on another plan, which was set up on Feb. 5. Under this modified scheme, also enforced under authority of the AAA law, the farm price was fixed by the government. No attempt was made to fix the price to the consumers.

Farmers Get Less Under Plan.

The second price fixing plan collapsed in a little more than a year. Officials of the Pure Milk association at the time declared that the price dictatorship, adopted to increase the price of milk paid to farmers, actually tended to lower the price.

Now AAA agents are again meeting with farmers, telling them about the 1938 price fixing model. Charles Smith, marketing specialist of the AAA dairy division, has attended some of the meetings of dairymen in northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin.

Jennie, Judge's Helper, Hopes Robes Will Fit

BY MARCIA WINN.

Jennie Jablonski is about to find, she fears, that the cloak of justice can make its wearer as uneasy as a kingly crown.

Jennie is 19, a vegetable cook at the Illinois Athletic club. She is also, since yesterday, "assistant judge" to Judge Joseph Sabath. As such, she is supposed to do what Judge Sabath prides himself on, bring a warring couple together again.

The warring couple in this instance happens to be Jennie's parents, Albert and Mary Jablonski. And what Jennie tried to tell the court, before Judge Sabath tossed his black robes around her shoulders for the news cameramen, is that she doesn't want to bring them together again. What's more, she knows they don't want it either.

Protests Avail Nothing.

"'Gee,' I told him," she recounted, "I says, 'I don't want to handle a thing like that,' but he says 'you have to' and closed the case. What could I do?"

Jennie's parents have been separated for three years. She and three younger children live with their mother in a back alley flat at 2247 South Whipple street. Her father, a janitor with Crane company, lives at 2129 South Homan avenue. All find this arrangement pleasing.

That is why they all were in court. Jennie's father, it seems, wants a good, clean cut divorce. Jennie's mother simply wants a good, tight separation, with support payments made on the dot. These payments now are $76 in arrears, and she wants her husband in jail.

Wants Him to Pay, or Else.

"I'd hate to see him in jail, of course," Jennie reflected, "but if he won't pay?" She shrugged.

"I don't see how I could bring them together. It's hard to say yes or no. They both are so stubborn. He's got his ways. She's got hers."

Jennie, however, is more than willing to try if she can only get her parents together long enough to talk it over. The trouble, she says, is that the judge only gave her a week.

But Mary, Jennie's sister, disagrees. "Jennie can't do anything," she said firmly. "Let him [her father] sit it out six months."

"O," she concluded, "already I got troubles enough!"

WPA PUTS BOY OF 7 ON PAY ROLL; TAKES FAMILY OFF RELIEF

Uniontown, Pa., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Richard Lee Malone, 7 years old, received through the mail a slip assigning him to a WPA road project. Richard's parents ignored it, feeling that a boy his age could not leave school to shoulder a shovel.

A few days later Richard received another letter inclosing a check for $6.54—WPA wages for thirteen hours work he hadn't done. Then came a new development. Richard's parents were taken off the relief rolls because he refused to support them.

They displayed the correspondence today to verify their story, while Richard labored over his school books, still shunning the WPA, and the family wondered what would come next.

EXPORT BAN SAYS PANDA MEI-MEI WILL BE OLD-MAID

If Mei-Mei, the baby giant panda at the Chicago Zoölogical park in Brookfield, is yearning for a panda playmate, she'll have to get over it. China, it appears, has turned thumbs down on panda exportation.

Mrs. Ruth Harkness, who brought both Mei-Mei and her predecessor, the Late Sulin, to Brookfield, has two more giant pandas, a male and a female, it was learned yesterday. But she can't get them past Shanghai. In a letter to Herbert E. Bradley, chairman of the park's animal committee, she indicated that China wants to keep its pandas, or at least keep them out of the hands of exporters.

Anyway, she added, the new female is "viciously ill tempered" and the male not only is too large for shipment, but eats only bamboo.

Hell Hath No Fury, Deputy Learns, Like a Swatted Bee

Honey is sweet, but not the bee's disposition. Deputy Sherif Frank Kazlausky of Lake county was driving near Mundelein yesterday when a bee alighted on his arm. He brushed it off. Instead of feeling rebuffed, the bee came right inside the car and stung him in the eye, sending him to the hospital.

Seize $10,000 Gems in Daring Loop Holdup

A holdup that netted more than $10,000 in jewels and cash was carried out across the street from the county building late yesterday afternoon with the precision of a military attack.

At 5:20 o'clock, while thousands were leaving the area for home, a big gray sedan drew up before 133 North Clark street. On the ground floor there is the Prudential Loan association. In the windows were trays full of diamonds, not yet moved to the vaults for the night. The inside of the store is not visible from the street.

Bandit Leader Masked.

A tall man of 45 to 50 years and heavily built, got out of the car and went into the shop. He stood at the door a minute, then pulled out a gun, covered his face with a handkerchief, and announced that it was a robbery. He told Sam Skurie, the manager; Irwin Rubin, a clerk, and the porter, Stewart Randolph, to get in the office and keep still.

In a moment a second man walked in. He wore black glasses. The two waited. Shortly a third man entered. He covered his face with a handkerchief. The leader looked them over, and said:

"All right, boys, do your stuff."

The two began going through trays, picking out the largest stones, and took $500 in currency from the cash register. Then the leader made Rubin open the vaults and selected more loot. A woman customer came in.

"This is a robbery, lady," said the leader. "Get inside there and be quiet. Nobody will harm you."

Over in Ten Minutes.

In about five or six minutes more, the two helpers said they had the best of the collection.

"All set?" asked the leader. "Okay, let's go."

The robbery took just ten minutes. As the bandits went out Rubin reached the alarm on the floor and tripped it. The call went to the Central police. They rushed over, but all three men and a fourth, who stayed in the car, had escaped in the homeward rush hour crowd.

Lloyd J. Butler, 6956 Jeffery avenue, owner of the loan association, made the estimate on the loot.

CITES RECORD IN STRIKING BACK AT ROOSEVELT

Senator George.

Senator George charged that he was a victim of "slanderous or ignorant misrepresentations" and denied accusations of big business favoritism.

The blast by Senator George came a few hours after President Roosevelt, in an informal talk at Warm Springs, Ga., had said that he wanted Lawrence Camp to be the next senator from Georgia. Camp, who is United States district attorney at Atlanta, is opposing Senator George for renomination in the primary Sept. 14. George has served sixteen years in the senate.

George Replies to Charges.

The veteran senator, in a radio address, declared: "When any man asking for the highest office within the gift of the people of this state is unwilling or afraid to do justice to big business, middle size business, or little business that man will sell you down the creek whenever it is politically possible for him to do it."

"I know," he added, "that when I voted for vocational education for our farm boys and girls, even against the threat of a presidential veto, that I was not fighting for big business.

"When I was fighting for the soldiers of the world war I know that I was not fighting for big business. Yet six times have I taken the floor in the senate to override a presidential veto of bills that had been passed for the benefits of our veterans or for their widows or orphans."

Cites Fight for Small Business.

Referring to other legislation, Senator George continued:

"I know that when I advocated bank deposit insurance banking reform, mobilization of the gold reserve and control of the stock and commodity exchanges that I was not fighting for big business.

"I was fighting then for every small business man in this nation. But I am not afraid to represent every legitimate business in this state, or that may come to this state."

Meanwhile, in a speech in Carrollton prior to going to Warm Springs for a conference with President Roosevelt, Camp reiterated his charge that Senator George was an agent of foreign big business, and called him "the most subtle and most adroit enemy President Roosevelt and his humanitarian program have."

ROOSEVELT ASKS PURGE

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Warm Springs, Ga., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt came out flatly against the renomination of Senator Walter F. George of Georgia in a surprise speech today. He indorsed the candidacy of United States District Attorney Lawrence Camp of Atlanta for the Democratic senatorial nomination, which means election in this state.

It was the first time that a Democratic senator had been specifically and publicly marked by the President for the purge. Senator George is one of the Democratic leaders in the senate and is hailed as one of the most scholarly and thoughtful statesmen in that body. He incurred the enmity of the President by opposing the Supreme court packing plan. He also fought the government reorganization and wages and hours bills.

Gain Seen for Talmadge.

Political experts in Georgia think the President's indorsement may result in the nomination of former Gov. Eugene Talmadge, a third candidate, who also is anti-administration. They think the President's intervention will injure Senator George but not help Camp sufficiently to bring about his nomination. Before the President's statement, Senator

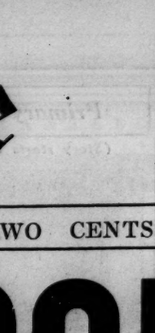
WPA Theater Project Called Haven of Reds

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Representative J. P. Thomas [R., N.J.] charged today that the Federal Theater project of the WPA is dominated by communists.



Representative J. P. Thomas.

Thomas, who is a member of the Dies committee investigating un-American activities, declared he would demand, when the committee begins public hearings next Friday, that the project be closed pending a house cleaning.

Although the federal theater is conducted for the asserted purpose of giving temporary employment to actors unable to find work, Thomas said he had sworn evidence to show that communists with no previous theatrical experience had been given jobs. He added that he would demand the resignations of the project officials who had handed rôles to inexperienced Reds.

Evidence Set Forth.

That many unemployed actors are barred unless they first join the Workers' alliance, front organization of the communists.

That American world war veterans are being barred from the project solely because they are veterans.

That the project is a patronage vehicle to supply jobs for Reds.

That the project, supported by public funds, has become part and parcel of the communist party, spreading its radical theories through its stage productions.

That practically every play presented under the auspices of the theater project is sheer propaganda for communism or the Roosevelt administration.

That one production called "Injunction Granted" advocates rioting and bloodshed.

That the script of "Injunction Granted" attacks the judiciary system of the United States, charges that the courts will not aid the working man, and refers freely to the "industrial and civil war."

Proposes Sweeping Inquiry.

As an example of how the theater project is being used as a job agency for the Reds, Congressman Thomas said that a chambermaid in a New York hotel, a communist, was given a leading rôle in a federal theater play, although she had never before been on a stage.

"There is only one effective way of stopping such an outrage and that is a thorough cleaning of the entire federal theater project," Thomas said. "When our committee assembles this week in Washington I will strongly recommend that a sweeping investigation be made of this government agency."

DEFEAT OF IDAHO YES MAN STUNS ROOSEVELT AIDS

Senator Pope's Loss Is Double Blow.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Republicans and anti-Roosevelt Democrats were jubilant today over the defeat in Idaho of Senator James P. Pope, an administration yes-man. They said the Idaho results turned the tables on President Roosevelt's efforts to purge the Democratic party of all nonconformists and definitely placed the 100 per centers on the defensive.

Senator Pope's defeat was a double blow to the Roosevelt administration. He was the first 100 per center to be eliminated on the issue of loyalty to the President, and his successful opponent, Representative D. Worth Clark, was the first candidate in a senatorial primary to campaign frankly as "a conservative, not a New Deal yes-man."

Rode In on Coat Tails.

Senator Pope was one of the most fervent Roosevelt followers in the senate, having been elected for his first and only term as a coat-tailer in 1932.

Representative Clark opposed President Roosevelt's court packing bill, voted against the dictator reorganization bill, voted to recommit the scheme for the political regulation of wages and hours, and opposed various other administration measures.

In nominating him for the senate, the Democrats of Idaho indicated a preference for the type of independence that has characterized Senator William E. Borah, Republican, during his 31 years in the senate.

Fight for Renomination.

The Roosevelt administration moved heaven and earth for the renomination of Senator Pope, who was co-author of the farm dictatorship bill. While the reorganization bill was pending in the senate, Idaho voters deluged their senators, protesting the proposed reorganization of the forestry service.

Senator Pope wavered on this one point, until, as he told the senate, he received assurances from the White House. At the same time he received a more tangible reward in the nature of funds to begin construction of a $9,900,000 hydro-electric power and irrigation project on the Snake and Boise rivers.

More Reward for Pope.

Just before congress adjourned, President Roosevelt again rewarded the other senator from Idaho by demanding the creation of a joint congressional committee on the development and use of phosphate resources. The President mentioned in his special message that 5.5 billion tons of the world phosphate supply, estimated at 17.2 billion tons, was located in Idaho. Senator Pope, who became chairman of the committee, told Idaho voters that their phosphate supply, mined and sold at $4 a ton, would bring $22,000,000,000.

During the campaign Secretary of State Cordell Hull indorsed Pope for his support of the reciprocal trade agreement program and on July 14 Postmaster General James A. Farley, who also is chairman of the Democratic national committee, said it was highly important that Idaho elect a "Democratic senator who will support the President in any program he undertakes."

"There is no senator in Washington who has been more loyal or sincere in support of the administration than has Senator Pope," Mr. Farley added.

Hamilton Hails Defeat.

"Senator Pope's defeat is another repudiation by American voters of President Roosevelt's demand for the election this year of only yes-men subservient to his will," said Chairman John Hamilton of the Republican national committee.

"Instead of spending his time in the south seeking the defeat of senators of independence and courage, the President had better hurry to the assistance of his yes-men in other parts of the country.

"Undoubtedly the New Dealers will attempt to alibi this defeat, just as they did that of Maury Maverick in Texas and William E. Dodd Jr. in Virginia. But the facts regarding Idaho speak for themselves. Senator Pope was one of the most loyal and enthusiastic New Dealers. He was for the President 100 per cent.

"He had the New Deal blessing.

He was given the privilege of announcing all New Deal projects and spending schemes for Idaho. Even Jim Farley and Secretary of State Cordell Hull came to his assistance with friendly statements.

Farm Revolt Cited.

"But Senator Pope was defeated by a young man who made no secret of his hostility to much of the New Deal, who campaigned as an independent Democrat, and who was above grabbing for a piece of the presidential coattail.

"Over and above all of that, Sentor Pope was the co-author of the present farm act and he made his unsuccessful race in a state predominantly rural. The middle west revolt against the farm act is greater than any people suspect—and it is growing daily."

All the Democratic senators marked for the Roosevelt purge have been renominated in primaries held to date. A member of the White House purge committee admitted that the administration has been forced into a defensive position. Asked to comment on the results of yesterday's primaries, he consoled himself with the renomination of Senator Robert J. Bulkley in Ohio and Senator Hattie W. Caraway in Arkansas, both 100 per centers.

Joseph B. Keenan, assistant attorney general and patronage manager of the justice department, who rushed to Warm Springs, Ga., to confer with President Roosevelt regarding the purge of Senator Walter F. George, said the vote in Ohio was especially gratifying.

"It shows fine discrimination and careful thought on the part of the people," said Keenan.

Mrs. Caraway's Margin 8,000.

The renomination of both Senator Bulkley and Senator Caraway had been generally expected, the big surprise being the size of the vote received by Senator Caraway's opponent, Representative John L. McClellan, who professed loyalty to President Roosevelt but who opposed some of his major measures. Mrs. Caraway led only by 8,000 votes on the basis of incomplete returns.

Senator Bulkley, whom the President indorsed on his trip through Ohio last month, overwhelmed former Gov. George White, a lukewarm supporter of the Roosevelt administration.

Bulkley, who had the support of the vast WPA and federal jobholders' machine in Ohio, will be opposed in the November election by Robert A. Taft, son of the former President. Taft defeated Arthur H. Day, a justice of the Ohio Supreme court, for the Republican nomination. Republicans are counting heavily on gaining a senate seat in Ohio this year.

There was little consolation for the administration and John L. Lewis' C. I. O., its political ally, in the results of yesterday's congressional primaries, where various house Democrats marked for the purge triumphed over opponents who promised blind subservience to the President. The only Ohio Democrat on the C. I. O. blacklist, Representative Arthur P. Lemneck, won renomination easily. Lamneck consistently has opposed major Roosevelt measures.

Rep. Mosier Trails.

Harold Mosier, representative at large, another Ohio Democrat who voted to recommit the wage-hour and farm dictatorship bills, apparently was defeated for renomination by a 100 per center. Representative John McSweeney and former Representative Stephen Young, both professed 100 per centers, were leading for the two posts as congressmen at large.

The four Democratic representatives from Nebraska, all in-and-outers in their support of the administration, defeated 100 per centers.

Representative Karl Stefan, the lone Republican, had no opposition. Representative Harry B. Coffee, who was blacklisted by the C. I. O. for his vote against the wage and hour bill, and Representative Henry C. Luckey were opposed by 100 per centers primarily because they voted against the farm dictatorship scheme.

Representative Charles F. McLaughlin and Representative Charles G. Binderup were the other Nebraska members who defeated 100 per centers.

ROOSEVELT RULE CALLED BIGGEST FLOP BY LYONS

Belleville, Ill., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for United States senator, said in a campaign speech here tonight the Roosevelt administration is "the most colossal flop in the history of the United States."

Lyons said that in 1932, when the Republican party went out of power, there were 8,000,000 unemployed. He said now 11,500,000 are unemployed, 3,500,000 are part time workers, while 20,000,000 others are dependent on the government despite $22,000,000 spent by the administration "to justify its theory."

"Industry has been stagnated," Lyons charged, "while consumers' taxes go higher and higher. Franklin D. Roosevelt is the invisible tax collector. He is present at every meal in every family, getting more than his share from the mouths of hungry children."

Lyons charged the WPA had deteriorated into "the most rotten political machine in American history."

GROUP TO DRAFT PLATFORM FOR ILLINOIS G. O. P.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—A committee of five or more members to draft a platform for the Republican state convention here Aug. 31 will be named within the next 48 hours. This was announced today by Edward A. Hayes, Decatur, chairman of a pre-convention committee session.

The committee will include one Young Republican member, a representative of labor, another for agriculture, and beyond that he is undetermined, the chairman said.

Attended by more than sixty party leaders, the platform parley resulted in a decision for a concise set of planks. Many suggestions were received and many more will be on file with the committee before the convention.

PLEA FOR FUNDS FROM WPA MEN DEEMED PROPER

Sheppard Sees No Cause for Investigation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Senator Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.], chairman of the senate campaign investigating committee, today professed the belief that political candidates are within their rights in soliciting funds from WPA workers.

Senator Sheppard.

The question was thrust before Senator Sheppard when he was confronted with one of the thousands of letters which have been sent over the signature of Senator Joseph F. Guffey to Pennsylvania federal jobholders and WPA workers. The letters solicit contributions to the Democratic campaign fund and give the contributors a chance to pay a lump sum or in three instalments.

"At first blush, I can't see where this comes under our jurisdiction," Sheppard said with reference to the resolution which created the committee to investigate all campaign expenditures for national office and the use of public funds to coerce voters.

Says Money Is Theirs.

Pressed as to whether solicitation of WPA employés was a cause for investigation, he answered: "I believe that when people have earned money it is theirs to spend as they please."

Senator Guffey, who appointed the state WPA administrator, is in Europe. He sailed recently in defiance of a county grand jury subpena to testify in a graft and bribery investigation. The letter under his name was sent to the "faithful" from the Democratic state committee at Harrisburg, Pa.

The letter conjures up a picture of what will befall Democrats and WPA workers as an aftermath to Republican victory in November. It said:

"Under orders from Pew, Grundy, Weir, and 'Moe' Annenberg, the Republican candidate for governor, should he be elected, would do his utmost to reduce to ashes the barricades that have been built by the Democratic administration to provide for every citizen of this commonwealth security against economic disaster."

Leaders Referred To.

ORDER FOUR PALS OF SLAIN MEN TO ATTEND INQUEST

Disorderly conduct charges against four associates of Bruno Switaj, 1369 Potomac avenue, and Leo Mosinski, 1419 Noble street, slain lieutenants of Ald. Joseph P. Rostenkowski [32d] were continued to Aug. 26 yesterday by Judge N. J. Bonelli. The four were told to attend the inquest on Aug. 25. Switaj and Mosinski were shot to death last Saturday as they slept in a car parked in front of Ald. Rostenkowski's home at 1349 Noble street.

The four are John Wolek, 619 North Racine avenue; Joseph Wachulski, 1016 Erie street; Paul Borski, 1542 Bosworth avenue, and John Janowski, 1345 Cleaver street. Wolek and Wachulski have police records. All deny any knowledge of the killings. Capt. Patrick O'Shea of the Racine avenue station said he had no clews as to the identity of the slayers.

PRIMARY RETURNS

IDAHO—Representative D. Worth Clark, who campaigned as an anti-New Deal Democrat, polled 40,729 votes to 37,189 for Senator James P. Pope, 100 per cent Roosevelt supporter, in returns from 664 of 802 precincts in the Democratic senatorial primary. Pope conceded defeat. Donald Callahan, lawyer-financier, was nominated for senator on the Republican ticket. Gov. Barzilla W. Clark trailed ex-Gov. C. Ben Ross for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

OHIO—Senator Robert J. Bulkley won Democratic renomination over ex-Gov. George White by a vote of 523,715 to 199,716 in complete unofficial returns. In the Republican senatorial primary Robert A. Taft polled 320,760 votes to 248,201 for Judge Arthur H. Day. In the Democratic gubernatorial contest Charles Sawyer defeated Gov. Martin L. Davey by 449,322 votes to 419,095.

NEBRASKA—Gov. R. L. Cochran, Democrat, won renomination by a ratio of eight to one over his nearest opponent. Cochran had 96,109 votes to 13,874 for his closest competitor in returns from 1,761 of 2,037 precincts. On the Republican ticket Charles J. Warner won the gubernatorial nomination by a vote of 54,716 to 15,935 for his nearest opponent with 1,603 precincts tabulated.

ARKANSAS—In the Democratic primary for senator, Hattie Caraway received 138,341 votes to 130,482 for Representative John L. McClellan in returns from 1,958 of 2,002 precincts. Gov. Carl Bailey received 138,801 votes to 127,083 for A. R. Cook in the Democratic gubernatorial primary.

DE KALB COUNTY FARMERS FIGHT U. S. CROP RULE

De Kalb, Ill., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—De Kalb county farmers organized a branch of the Corn Belt Liberty league here tonight at a massmeeting. Clayton Munson of Sycamore was named chairman; Abner Anderson, De Kalb, vice chairman, and Clifford Denton, Maple Park, secretary and treasurer.

The farmers heard a first hand account of the founding of the league, which is protesting the Roosevelt administration's crop allotment plan, from the national president, Tilden Burg of Sciota. Burg told how farmers near Macomb decided last spring that their corn allotments were unfair and called what had been expected to be a meeting of about 250 farmers from that region. Instead, he said, more than three thousand came. The organization has spread since that day.

S. Fred Cummings, Macon, made a blistering attack upon Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace and declared that the administration had been unable to reconcile its crop curtailment program with widespread unemployment and want throughout the country.

TWO POLICEMEN OUSTED BY CIVIL SERVICE BOARD

Policeman Charles Elmore of the Chicago avenue station and John C. Quinn of the Hyde Park station were discharged from the police force yesterday by the civil service commission.

Quinn, a policeman since 1914, left his job last month and never returned to duty, according to testimony at the civil service hearing. He was still absent yesterday, failing to appear to defend himself.

Elmore was charged with repeated failure to pay his creditors. He had been suspended six times previously for the same offense. He had been a policeman since 1929.

Sues to Divorce Postoffice Official After 20 Years

Mrs. Anna E. Lindower, 5227 Wellington avenue, filed suit for divorce yesterday against Raymond J. Lindower, assistant superintendent of mailing at the main postoffice. They had been married 20 years.

GEORGE STRIKES AT ROOSEVELT'S PURGE ORDERS

Cites His Senate Record; Charges Slander.

George was considered to be running first, with Talmadge second and Camp third.

The President had been expected to intervene in the Georgia primary tomorrow when he makes a formal speech at Barnesville, Ga. Reliable reports had it that he would indorse Camp and put the stamp of his disapproval on Senator George.

Takes Advisers Unaware.

But the intervention came twenty-four hours ahead of schedule. Candidate Camp, at the invitation of the President, was a guest at a luncheon in the dining hall here of the foundation for infantile paralysis victims. Taking his closest advisers unaware, the President introduced Camp as "a gentleman who I hope will be the next senator from this state."

That was all, but it was enough to send newspaper men flying to the telegraph wires. Tomorrow the President is expected to elaborate upon the subject. Today's statement gave notice that the famous purge, which has yet to claim a victim, has entered upon its most active stage.

The indorsement of Camp followed closely upon the announcement of President William Green of the American Federation of Labor that Senator George had given wholehearted and valuable support to the labor program of the A. F. of L. and would be supported by that body.

Slap at William Green.

Roosevelt's remark was a slap at Mr. Green as well as at Senator George, and was another indication that the President is on the side of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, which blacklisted Senator George.

Addressing his luncheon audience, most of them in wheel chairs, the President remarked that his visit was a surprise one. He introduced Gov. Ed. Rivers of Georgia, also a candidate for renomination, as "an old friend of ours" and then added his introduction of Camp.

Roosevelt Changes His Mind.

In contradiction of a report yesterday, it was said today that the President has changed his mind about leveling a few thrusts at Senator Ellison D. [Cotton Ed] Smith of South Carolina when he passes through that state. Mr. Roosevelt will make a rear platform appearance at Greenville, S. C., tomorrow night en route to Washington. Senator Smith is conceded almost certain victory over Gov. Olin Johnston, who announced himself as a "100 per cent New Dealer," with Edgar Brown a third candidate.

The President will receive a degree from the University of Georgia tomorrow morning and will make a speech in connection with this honor. In the afternoon he will talk at Barnesville at the dedication of a rural electrification project. He will arrive back at the White House Friday morning.

OVERDOSE OF DRUGS FATAL.

Mrs. Lucy White, colored, of 1844 Taylor street, died yesterday in the home of Dr. Richard J. Jackson, colored, at 1403 Blue Island avenue. He told police she took an overdose of drugs.

CHICAGO IS NEXT IN AAA PLAN FOR MILK DICTATOR

Lay Ground Work for Price Fixing.

wall, officials of the Pure Milk association are looking with satisfaction on their recent choice of a new general manager, Arthur H. Lauterbach. Mr. Lauterbach, former head of the dairy section of the AAA, knows the ropes in Washington.

The New York referendum, which would be similar to the one proposed for the Chicago area, will be conducted by secret ballot among farmers in more than 100 counties. No provision is made for consumers to vote.

Aims to Help Everybody.

Secretary Wallace said the New York program will take into consideration the consumer and distributor as well as the dairyman. The aim, he said, is to help producers and cooperative associations of producers to get a reasonable price with a stable market for their milk, to treat handlers equitably, and to assure the consumer of a steady, safe supply of milk products.

The New York program establishes minimum farm prices for fluid milk and eight other classes of milk. For example, the minimum for fluid milk for the months of August through March would be $2.45 a hundred pounds based on the New York wholesale butter price range of 25 to 29.9 cents a pound, according to information sent out from Washington.

EFFORT TO SHUSH MORGAN'S STORY ON MARBLE AIRED

TVA Counsel's Objections Told at Inquiry.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Why TVA lawyers sought to keep Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, deposed TVA chairman, from testifying in the Berry marble case last December was aired today by the congressional committee investigating TVA.

Evans Dunn, TVA counsel who handled the marble condemnation suit, under cross-examination by Representative Charles A. Wolverton [R., N. J.], said he felt Dr. Morgan had no evidence to offer, only conclusions.

Dr. Morgan, it developed, took the stand Dec. 20, 1937, voluntarily and over objections of TVA counsel, and charged that TVA had been warned of an attempt to defraud the government long before the agreement to conciliate the Berry marble leases was adopted by Directors David E. Lilienthal and Harcourt A. Morgan in July, 1936. This agreement later was dropped after Dr. Morgan had protested, and the condemnation suit was started.

Bad Faith Point Raised.

Dunn testified he had been given evidence of bad faith only a few weeks before the hearing on the marble claims before a three man federal commission. When a charge of bad faith was made by the TVA lawyers, it was brought out, Leslie Morris, attorney for Senator George L. Berry [D., Tenn.], introduced the conciliation agreement, saying he was surprised at charges of bad faith because the TVA board had signed an agreement to concilitate the claims.

Much of the questioning was centered on the question of whether the TVA board, at the time the conciliation agreement was made, was cognizant of bad faith in the claims. Another point raised was whether there was knowledge of specifications for use of Berry marble in a federal warehouse at Washington and several postoffices. Edwin C. Eckel, TVA chief geologist, in a memo to Carl A. Bock, TVA assistant engineer, had charged as early as Nov. 30, 1934, such specifications would tend to give value in condemnation proceedings to worthless marble lands.

Admits Withholding Letter.

Attorney Dunn said at 11 a. m., Dec. 20, 1937, two letters were placed before him. One was addressed to Len Broughton, chairman of the three man commission which later declared the Berry marble worthless. The other was addressed to Dunn. The letters were from Dr. Morgan asking that he be put on the stand.

"Did you give Judge Broughton his envelope?" asked Wolverton.

"I put it in my pocket until I could talk with Dr. Morgan," replied Dunn.

"You withheld the letter?" queried Wolverton.

"Yes, if that means I'm guilty of embezzlement of mail then I'm guilty," said Dunn.

Q.—Why did you not call Morgan to the stand? A.—All he could give was his conclusions. He had no evidence.

Q.—Didn't he testify? A.—Yes, over my objections.

Minimizes Morgan's Post.

After a comment from Wolverton that the three man commission evidently believed Dr. Morgan's testimony was material to the case Dunn, replying to a question, said the case had been won in spite of the Morgan testimony.

Dr. Morgan had charged that the board, when it made the conciliation agreement with Berry and associates, had knowledge of bad faith and that the claims had been reported worthless by nine geologists and experts.

Reports of the nine geologists and marble experts were ordered brought in to be studied by the committee.

After long questioning Wolverton brought out that out of 241 marble claims and leases of Berry and associates the owners of 238 had given waranty deeds to the government, the lands being bought by TVA to be overflowed by Norris dam reservoir.

Raises Ownership Issue.

"What," asked Wolverton, "do you mean when the condemnation proceedings started, the government owned all the land in question?"

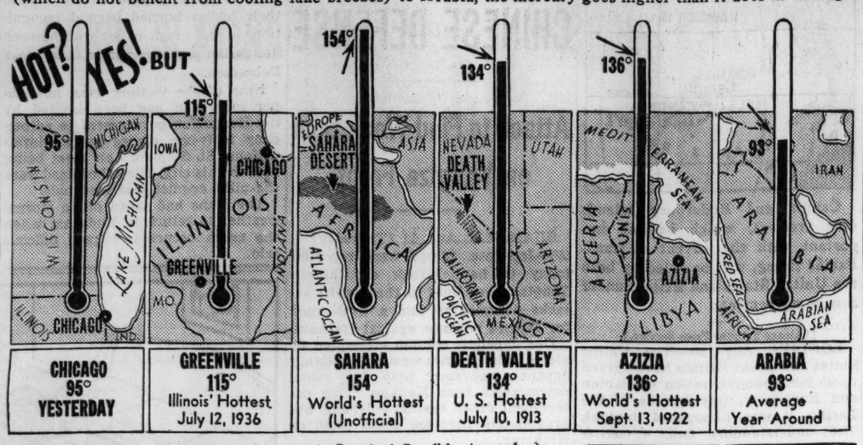
"Yes," said Dunn, "with the exception of three pieces."

"This opens a new avenue," said Wolverton. "Was the land on which Berry and associates held leases in the hands of the government by ownership of fee at the time the marble damage suit was started?"

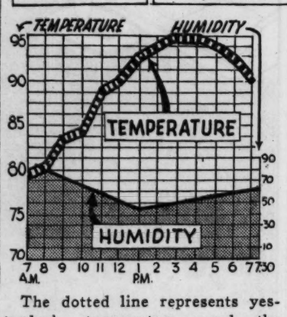
"Yes," said Dunn, who later amplified this by stating: "Originally 241 leases were involved, but by January, 1935, only 76 of these leases were active. We condemned only the property below the lake level, only 32 tracts being involved. Out of this number some were eliminated by lapse of lease, so that the trial resolved itself to some 15 or 20 leases."

Comforting Thoughts After a Hot Day in Chicago

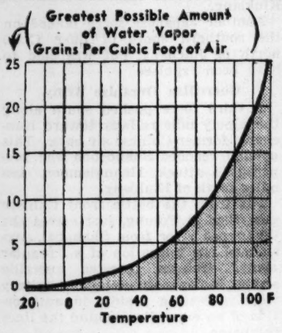
If you think Chicago is hot just study these temperature maps. From cities in the central states (which do not benefit from cooling lake breezes) to Arabia, the mercury goes higher than it does in Chicago.



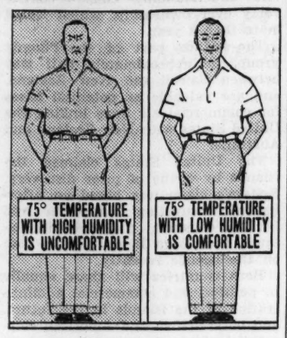
CHICAGO 95° YESTERDAY	GREENVILLE 115° Illinois' Hottest July 12, 1936	SAHARA 154° World's Hottest (Unofficial)	DEATH VALLEY 134° U. S. Hottest July 10, 1913	AZIZIA 136° World's Hottest Sept. 13, 1922	ARABIA 93° Average Year Around



The dotted line represents yesterday's temperatures and the shaded area the relative humidity. Relative humidity is that amount of moisture the air contains in comparison with the amount of moisture the air is capable of holding at a given temperature.



The amount of water vapor in the air necessary to cause precipitation (the saturation point) at different temperatures is indicated by this chart. The perpendicular figures give the grains of water per cubic foot of air. (A grain is .0648 of a gram). The horizontal figures at the bottom give the temperatures. Thus it may be seen that as the temperature rises the amount of water vapor the air is capable of holding increases.



"It isn't the heat, it's the humidity" means that the air has such a high moisture content that sweat does not evaporate rapidly. It is the evaporation of perspiration that keeps one cool.

COOLER TODAY; CITY SWELTERS IN RECORD HEAT

Much cooler weather, with fair skies, will be Chicago's lot today. A cold front was moving rapidly eastward last night after cooling some of the northern Mississippi valley, and will be borne into the city on north and northwest winds today. A maximum of 78 is predicted.

Yesterday the mercury went to a high for the year of 95 at 3 and 4 p. m. Southwest winds from the plains states, where it has been more than 100 degrees for days, were responsible. Humidity dropped, however, from 82 per cent early in the morning to 54 at noon and helped the suffering citizenry to withstand the heat. Last night the humidity went up again, and rains washed the north and northwest sections of the city.

Parks and Shores Crowded.

Parks and the lake shores were crowded. Many of the parks not wetted by the showers were meccas for those seeking cool sleeping quarters. Several heat prostrations were reported during the day and two deaths were blamed, indirectly, on the high temperatures.

It was expected that the water pumped yesterday would equal or exceed the high mark for the year. On Aug. 3 the city's twelve stations pumped 1,230,140,000 gallons.

In Chicago the 95 reading was the highest since Aug. 16, 1937, when it also went to 95. It was within 3 degrees of the record of 98 for Aug. 10, set in 1887. But, even so, it was far from the all time record for Chicago. That was 105—on July 24, 1934.

Greenville Holds Record.

Chicago hasn't done so badly, at that. The record for Illinois was set at Greenville, in Bond county, July 12, 1936, when it was 115 degrees. And even Illinois may hold her head high. California holds the nation's heat record. At Greenland ranch in Death Valley, Inyo county, Cal., it pushed up to 134 on July 10, 1913. The all time record for the world was set in Tripoli, where people wear hoods to keep out the killing rays, on Sept. 13, 1922. It was 136.

Unofficial temperatures in the suburbs varied widely. At 2:30 p. m., a half hour before the Chicago maximum was reached, it was 90 in the shade at Glencoe, 90.5 in Winnetka, 94 in Morton Grove, 93 in Des Plaines, 94 in Evanston, 91 in Wilmette, 93 in Oak Park, 90 in Maywood, 90 in Melrose Park, 90 in Forest Park, 90 in River Forest, 93 in Willow Springs, 93 in Berwyn, and 93 in Cicero.

And 8,000 feet over the city it was 64.

DEATH FROM SCALDS AN ACCIDENT.

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday at an inquest into the death of Mrs. Magdalena Burbach, 38 years old, of Sharon, Pa. She was scalded in a shower bath in a hotel at 2736 Pine Grove avenue last Monday.

73 HE MARRIED (NOT HIS WIVES) ATTEND A PICNIC

Seventy-three women, at whose marriages Judge Edward B. Casey officiated during the last seven years, were his guests yesterday at a picnic in Riverview park. More than a hundred children of the women also attended.

When Judge Casey ascended the Municipal bench in 1931, he inaugurated the practice of free marriages. He insisted that Municipal judges have no legal right to accept fees for performing the ceremonies.

Mrs. Hulda Glavin, 1906 Henderson street, the first woman at whose marriage the judge presided, was at the picnic with her two children. Mrs. Mildred Ericksen, 1341 Fletcher street, brought her three children—the largest family group.

DEWEY PUZZLES WITNESS IN NEW POLICY INQUIRY

Tammany Leader Goes on Trial Monday.

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Elo Rosenthal, the witness over whom District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey and James J. Hines are engaged in a tug of war, went before the grand jury again today.

The expected appearance of J. Richard [Dixie] Davis before the grand jury, where it had been expected he would testify about the 100 million dollar a year policy racket case against Hines, indicted Tammany dis-leader, failed to materialize, however, and nobody explained why.

Similar to Ball Game.

When Rosenthal left the grand jury room, he said he had told the jurors that the situation reminded him of a baseball game he saw last Sunday between the New York Giants and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"The Giants threw in a new pitcher every inning," he said. "Every time I come down they throw a new district attorney at me. I can catch 'em all.

"First I was Dewey's witness; $20,000 bail. I'm still a witness for the state, they tell me, but I don't know anything," he added.

At the district attorney's office it was said Davis would not appear today. Nothing was said about when he would appear, or if, as many believe, he has appeared. Davis, formerly Dutch Schultz's lawyer, has pleaded guilty of conspiracy to operate a policy racket.

Push Trial Plans.

Dewey's office meanwhile was going ahead with plans for the trial of Hines and his co-defendant Martin Weintraub, a lawyer, next Monday. The rest of the defendants have pleaded guilty, are missing, or are dead.

Detectives on Dewey's staf have been busy for ten days studying the records of the 300 veniremen drawn from a special list for the jury.

Bandit Paces the Sidewalk Awhile, Then Robs Store

Manager Wilber Barkman saw a stranger get out of a car in front of his grocery at 5935 Irving Park road yesterday. For ten minutes the stranger paced the sidewalk. Then he came in, drew a gun, and forced six customers to stand against the wall while he took $112 from Barkman and the cashier.

FIND 3 OF 4 SEX CRIMINALS SANE IN PRISON TESTS

Four convicts sent to Joliet prison from Chicago for sex crimes were examined by the Will county court and a lunacy commission yesterday when they were scheduled to be released from the penitentiary. One was found to be feeble minded and was committed to the Dixon state hospital. The other three were declared sane. This action was taken in accordance with the new Connors law.

Anthony Szutenbach, 8242 Mackinaw avenue, who was committed last Sept. 10 on a one year sentence, was found feeble-minded by the commission which reported to County Judge George M. Black of Will county. Found sane were Stanley Siemiawski, 4611 South Marshfield avenue; Frank Milazzo, 931 South Lincoln street, and José Gutierez, 612 South Racine avenue. The latter was held for immigration authorities for illegal entry from Mexico.

Victim Fails to Identify Policeman as Holdup Man

Policeman Harry J. Minton of the Gresham police was freed of a charge of robbery with a gun yesterday when the complaining witness, attempting to identify him, pointed out a spectator. Minton was accused of taking $5.50 from Nicholas Morgan, 8541 South Carpenter street.

REDS, JAPS AGREE TO ARMISTICE IN FAR EAST BATTLE

Time Set to Halt Firing at Changkufeng Hill.

MOSCOW, Aug. 11 [Thursday].—(AP)—Fighting was to cease at noon today [10 p. m. Wednesday, Chicago time] in the disputed Changkufeng border zone of the Japanese puppet state, Manchukuo, and Russian Siberia. The zone also borders Japanese Corea.

The armistice was the result of an agreement reached in Moscow yesterday by Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov and Japanese ambassador Mamoru Shigemitsu.

The agreement had two main provisions:

1. Troops of each side were to retain the positions held last midnight.

2. A commission of two soviet representatives and two Japanese-Manchukuan representatives will deal with redemarcation of the disputed frontier.

Japs Reject Arbiter.

An official communique declared the armistice proposals were made by Litvinov, who also suggested that the border commission include the representative of a third power as an arbiter. Litvinov, however, did not insist upon the appointment of an arbiter when Shigemitsu refused to consider it.

When Litvinov proposed that the commission use the Hunchun treaty, with maps attached, of June 26, 1886, between imperial Russia and China, Shigemitsu suggested the commission's work be based on some other materials of which the soviet government said it had no knowledge. The ambassador promised, however, to get in touch with his government and give an answer on the point.

The makeup of the commission represents a Japanese concession to the soviet demand for equality. Previously Japan had sought a commission of three Japanese, three Manchukuans, and three Russians. The soviet rejected that, saying it would give Japan a two to one advantage.

Each Holds a Salient.

Foreign observers in Moscow pointed out that the agreement cannot yet be taken as a definite end of the incident as there always is danger that the leaders of the Kwantung army [Japan's army of occupation in Manchukuo] may not abide by the decision to cease hostilities.

The incident began on July 11 when Russia started fortifying Changkufeng hill, declaring it in Siberian territory. Japanese forces captured the hill on July 29, declaring it in Manchukuan territory, and there was daily heavy fighting thereafter until yesterday.

A Red army communique yesterday said the Russian forces were up to the line which the soviet claims is the Siberian-Manchukuan border except in two places, [1] a Japanese wedge 220 yards deep in Siberian territory, and [2] a Russian wedge 330 yards deep in Manchukuan territory.

The last battle reported took place last night. The Yuki, Corea, correspondent of the Associated Press said the battle began at 6:30 p. m. and ended at 9:45 p. m. It opened with an hour's artillery barrage. Then six soviet planes came over the Japanese lines—also the rear lines in Corea—machine gunning the troops. The battle ended with a flurry of light artillery and machine gun fire and hand grenade bursts on Changkufeng hill.

Paris Hears Mussolini Refuses to Pull His Troops Out of Spain

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 10. — French professional observers today expressed the opinion that a serious menace to world peace again is looming in the Mediterranean.

A report current in diplomatic circles in Rome and relayed to Paris was that Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, in a conversation with the earl of Perth, the British ambassador, had rejected the British suggestion to commence evacuating the Balearic islands.

Franco's Silence Stirs Worry.

Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish rebel commander-in-chief, has not yet given a formal answer on the British plan for withdrawal of foreign volunteers from the Spanish civil war and this is causing concern.

Julio Alvarez del Vayo, Spanish government foreign minister, today protested to the French and British chargés d'affaires in Barcelona against the delay in applying the plan which the loyalists already have accepted in principle.

(The British recently proposed the withdrawal of foreign "volunteers" from both sides in the war.)

This protest in itself does not disturb the French unduly, but it was taken for granted that if Italy and rebel Spain sabotage the British scheme, the French will reopen their frontier with Catalonia in northeast Spain. The French closed the Pyrenees frontier so as to hasten the withdrawal of foreign fighters in Spain.

British Impatience Grows.

There is reason to believe that London would approve the reopening of the French frontier. In fact, British impatience with Premier Mussolini seems greater than the French.

Premier Edouard Daladier, who returned to Paris yesterday from a vacation, consulted Foreign Minister Georges Bonnett today and then left for army maneuvers in the Alps where he will encounter President Albert Lebrun. Daladier, who also is minister of defense, will then return to the capital and remain at his desk in the war office for the rest of the month.

The government does not seem inclined to invoke a special cabinet session or make any other move which might frighten people. Actually, Bonnet seems to be employing the best means to avoid war in the present circumstances—intensive but unspectacular diplomatic activity.

Thus there is no chance of catching the French government unaware by some aggressive move calling for a quick decision in Paris. France's defense machinery also is set to repel any kind of attack at any hour, day or night.

TRUCE DIES OUT; CZECHS RESUME FEUD WITH NAZIS

Prague Premier Consults with Henlein's Aids.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 10.—Premier Milan Hodza today resumed negotiations with the Sudeten German [Nazi] party. The discussions had been suspended since Aug. 3, when Viscount Runciman of Great Britain reached Prague to mediate Czechoslovakia's conflict with its minorities.

Hodza conferred with Deputy Ernst Kundt and Alfred Rosche, the party's representatives. The subject of the conversation was largely one of procedure for future negotiations.

Progress Is Reported.

Runciman continued his effort to find a way whereby the Czechs and the German minority, which has the backing of Reichsfuehrer Hitler in its demands for autonomy, may live together without violence. Secluded in his hotel room, he plodded through a mass of material which all sides in the controversy have heaped upon him. His assistants announced that progress was being made. The unofficial British peacemaker probably will visit the Sudeten German territory within a few days.

The feeling of pacification brought on by Runciman's arrival in Prague has worn off, and hostility between the Czechs and Sudeten Germans is flaring up again.

The delegation of Konrad Henlein, Sudeten German party leader, has indicated it wants swifter progress in the negotiations, whereas a few weeks ago it was pleading for more time. The Czechs appear to be playing for time and their procedure resulted in an outburst of denunciation in a communique of the Sudeten German party.

Say Czechs Confuse Issue.

The Sudeten Germans accused the Czechs of using small political parties, which exist among German and other minorities, for the purpose of confusing the issue. They were particularly incensed because of the prominence given Deputy Wenzel Jaksch, leader of the German Social Democrats, who has conferred with Runciman. Jaksch's party, the Sudeten Germans contend, is of no importance. They said the communal election in the spring showed that 90 per cent of the Germans inside Czechoslovakia support Henlein.

Most maddening of all to the Sudeten Germans is a press campaign designed to impress Runciman with the idea that the first consideration in settling the minorities problem should be given to the German Social Democrats and the Czechs who live inside the Sudeten German areas.

QUAKES DESTROY 3 TOWNS, ROCK ECUADOR CAPITAL

QUITO, Ecuador, Aug. 10.—(AP)—A series of earthquakes today destroyed three towns, leveled buildings in Quito, the capital, and damaged structures in Guayaquil, the country's main port and largest city.

The ruined towns, all small, were Sangolqui, Eltingo, and Alangas. In Alangas thirty-five shocks were felt in twenty-four hours. There were several deaths and many injuries. The minister of war rushed troops to the stricken areas with tents, medical supplies and other first aid equipment.

Independence day celebrations in Quito and Guayaquil were cut short by reports of the deaths and damage.

An estimated 20,000 panic stricken persons swarmed into Quito's streets carrying sacred images and praying for safety when the shocks were felt.

Quints Still Have Slight Fevers,but They Are Better

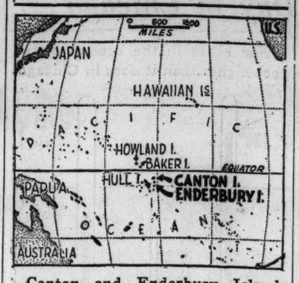
End Island Dispute



Canton and Enderbury Islands (see arrows), which became important with the advent of trans-Pacific flying, will be ruled by both the United States and Britain under a new agreement.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The United States and Great Britain have agreed upon joint administration of Canton and Enderbury, tiny islands of the Pacific, it was announced tonight. The understanding ends a controversy over ownership, which lasted more than a year.

The islands, part of the Phœnix group, lie approximately half way between Hawaii and New Zealand, and are valuable as potential bases for commercial air lines linking the United States with New Zealand and Australia.

The United States claimed the islands by virtue of prior discovery. Britain's claim was based on priority of occupation. American and British colonists, the only inhabitants, have been living side by side on the islands recently.

Both countries will share equally in political and commercial administration of the islands in the future, and both British and American commercial planes may use the air base facilities under the agreement. Details of the régime will be determined in an exchange of notes.

JAPANESE STRIKE THREE POINTS IN CHINESE DEFENSE

Attack to Find Weak Spot on Yangtze Front.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 11 [Thursday].—(AP)—Japanese troops were reported today to have struck at Chinese Yangtze river lines in three swift attacks designed to find a weak spot for Japan's advance against Hankow.

One Japanese column attempted to pierce Chinese lines west of Kiukiang, Japanese advance base 135 miles downstream from Hankow. This detachment drove against Juichang, approximately nineteen miles west of Kiukiang.

Another Japanese force landed on the southern shore of Lake Chiu, north of Juichang, but was said to have been repulsed.

Guerrillas Organize Army.

A third force pushed south along the ninety mile railway toward Nanchang, former Chinese air base. This column reached Shahochen and prepared to attack Huanglaomen, ten miles south of Kiukiang.

Far from the battle front Chinese guerrillas in Potung, just across the Whangpoo river from Shanghai, proclaimed the formation of a "regular army." Chinese asserted guerrilla armies in Japanese occupied territory were increasing rapidly in anticipation of an expanding behind the lines campaign.

U. S. Warship Battles Typhoon.

A typhoon barely missed Shanghai and swept inland along the course of the lower Yangtze. The United States gunboat Oahu reported a six hour struggle against grounding in the storm off Kiangyin, river port midway between Shanghai and Nanking.

Japanese efforts to dominate the Chinese silk industry led today to organization of a jointly owned Chinese-Japanese Central China Silk Yarn company. It plans to operate factories in Wusih, Soochow, and Hangchow.

PLANE LEAVING AVIATION SHOW CRASHES; 12 DIE

DEBRECZEN, Hungary, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Twelve persons were killed, their bodies burned beyond recognition, in the crash of a three-motored Hungarian passenger plane today near Debreczen.

Nine of the victims were newspaper men who had been invited by the Hungarian government to accompany forty-one planes to the international St. Stephen's air meet being held in this city. The other dead were the pilot, co-pilot, and mechanic.

The plane had taken off in stormy weather to return to Budapest when the crash occurred, airport officials said.

BRITISH PORT IN SPAIN BOMBED BY LONE AIR RAIDER

Plane Machine Guns Nearby Town.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PERPIGNAN, France [At the Spanish Frontier].—Aug. 10.—A mysterious air raider in a seaplane today bombed Gandia, a British owned port in eastern Spain. After discharging his cargo of explosives, the raider machine gunned the town, which is 36 miles south of Valencia. The number of casualties was not determined.

Six rebel planes dropped seventy bombs on Alicante. One person was killed and eight were wounded. Nine insurgent planes attacked the port of Barcelona. Most of the bombs plunged into the sea. One person was injured in the raid and a steamer lying at anchor in the harbor was damaged.

Fire on British Liner.

Dispatches from Gibraltar said passengers aboard the British liner Llandaff Castle reported the ship was fired upon by a rebel trawler in the Strait of Gibraltar. The passengers said the liner was held up for almost a half an hour before a patrol ship from the Netherlands ordered the trawler to cease its attack.

The British government protested to Gen. Franco against the machine gunning of the British ship Lake Lugano by insurgent airmen. The protest charged that the attack was deliberate. The steamer was bombed last Sunday at Palamos, near Barcelona. After the bombing two planes dove at the ship and "strafed" the decks. None of the crew, which abandoned the vessel, was injured. Yesterday a rebel plane bombed and sank the burning wreck.

Loyalists "Slain or Captured."

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish Frontier], Aug. 10.—(AP)—Insurgent military headquarters at Saragossa today said Gen. Francisco Franco's troops had "killed or captured" all government soldiers who crossed the Segre river south of Balaguer Monday night in a surprise offensive.

Rebel reports said only a few loyalist troops who participated in the crossing of the river were able to hold out against counterattacks in the engagement 80 miles west of Barcelona, the government capital.

The reports from rebel sources coincided with dispatches from Barcelona, emphasizing that the new offensive "already has accomplished its purpose" of drawing rebel troops from other fronts to the Segre river.

Report Gandesa Line Broken.

About 50 miles to the south, where other forces of the Barcelona "people's army" for two weeks had maintained positions dominating Gandesa, the rebels took the offensive. Dispatches reported the Gandesa line, along the Ebro river, had been broken but the outcome of the battle was still in doubt.

Far off in southwestern Spain rebel forces under Gen. Gonzalo Queipo de Llano reported progress in their drive toward the Almaden mercury mines. Aided by Moroccan cavalrymen, these troops were blasting their way through the mountain defenses in the Estremadura region, but at a high cost in lives and munitions.

$5,400,000,000 ARMY BUDGET OFFERED TO SOVIET PARLIAMENT

MOSCOW, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Dictator Joseph Stalin attended a meeting of the supreme soviet houses today in the former throne room of the Kremlin. Both houses of the soviet were in joint session.

Finance Commissar A. G. Zvereff explained the $25,000,000,000 budget for 1938, which includes a military budget of $5,400,000,000 for army and navy.

"Soviet Russia's policy is peace," he said, "but we are not afraid of any threats and we are ready to answer blow for blow."

The session then ended, the soviet of the union and the soviet of nationalities planning to meet separately tomorrow. The first house to meet today was the soviet of the union. In nine minutes it adopted an agenda which included reorganization of courts, a new law on citizenship, and a new law on agricultural establishments. This was the second session of parliament since its election Dec. 12, last year, under the new Russian constitution.

PARAGUAY VOTES FOR CHACO PEACE BY A LANDSLIDE

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Paraguay in a plebiscite today approved by a 10 to 1 vote the Bolivian-Paraguayan Gran Chaco peace treaty.

The plebiscite was to ratify the treaty, signed July 21 at Buenos Aires. The ministry of interior announced the total vote was: For ratification, 113,309; against, 11,825. In Asuncion, the capital, the vote was 21,388 for ratification, 2,438 against.

At La Paz, Boliva, the constituent assembly was holding a secret session at which it was expected to ratify the treaty, ending a 100 year quarrel over the Chaco jungle lands. Arbitration is scheduled to follow the ratifications, with neutral commissioners determining a final Chaco boundary between Bolivia and Paraguay.

GUNMEN HAUL OFF 3,000 LB. SAFE IN EXPERT MANNER

At 9:30 last night two armed men, wearing overalls and gloves, walked into the Texas company's bulk oil plant at 3052 Archer avenue. They sat down beside John Plecho, 22 years old, a truck washer, until 10 o'clock when Robert Rodderham, the night watchman, appeared.

Then a third overall clad gunman appeared. The three took the employés to the second floor. There they made the pair help them wheel a 3,000 pound Brinks Express company safe to the stairway. Finding the stairs too narrow, the businesslike thieves smashed the bannister and dropped the safe to the first floor.

Then they wheeled up a company crane. Using this, they loaded the safe onto a company truck. After binding the two employés the robbers departed in the truck at 12:20 a. m. today.

Deering police learned the gunmen would receive slim pay for their expert efforts—$50 and some checks.

PIN HOPE ON KEY FOR CLEWS TO UNION SLAYING

Hunt Mystery Safety Box of Painters' Czar.

A small key, believed to fit a safety deposit box, spurred police hope yesterday that James G. Dungan may have left some clew to the identity of his enemies. Dungan, business agent of local 191 of the painter's union, was shot to death in front of his home at 3116 Lowe avenue Monday night.

The key was called to the attention of police by Dungan's young widow, Ann. She is determined that everything possible shall be done to find the assassins.

Safety Box a Mystery.

John V. Clinnin, attorney for the union, said that Dungan was not known to have kept a safety deposit box. George Henneman, treasurer of local 191, said the key might belong to a box once rented by the union but given up some time ago.

Investigators were unable to confirm reports, meanwhile, that a $10,000 shortage existed in the union finances. The union's books are missing. Henneman said that the books might be in the possession of Gustave H. Fischer, who was financial secretary until a few weeks ago. Fischer is missing, too.

Secretary Still Missing.

For the second day, detectives were sent to Fischer's home at 11935 Longwood drive, Blue Island, but again found no one there.

"It seems odd that Fischer hasn't come forward like the others have," Attorney Clinnin said. "I am satisfied that other officers will help us to unravel the mystery. A meeting of the painters' district council will be held tomorrow."

Henneman told police that after Fischer failed to appear at four union meetings he was dismissed from his office in accordance with the local's rules. Dungan was elected to fill his place at the suggestion of Arthur W. Wallace, secretary of the district council.

Dungan at once began to investigate the union finances and the matter of the missing books. Attorney Clinnin said he often remarked jokingly about "living on borrowed time."

Death Sixth in Union.

Clinnin spent most of the day conferring with Lieut. John Egan of the state's attorney's office and Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlin. The thick file marked "Painters' Union" in the state's attorney's office shows that Dungan's death is the sixth unsolved murder blamed on affairs of that union.

Also investigating the crime are Supervising Capt. John Stege and Capt. William O'Brien of the Deering street station.

"The case is at a standstill," Capt. O'Brien said.

The funeral of Dungan will be held tomorrow at 9 a. m. from the chapel at 3159 Jackson boulevard to St. David church, Emerald avenue and 32d street.

Bellwood Village Board Reduces Tax Levy $11,000

FAIL TO UNCOVER CLEWS TO BALL PARK MURDER

Police were seeking in vain yesterday for clews in the slaying of Samuel Picciptto, who was found shot to death Tuesday behind the White Sox ball park, 34th street and Shields avenue. Capt. William Byrne of the Stanton avenue station said no motive for the murder had been established.

Two witnesses at an inquest testified the slain man had been without enemies. They were Mrs. Anne Picciotto, 211 West 24th street, a sister-in-law, and Miss Esther Burt, 4206 Ellis avenue, who said she lived with Picciotto for several months last spring. Picciotto, who was 23 years old, lived at 212 West 24th street. The inquest was continued to Aug. 23.

Two Chicagoans Rescued in Lake Near Milwaukee

Two Chicagoans, Chris Mack, 22 years old, and Howard Pieper, 20, were rescued by life guards late yesterday after they had clung to their overturned sailboat for half an hour after it capsized in Lake Michigan off Milwaukee. They had launched the boat at Racine for a cruise. Their Chicago addresses were not learned.

JOLIET BUSINESS LEADER SOUGHT; ACCOUNTS SHORT

Charge $12,000 Missing in Trust Funds.

Federal agents last night sought William S. Welch, formerly a prominent business man in Joliet. He is charged with withholding nearly $12,000 from bankrupt estates which he served as trustee.

United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on Tuesday issued an embezzlement warant for Welch's arrest. It charged him with taking $3,500 from the estate of Henneberry Motor Sales, Inc., of Joliet, which has been in bankruptcy since 1932.

Missing for Several Months.

Deputy United States marshals and bureau of investigation agents found that Welch had been missing for several months from Joliet, where he operated an insurance and real estate concern. Last September he sold out his business, but had been seen after that around Joliet until recently.

It was reported that he may be in Detroit, Mich., or in Chicago, where he lived for several years. Welch is separated from his wife, who lives in Joliet, and had maintained a Chicago home for some time.

Two years ago, according to Assistant United States Attorney Thomas B. Hart, John Haley was appointed referee in bankruptcy to succeed Elmer H. Bielfeldt of Joliet. Haley called for reports from all of the trustees.

Within a year all the reports were in except those of Welch. Haley pressed him and a few months ago Welch submitted his final reports in five estates.

Shortage In Motor Account.

"The Henneberry case revealed a shortage. Haley asked Welch for the money," said Hart. "Welch put him off and finally Haley reported the case to us. We have found shortages in other cases, all of them four or five years old, but do not know the exact amount yet."

Federal agents also discovered a shortage of $1,600 in the estate of John Kaline, an incompetent war veteran who is at the Hines hospital, Hart said. Welch was conservator for the estate.

This estate is administered through the Probate court. It was reported that state officials will begin an investigation of other estates which Welch served as trustee by appointment in the Will county Circuit court.

PARKING SPACE

By CALEB

TWO SMALL hands grip the railing. Two childish eyes, big with awe and wonder, take in an amazing, a bewildering, display of toys. There are more and finer toys there than they have ever seen outside a store.

A lady smiles, "Which one would you like, Sonny?" Speechless before that array—that answer to his childish dreams—the lad summons the courage to point at a set of brightly colored building blocks, cut so they can be built into miniature skyscrapers, houses, wharves and public buildings of a great city. He still doubts that he will be permitted to play with them. They represent more than his total lifetime budget so far spent for playthings and recreation.

But it is true—he can play with them. He surrenders a card, like a library card; he is given a clean cloth bag into which the blocks go—and they are his to play with for two whole hours!

That story, with minor variations, is enacted several hundred times a day in free "Toy Libraries" established in neighborhoods where they will be most helpful. Gradually, as time and funds permit, the far-flung program of the Chicago Park District is expanding to make a steadily more important contribution to the community's good citizenship, health, and happiness.

Great spacious parks along Lake Michigan are the most obvious of the projects—and they serve millions. But at best not everyone can reach them, and so more and more neighborhood parks are being developed. Many of them have swimming and wading pools. For the girls, there is an opportunity to learn sewing and other household arts. The boys find leadership and help in woodworking and other crafts. There are games for all ages, and clubs to enlist the interest of almost any growing boy or girl.

You can, if you like, see reports on the decrease of juvenile delinquency in park neighborhoods, on better health records, the teaching of responsibility, real citizenship and useful trades. But you need only look at the faces and into the eyes of the children to get a picture of what these parks and those who are in charge of them have done.

Watching those thousands of eager, growing youngsters, one wonders less about the work these parks and their people are doing than about what we would do without them. Their cumulative value to the community is not to be told in statistics or tables, for it is literally beyond tabulation.

C.I.O. AUTO UNION SPLIT WIDE OPEN BY 2 RED CAMPS

Ousted Leaders Move to Depose Martin.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—The United Automobile Workers' union has been split into two hostile camps. A struggle for power between two strong factions, both of which are dyed with the red of communism, has led to this breaking point.

The union, which is one of the largest branches of John L. Lewis' radical Committee for Industrial organization, is headed today by Homer Martin, former Baptist minister. Martin controls thirteen of eighteen votes on the organization's executive board and is virtually czar over 300,000 members in the automobile industry.

He is opposed by a group of four former officers and allies in the union. They are Richard Frankensteen, Wyndham Mortimer, and Ed Hall, all former vice presidents of the union, and George Addes, formerly secretary and treasurer of the U. A. W. All four have been expelled from office and from membership in the union by Martin and the executive board.

Hearing Called Farcial.

Their expulsion came last Saturday—except in the case of Addes who had been ousted two weeks earlier—after a comic opera hearing before the executive board. This had been conducted behind closed doors guarded by seventy-five thugs said to be bodyguards of Martin. The hearings by the board extended over a two weeks' period.

Today these same former officers announced they were refusing to accept their dismissals from union ranks. Their trial before the Martin controled executive board was farcial and unjust, they declared.

So they issued a call for key men in U. A. W. local unions throughout Michigan and Ohio to meet in Toledo next Saturday. At that time, they declared, they will begin a move to recall Martin and his supporting officers and hold a new election.

Claims Rank and File Support.

Hall, speaking for his colleagues, said he is certain that 80 per cent of the rank and file of the union are against Martin and his high handed tactics in running the union. Only Martin's control of the election machinery and of the convention prevented him from being removed at the 1937 union meeting in Milwaukee, Hall said.

This latest move is a definite resumption of the warfare between the embattled factions that have been intermittently in conflict for months. The real motives for the fight have been obscured until the recent hearings before the executive board, at which time the activities of both groups were exposed.

Each side described the iniquities of the other and the charges of communistic leanings that were advanced have been well sustained by evidence produced by both factions.

Agitators Cause Trouble.

Ever since the big automobile strikes of 1937, Martin has been fighting within his union the violent agitators who have repeatedly caused unauthorized sitdown strikes in the plants of manufacturers who negotiated contracts with the union. These agitators have been communists, according to Martin.

This charge he revived last June after suspending Frankensteen, Mortimer, and Hall. Although none except the highest union officers was permitted to attend the trials before the executive board, Martin declared when interviewed that Frankensteen had definitly been linked to communists by the evidence presented.

"Frankensteen made a deal with William Weinstone, secretary of the communist party in Michigan, less than two months ago," Martin said. "He promised to create the post of organizational director for the Wayne County Nonpartisan league [the C. I. O. political organization in Michigan] and support a communist party member for the job.

Frankensteen Denies Deal.

"Ultimately the communist, Michael Kamm, did get the job. He still holds it. Frankensteen was to get the support of the communists when he ran for the presidency of the league here."

While Frankensteen denied he was involved in any such communistic deal, he declared in a twenty-three page document filed with the board by his attorney, Maurice Sugar, that Martin himself has been friendly with important communists.

"We have photostatic copies of a number of letters exchanged between Martin and Jay Lovestone, former national secretary of the communist party in America and now leader of his own group of unorthodox communists," said Sugar.

Lovestone a Mystery Man.

Lovestone is a New Yorker who is a mystery man in Detroit. He was for five years secretary of the officially recognized communist party in the United States, but was expelled in 1929 upon orders from Moscow.

Lovestone then organized his own communist group and has been working in labor union circles for years.

Despite the charges made against Martin, however, the removal of Frankensteen, Hall, and Mortimer proceeded. Martin subsequently denied Lovestone's control over union policies or any part in its operation.

To observers familiar with U. A. W. affairs here it was obvious today that these charges and countercharges mean little in the more important clash between the personal ambitions of Martin and of Frankensteen and Mortimer.

American Federation of Labor representatives in Detroit were watching the internecine battle of the U. A. W. with some hope. The A. F. of L. agents have been working quietly to gain a foothold in the motor plants.

Patrick Caughan, who runs a tavern at 2675 Lincoln avenue, a trusting man, placed a sheet of cardboard over the aperture when a rear window in his tavern broke.

He reckoned without two lusty drinkers, Mrs. Dorothy Wiczek, 26 years old, of 3152 Clybourn avenue, and her sister, Miss Geraldine Denisty, 23, of 868 Lill avenue. They had been drinking early Tuesday morning, but wanted more when they found the window. Entering, they departed with five quarts of whisky, a box of cigars and a peanut vending machine. Judge Oscar S. Caplan heard about it yesterday.

All amateur detectives had to do to inform police was to see the sisters weaving their way home, leaving a trail of liquor behind them, as they'd opened the botle for a nip on the way.

Arrested in the Lill avenue home by Sheffield avenue police, they were convicted and sentenced yesterday in Women's court to 30 days in the house of correction and fined $25 and costs on petty larceny charges. A brother, John Denisty, 19 years old, a parolee from Pontiac reformatory, was arrested with them and turned over to parole authorities.

ASSAILS LABOR BOARD MEMBER AS C. I. O. BACKER

A. F. of L. Union Leader Demands Inquiry.

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—A demand for an investigation of the actions of Edwin S. Smith, a member of the National Labor Relations board, was made here tonight by Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's association, an A. F. of L. union.

In a statement in which he attacked the labor board, communism and the C. I. O., he said that with the exception of American Telegraphers' association, maritime unions were "getting cleared" of communist control. He warned that "real Americans" are permitting communists to "colonize" certain sections of New York City and that "tomorrow the Reds will be knocking at their door."

Move to Bar Communists.

Ryan said he had received information that 2,500 Los Angeles longshoremen who are members of the C. I. O. had "put into action" an effort to amend their constitution so as to keep communists from membership. The amendment, he said, would bar Harry Bridges from membership in the union.

Apparently partly on the basis of this report, Ryan said that he had asked that the labor board hold another election among west coast longshoremen to decide whether they wish to be represented by an A. F. of L. or a C. I. O. union.

Charges Unfair Ethics.

He charged that in the last election, in which the longshoremen are alleged to have voted for the C. I. O., "all the ethics of fair play were disregarded," and the NLRB "forced" the longshoremen to join the C. I. O. Smith acted for the labor board in the election.

"These actions should be investigated by a committee of true Americans," he said, "to ascertain whether Edwin S. Smith is interested in Russia or America."

HITS ORDER AS ILLEGAL

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—The National Labor Relations board's administration of the Wagner labor act was vigorously assailed as unconstitutional today by the Republic Steel corporation.

A militant brief, filed with the board, attacked every section of a proposed order under which the board proposes to find Tom W. Girdler's company guilty of violating the labor act during the "little steel" strike of 1937. Oral argument on the proposed order has been set for tomorrow.

In 616 exceptions to the proposed order and a 136 page brief, the steel company argued that the labor board usurped jurisdiction, authority and power in its action against the company. Further, the company contends that it has a right to state its opinion of the purposes, aims, and nature of the Committee for Industrial Organization which was denied in hearings before the board.

Denies Unfair Practices.

The brief strongly attacked the board's contention in the proposed findings that the strike at the company's plants was caused by "unfair labor practices." It is the company's contention that the strike was called by leaders of the steel workers' organizing committee, a C. I. O. affiliate, for their own aggrandizement.

"We challenge the board and its counsel to point out any evidence in the record in which any of the witnesses testified, directly or indirectly, expressedly or impliedly, that the strike was due to unfair labor practices," the brief stated. "On the contrary, the undisputed evidence does show that the sole and proximate cause of the strike was the refusal of the respondent to sign the proposed contract . . . presented to it by the steel workers' organizing committee."

The board in its proposed findings holds that the wrongful discharge of employés for labor activities caused the strike. The company in the brief averred that these employés "had actually returned to and were at work . . . when the strike was called."

Stock Yards Case Proves Blow.

The proposed findings of the board closely parallel its findings of last April 8, which the board withdrew when the administration's government by quasi-judicial bureaus received a blow in the Kansas City stock yards decision of April 25. The withdrawal, which was bitterly contested up to the Supreme court, permits the board to issue provisional orders. Against the impending provisional orders the steel company is making a record of exceptions preliminary to a court test of the merits of the board order.

The brief contended that the board, having voluntarily set aside its original findings in fact and conclusions of law, has no authority to make and issue substantially identical findings solely for the purpose of regularizing its proceedings. It argued that the board assumed judicial power to set aside the order and continued its usurpation of power in its further proceedings in the case.

The brief complained against exclusion of testimony the company was prepared to offer on the acts of violence committed by C. I. O. strikers.

The company said it was denied the right to produce testimony that C. I. O. strikers stoned cars of loyal workers, barricaded highways to company plants, injured loyal workers and their families, burned homes of loyal workers, and other outrages.

In the fall it is expected the traveling time from Chicago to Port Huron will be shortened.

Martin, C.I.O. Auto Union Chief, Called as Witness

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Homer Martin, international president of the United Automobile Workers, C. I. O. union, will be subpenaed as a witness in the Circuit court action to test the right of international officers to control local union units, Arthur W. Richter, counsel for the Allis-Chalmers local said today. The international officers have asked to be interpleaded in an action by George Kiebler, Martin's appointee as administrator, to compel the Allis-Chalmers company to recognize five officials he appointed to replace the five elected officers of the local whom he suspended.

Bomb Garage at Home of Deposed C. I. O. Leader

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 10.—(AP)—A bomb damaged the garage behind the residence of Richard T. Frankensteen, deposed as vice president of the United Automobile Workers of America, tonight. The garage was empty. The house was not damaged. Frankensteen, his wife, and their three children were in the house with Maurice Sugar, the union leader's attorney, and a stenographer, Mrs. Dorothy Kraus.

Milk Drivers' Strike at Decatur Is Called Off

Decatur, Ill., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Mack Ray, business agent of the teamsters and chauffeurs' union, announced late tonight that the strike which tied up 80 per cent of this ciy's milk deliveries had been called off. Ray made the announcement after a conference between union leaders and representatives of seven dairies. He said all milk deliveries would be made as usual tomorrow morning.

PARLEY FAILS TO END OTTAWA C. I. O. WRANGLE

Ottawa, Ill., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Unproductive efforts were made today to end the C. I. O. labor dispute that has kept 550 employés of the Libby-Owens-Ford Glass company idle for two days. Company officials met in conference with union representatives, but picketing at the plant, the bone of contention, still was going on late today.

Persons from out of town who attended the conference were W. P. Clarke of Toledo, personnel director of the company; Irving De Shetler of Columbus, O., national secretary of the Federation of Flat Glass Workers, an affiliate of the C. I. O., and Henry Baum of Toledo, district president of the union.

The trouble is over the C. I. O. union picketing the plant in an effort to prevent formation of a rival American Federation of Labor local.

Steel Workers' Union Signs with 2 Companies

Van A. Bittner, regional director of the Steel Workers' Organizing committee, announced yesterday that the committee had signed sole collective bargaining contracts with the American Can company for five Pacific coast plants. Contracts were also signed with the International Harvester company for three iron ore mines in the Mesaba mountain range in northern Minnesota, he said.

C. I. O. ORGANIZER HELD TO JURY AS STRIKE AGITATOR

7 North Chicago Foundry Pickets Fined.

Oakley Mills, C. I. O. organizer, was held to the Lake county grand jury yesterday on a charge of unlawful assembly. This was an outgrowth of his action in leading a crowd of 1,000 C. I. O. sympathizers on the Waukegan courthouse lawn on July 16 while a strike was in progress at the Chicago Hardware Foundry company in North Chicago.

Oakley Mills.

Seven other men and a woman were fined for disorderly conduct in the C. I. O. picket line which surrounded the foundry.

Fined on Second Charge.

Mills waived examination on the unlawful assembly charge when he was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Henry F. Wallenwein in Waukegan. He was released on $1,000 bond. This charge was one of two against him in connection with the courthouse incident. He pleaded guilty to the other—disturbing the peace—and paid a fine of $8.

Mills has been at liberty on an indictment charging him with conspiracy and intimidation during the strike, which lasted seven weeks. He directed pickets of a Steel Workers' Organizing Committee union, affiliated with the C. I. O., which prevented loyal employés from resuming work at the foundry.

Leader in Fansteel Sitdown.

Mills was also one of the leading agitators in the sitdown strike at the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation in North Chicago in 1937. His contempt sentence and fine in that case is being appealed.

Nine other cases arising out of disorders in the picket line on July 18 and 19 were disposed of yesterday by Justice of the Peace Wallenwein. Six men and a woman who were in the picket line pleaded guilty to charges of disorderly conduct and paid fines of $8. They are Mrs. Marion Jelovesek, John Globis, Everett Custard, Nick Marcinkus, Aage Paulsen, and Nick Farella and his son, Frank.

A charge against Isaca Sinsun of inciting a riot was changed to disorderly conduct and he was freed on payment of a $25 fine. A disorderly conduct charge against Arthur Mills, son of Oakley Mills, was dismissed.

Committee Pays Fines.

All of the fines were paid by John J. Brownlee, representing Van A. Bittner, regional director for the S. W. O. C. Brownlee said that the C. I. O. will file a complaint with the La Follette senatorial committee, asserting interference with the civil liberties of the C. I. O. sympathizers.

The C. I. O. also has prepared a draft for an ordinance which would prohibit the use of tear gas in settling strike disputes in North Chicago. Sherif Lawrence A. Doolittle and his deputies used the gas bombs in routing the sitdown strikers at the Fansteel plant and in dispersing the picket line at the hardware foundry company. Harold Tallett, city attorney of North Chicago, was studying the proposed ordinance yesterday.

Mules Used on Combines in Rolling Wheatlands

Walla Walla, Wash., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Farmers here use mules and horses to pull their wheat combines, preferring the sure-footed animals to tractors which might tumble down the slopes of the rolling land. As many as 33 mules are used to draw some of the harvesting machines, with one driver handling one set of reins to the lead animals. Five men are required to operate the cutting and threshing outfit. The yield has been especially good this year, with an average of 35 bushels to the acre being not unusual.

MALONE TAKEN TO NEW PRISON; CONDITION WORSE

Mrs. William H. Malone of Park Ridge was notified yesterday that her husband, a former chairman of the Illinois tax commission, had been transferred from the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., to the medical center for federal prisoners at Springfield, Mo. Malone has served three months of a two year sentence imposed here for income tax evasion.

During his long fight to avoid prison, which he carried to the United States Supreme court, Malone contended he was physically unfit to withstand the sentence. He was suffering, he said, from a rupture of the diaphragm, a displacement of the stomach, and resulting complications. The removal was assumed to mean that Malone has grown worse since he entered prison. Mrs. Malone, however, was not informed of his condition.

Mrs. Malone said she intended to visit her husband at the earliest possible opportunity.

DEPUTY DENIES YOUTH'S CHARGE OF 2 MURDERS

First Heard of Crime from Press, He Says.

South Paris, Me., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Point by point Francis M. Carroll, former sheriff's deputy, today denied Paul N. Dwyer's accusation that he killed elderly Dr. James G. Littlefield and his wife.

Carrol, 43 years old, is on trial for the country doctor's murder. He contended he knew nothing of the bizarre crimes until after Dwyer had been arrested in North Arlington, N. J., and had confessed. A friend corraborated part of Carroll's story.

Dwyer, 19 years old, a former sweetheart of Carroll's pretty daughter, Barbara, pleaded guilty of Dr. Littlefield's murder and became a lifer prisoner. Now, he charges Carroll with both killings.

On Stand Five Hours.

A courtroom packed to the doors heard Carroll's unruffled answers in five hours of cross-examination by Special Prosecutor Ralph Ingalls.

On the night of Oct. 13, when Dr. Littlefield was bludgeoned and strangled in Dwyer's Paris hill home, Carroll insisted he first attended a Legion supper, leaving to serve a summons. He returned to Legion hall and on his way home participated in an arrest.

Morris Prince, a friend of Carroll, testified the defendant left the Legion hall between 7:30 and 8 p. m., and that he saw Carroll again outside the hall between 9 and 9:30 p. m. They had arranged to play cards, he added, and Carroll remained at his home until after midnight.

Carroll said that on Oct. 14 he was at his mother's home until between 10 and 11 p. m., then made plans to go to a sister's home in Reading, Mass.

Youth's Story Different.

Dwyer had charged Carroll strangled Mrs. Littlefield, in a lonely field outside the village, shortly after midnight on the night of Oct. 14.

Carroll's wife and his five children accompanied him to Reading the next day, he said.

On Oct. 16, two newspapermen, wishing to interview Barbara, first told him of the murders, Carroll said.

Carroll said that not until his arrest last May, charged with a morals offense involving Barbara, did he know of letters, from Barbara to Paul, that have figured largely in the state's case.

Ingalls contended that in one of those missives the girl told of seduction by her father. When Paul gave Dr. Littlefield that information, Ingalls said, Carroll had a motive.

Ruling Blocks City's Move to Outlaw Toy Revolvers

Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes said yesterday that the city cannot restrict or prohibit the sale of toy revolvers under existing law. Cap pistols are outlawed in Chicago's fireworks ordinance, he explained, but other toy guns are not covered. The city council had asked that an ordinance be drafted to outlaw all toy guns to reduce juvenile delinquency.

Sues for Divorce

[Underwood & Underwood Photo.]

MRS. HARRY A. S. CLARK.

Harry A. S. Clark, son of Sheldon Clark, capitalist and sportsman, was sued for divorce yesterday in a bill filed in the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan by Mrs. Dorothy Douglass Clark. The bill charged habitual drunkenness and cruelty.

The Clarks were married June 1, 1931, in the Barrington home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Douglass. According to the bill, Clark began drinking heavily shortly afterward and struck his wife on three occasions, the last on July 26 of this year when they separated.

Mrs. Clark is living at Shadow Hill farm, two miles northeast of Barrington in Cuba township. She asks the custody of her daughter, Constance, 4 years old, and alimony and support money. Judge Ralph J. Dady issued an injunction restraining Clark from molesting his wife or disposing of his assets.

REVEALS MILK HEIRESS SPURNED SON'S DOCTORS

Physician Tells of Her Dislike for Strangers.

TORONTO, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Mrs. Mabelle Horlick Sidley did not want to be examined by doctors sent by her son, William Sidley, or by her brother, A. J. Horlick. Dr. Ian Macdonald, who was in constant attendance upon the eccentric malted milk heiress during the last months of her life, made that statement today during examination by attorneys here.

"When Dr. Peter Bassoe of Chicago, a brain specialist, came to Toronto to see her," said Dr. Macdonald, "he arrived quite unannounced at the home of William Perkins Bull, where Mrs. Sidley was a guest. Dr. Bassoe had been sent by William Sidley.

Refuses to See Doctor.

"Mrs. Sidley refused to see him. She was frightened of strangers. At that time she expressed the wish that no doctor sent directly or indirectly by her son or her brother, Alex Horlick, should see her."

Dr. Macdonald, Dr. R. F. Farquharson, and Dr. Trevor Owen, the three physicians who visited her while she lived in Bull's home for more than a year, had been obtained by Mrs. Sidley's second brother, William Horlick, and by Bull. Dr. Macdonald said that William Horlick frequently telephoned to Toronto from Racine, Wis., to get reports on his sister's condition.

The doctor was questioned by D. L. McCarthy, counsel for four of the executors named in Mrs. Sidley's will. They are trying to prevent reopening of an inquest into her death. The examination is a preliminary to oral arguments to be heard next month on a petition for an injunction to restrain Ontario authorities from renewing the death inquiry.

Phones Bull Home.

Dr. Macdonald also related that on July 5, the day before Mrs. Sidley's death, her son telephoned Bull's home and asked permission to bring Dr. H. A. Bruce and Dr. Smirle Lawson, Toronto's coroner, to see his mother. To this request Dr. Farquharson objected, Dr. Macdonald said.

"He did not forbid their coming," the witness explained, "he merely said that he advised against it because Mrs. Sidley was very ill, it was late at night and she was asleep at the moment."

The long automobile drives upon which Mrs. Sidley was taken while living with Bull had been prescribed by him, Dr. Macdonald said. "I felt the patient should be made as happy as possible," he said.

Describes Mrs. Sidley's Ailment.

Dr. Owen, who also was questioned, said he had been called into consultation upon Mrs. Sidley on June 17. The disease that caused her death, he said, had been a form of progressive muscular atrophy. It involved her brain stem as well as the muscles of respiration, swallowing, and articulation. It also affected the muscles of her hands, he said.

On June 28 Mrs. Sidley was stricken with a spell of paralysis and only heroic measures prevented her from dying then, he said. From that day on he lived in the Bull home, he said.

To a question in which he was asked what he thought of the suggestion Mrs. Sidley had slowly been poisoned, Dr. Owen said:

"That's absolutely nonsense. Nothing more on earth could be done for the patient than was being done at that time."

Horlick Family Split.

Racine, Wis., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—The strange division of loyalties within the Horlick family—a division demonstrated in the alignment of one of Mrs. Mabelle Horlick Sidley's brothers with William Perkins Bull of Toronto, and of the other with Mrs. Sidley's only son, William Sidley, in an attack upon her 1938 will—has been the subject of speculation here.

Bull was given between $850,000 and one million dollars of Mrs. Sidley's estate under the terms of the will and exactly similar provisions were made for William Sidley. Young Sidley and his uncle, Alexander J. Horlick, have indicated they will oppose such a division of her three million dollar estate. But William Horlick, Mrs. Sidley's favorite brother, is supporting Bull.

This curious lineup existed before Mrs. Sidley's death, according to reports here. She and William Horlick constantly were teamed together in opposition to business policies advocated for the Horlick Malted Milk company by Alexander Horlick. Bull was often the advisor of Mrs. Sidley and William Horlick. He was cordially disliked by Alexander Horlick.

TO DEMOCRATS: THE COMMUNISTS ARE COMING.

Elmer J. Ryan, Minnesota's only Democratic congressman, has indorsed the Republican candidate for governor, Harold E. Stassen, and has asked the Democrats to turn to him to defeat Gov. Elmer A. Benson, the Farmer-Laborite. Ryan was formerly Stassen's law partner, having practiced with him in St. Paul, something which need not be given much consideration in explaining why he crosses the party line. There are sufficient reasons for any sensible Democrat to take the course Mr. Ryan recommends.

The Democratic Minnesota congressman correctly describes the Benson-Lundeen Farmer-Laborite political machine in Minnesota as one favored by the communists, supported by them, and serving their purpose. It is the Minnesota organization of their national political machinery. When Mr. Roosevelt two years ago was consolidating his congeries of radicals, revolutionaries, communists, and profiteering politicians, whose only credo is cash, he swept the Democratic ticket off the ballot in Minnesota to give a clear field to Benson for governor and Lundeen for the United States senate.

Fred A. Curtis and Patrick J. Delaney, the nominees, obeyed the order from the White House and filed their withdrawals with the secretary of state just an hour before the time limit expired. The Democratic party in the state was turned over to the communist backed Farmer-Laborite candidates and they were elected. This alliance could not have been brought about without the direct intervention of Mr. Roosevelt, who sacrificed what was then supposed to be his own party to insure carrying the state for himself.

Congressman Ryan's warning to the Minnesota Democrats can be well repeated to Democrats in nearly every state, particularly in such nearby states as Ohio, Michigan, and Pennsylvania, where John Lewis and the communistic C. I. O. will succeed in taking over the party or have already done so. In Tuesday's Ohio primaries the Lewis-communist Labor Nonpartisan league, the C. I. O.'s political action organization, backed Charles Sawyer, the Democratic national committeeman, against Gov. Davey. Davey had weakened himself politically by vacillations which convinced the revolutionaries that he was undependable, and led the conservatives to the opinion that he was entirely unreliable and uncertain of what he wanted to do in any conditions requiring a decision.

That Davey at one time had ceased to be a tool of Lewis after he had started to be one was to his credit, but it left him with a spotted record of playing on both sides of the fence. Lewis wanted a man he could trust to do what he was told and the Democratic party in that state has been taken over by the Reds and radicals. With Sawyer as the Lewis nominee, the Democrats of Ohio can save themselves only by following the advice of Ryan to the Minnesotans. The same thing will be true in Michigan. The communists support Frank Murphy for governor. Democrats who do not want to be added to the communist party electorate will have to vote for the Republican candidate.

The communists are taking orders from Mr. Roosevelt and he is taking orders from John Lewis. A continuance of this combination in political power will put the factories and mills of the country under the control of the Lewis labor board and the labor relations law will be applied to give the Browder outfit the command of American industries. For the time being the communists in taking orders from Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Lewis are betraying their own party, but if they are not finally softened up by personal gains and bought out they will use their present opportunity as the Trojan horse for the seizure of government. They have already gained access to the control room of the Democratic party, and Democrats can prevent an October revolution only by turning to the Republican ticket in states in which the Democratic ticket is Red.

PANTS WITHOUT POCKETS.

After thousands of years the women of the western world have at last discovered the merit of pants. They call them slacks, trousers, overalls, culottes, and perhaps other things as well, but by whatever name they are called they are still pants.

It does not reflect much credit upon the intelligence of womankind in the past that so many hundreds of generations rejected this admirable garment. Perhaps the women of other years feared they would not look well in trousers. If so, they were right, but it was a mistake to reject a garment merely because it was not becoming. Clothing should be, above all, sensible. Its ornamental value is distinctly secondary.

Now that women have come to take this common-sense view of the matter, it is remarkable that they have not insisted upon having their pants equipped with adequate pockets. The pants pocket is one of the world's great inventions, ranking with the mariner's compass and the steam engine. Probably neither of these devices would have been given to the world if the inventor had not had a place to carry his pocket-knife and chalk without burdening his mind with where he left them.

It is only fair that women who have so boldly sacrificed feminine allure should be compensated for their loss. They should be given the customary pockets, two on the sides and two in the back, and these pockets should be of a size sufficient to hold the normal contents of a woman's purse. When that is done the emancipation of the sex will be complete.

THE LAMB IS A FOX.

A perusal of some recent statistical information published by the SEC suggests that many persons reputed to have great perspicacity in market matters lack that quality in a remarkable degree. The examination of the same releases and documents indicates that he who is credited with being the babe of the financial woods is the real expert.

Consider first the insiders. The directors and officers of corporations know what is going on in their companies all the time. Because of the access they have to data not immediately available to others, they are now required to report to the Securities Exchange commission any transactions they have in the securities of their own company.

The reports last autumn on the eve of the sharpest decline in security prices on record, showed that officers and directors of many companies then were buying stock in their companies. Some large purchases were made in the month immediately preceding the collapse. In the months following the severe decline, these insiders sold on balance. Some heavy sales were made during June, just before the market started up. Thus some insiders were buying stock just before the price was cut in two, and were selling just before the price doubled. They missed the boat both ways.

Maybe the insiders were too close to their business to know when to act and how. Maybe they don't know enough about the factors outside their business which affect security prices. Well, there is a group of outsiders who have made it a business to know about things of a more general nature, and we know about them, too. We refer to the managers of investment trusts. The SEC recently published one section of what is to be a very comprehensive analysis of the investment companies. The period covered is from 1927 to 1936, with some additional information for 1937. Between 1927 and 1937 there were some remarkable opportunities to make money for those who could see what was coming. The investment trusts didn't see the collapse of 1929-'32. They lost 166 million dollars on what they sold, and a whole lot more on what they held. They lost on paper 3.8 billions of the 6.3 billions they had in 1929. Following 1932, their portfolios increased in value. But they didn't see the drop that was coming last year, and suffered a paper loss of 1½ billion dollars in 1937 as a result. Financial publications credited the fast rise in the market in the closing days of July to last minute purchases by investment trusts, which had not seen the rise coming, and missed the boat again.

The little fellow is apparently the only one who does it right. The records of the United States Steel corporation show that the number of its stockholders falls off when the stock goes up, and rises when the stock goes down. The little fellow buys the stock when it's cheap and sells out to the big fellow when it's dear. The SEC reports indicated that the odd lot [less than 100 share] purchases exceeded sales on the way down and part the way up. About the time the market reached the peak in the third week of July, the odd lot traders were selling out again.

The conclusion from this seems to be that the stock market sucker doesn't have to take lessons from either the wise guy or the insider. It's the other way around.

MORGAN'S CHARGES SUSTAINED.

The TVA inquiry is getting somewhere. And the place at which it is arriving is not that which might have been expected in view of the hand picked committee which was selected to investigate it.

The latest disclosure involves the marble deal. Dr. Arthur Morgan had charged that the arrangement of Commissioners Lilienthal and Harcourt Morgan to settle by compromise Senator George Berry's 5 million dollar marble land claim was "an effort at a barefaced steal," because the marble deposits were valueless.

Outstanding experts in the government service and from leading universities have found that the Berry marble was utterly without commercial value. Despite this showing the two commissioners until recently were able to offer as a defense for their actions that they were honestly mistaken. But testimony brought out before the hearing on Tuesday made that excuse unavailable for Lilienthal and Harcourt Morgan. The chief geologist of the TVA, the expert whose job it is to know about mineral deposits, wrote a memorandum in 1934 and again early in 1935 warning the TVA that the claims were an attempt to hold up the government.

Thus it is established that Lilienthal and his TVA board ally knew as early as four years ago that spurious claims were being made against the TVA. The fact that they sought to compromise such claims instead of fighting them to a finish is a complete vindication of the position taken by Dr. Morgan.

Nothing, in fact, has come out in the investigation to show that Dr. Morgan was not thoroughly justified in making his charges. The power contracts, the fertilizer purchase, the scrambled bookkeeping, the changes of the minutes are scandals which any honest man would have used his best energy to expose. And there is a lot more, no doubt, which is yet to be ventilated. The TVA investigation must not be shushed.

Editorial of the Day

ON THE GOVERNMENT.

[Danville Commercial-News.]

According to one Washington authority, about a third of the population is dependent, or partly dependant, upon checks received from the government.

In the latter half of 1936 the government paid checks to 10,750,000 individuals and in the next six months the number will be 12,750,000. About 2 billion dollars will go to these persons.

It is pointed out that 4 million farm families have been receiving about $125 each, or a total of ½ billion. With prices declining and pressure for more money, the last congress added $200,000,000 to be paid.

The WPA employs 3,000,000 individuals and about 2,000,000 persons are drawing old age and dependent children support. The government has about 900,000 regular employés, not counting the army and navy, and about 900,000 veterans are drawing pensions. There are CCC camp and other types of payments.

As time goes on will the proportion of the population on the government increase, will individuals receive larger checks, and how long will the government continue to borrow to make the payments?

And, finally, what will happen in the end, and how long will it take?

"For better or for worse" we took the vow—
Do you remember how enraptured then
We felt? how far it seems, how strange now,
Now we're parting, never to live again
In one world—a separate wilderness
Of freedom instead: free to be alone,
Or taste heart-stranger's casual caress,
Degrading love's full song to monotone.
Did we not at outset count up the cost
Of things forsworn to bring our joy about,
And did we not consider world well lost
"For worse" your wise and worldly kin say now—
Tell me: were they the ones who took the vow?

The owner of two lionesses advertised for a buyer in THE TRIBUNE and has been deluged with offers of one kind or another. He has been offered a lot in Wheaton, a 1928 sedan, a five gaited horse, a stationary merry-go-round, two summer resort lots, and a country club membership. Trouble is he can't evaluate them, and the lions are still caged behind the motordrome at Riverview. Personally, we hope somebody buys them if they're the lions that used to have to ride the motorcycle car, so they'll never have to do it again.

The day will come, we hope, when the use of animals will be prohibited in entertainment spectacles where the thrill of the act is in direct proportion to its unnaturalness. This will mean no wild animal acts in the circus, no horses or dogs diving from high places, no live creatures used by magicians. Every time we see a magician—and there's one at the Palace right now—using live creatures we wish a rabbit could pull him out of a top hat for a change and toss him to a stage hand when he's through, should he still be alive after his moments of smothering. In the case of the rabbits and doves and the other small live pawns used by magicians it's not so much cruelty that is objectionable as the special kind of bullying it represents—the use of frightened and helpless creatures as though they were inanimate.

NOURISHMENT AND NERVES.

PHYSICIANS are willing to admit that they have more demands than ever before for quieting drugs. The load placed on our emotional machinery today is far greater than that of a decade or two ago. We may not sense fatigue at times because excitement sustains us. Only after the stimulus passes will we feel exhausted. Similarly we may be oblivious to psychological reactions upsetting to the nervous system. Presently, when we are compelled to face stern reality, often fraught with discouragement, stability is put to the test.

Whenever I hear of the use of hypnotic chemicals day after day I wonder if the habitués recognize what they are doing. Acquiring the name of a sedative, many decide to take it as some friend or neighbor may direct. This situation prompts a discussion of bromides, which—although the safest of these elements—cannot be employed with impunity. We must recall that nothing of this sort is a cure; it only is a temporary measure, serving helpfully for a day or two, or at most a few weeks. Even then its administration should be guarded closely to make certain that no untoward symptoms may ensue.

Studies have shown that certain individuals cannot take bromides, although the number of those who react adversely is extremely small. Occasionally, however, one who has been using the compound over a long period of time, as in epilepsy, may develop an idiosyncrasy tantamount to poisoning. In such cases mental sluggishness may be pronounced, the patient thinking and responding with great difficulty, behaving as though he were of subnormal intelligence—dull and stupid. True toxic manifestations comprise loss of appetite, nausea, and marked constipation, with a rise in temperature later and an increase in the pulse rate. Now and then consciousness may be disturbed, with incoherent speech, delusions, or hallucinations.

Let us assume that it is necessary to prescribe some sedative and that a bromide is suggested as the most innocuous of the entire group, barbiturates included. It is highly important that the dose shall not be larger than absolutely required and that the normal intake of common table salt [sodium chloride] be maintained. If one is fussy about food, not liking this or that, one may receive an utterly inadequate supply of vitamins and salt.

In the absence of essential nutrition, bromides may exert effects quite outside their ordinary rôle, whereas with ample nourishment and a proper amount of sodium chloride none but a favorable response is produced. The reason that elderly people may be affected more quickly than others is because many have found that they feel better under a low salt to salt free diet, since it is difficult for the kidneys to excrete the sodium part of salt. If such a one, who has been depriving his body of this compound for his kidneys' sake, is suddenly flooded with bromides we may expect unfavorable symptoms to appear shortly.

With the first signs of overdose the sedative should be stopped and physiological salt solution—two teaspoonfuls to a quart of water—taken at brief intervals. Warm packs are helpful, but not to the point of inducing perspiration which merely accelerates the loss of minerals needed to counteract the medicine. Next in order comes prompt elimination from the bowel.

Such incidents rarely occur under the simple relaxing dose of 5 to 15 grains a day. Tens of thousands are resorting to these palliatives right along with no unfortunate results. To this end, more depends upon sound functioning of the digestive tract, freedom from constipation, and preserving the body's mineral balance than upon any other factor except that the dosage must be moderate. We should accept bromides as invaluable, although we may decry the economic and social conditions which foster our need for them.

ABOUT 124 DAYS.

R. E. writes: In one of your articles you stated that the red blood cells are being destroyed constantly and are as rapidly being replaced by new ones. How rapidly does this occur? In other words, how long does a red blood cell live?

REPLY.

Estimates have been made varying from 30 to 100 days. Recent experimental work, however, has shown that the duration of life of a single red cell exceeds 100 days. This has been calculated from the output of bile pigment which is produced from those cells which have been destroyed. The average of several determinations was 124 days.

PROBABLY ANOTHER CAUSE.

Mrs. S. writes: My husband had shingles about three years ago. As a result his skin was left with red blotches and pimples. What can be done for this?

REPLY.

The skin condition may not be due to shingles. More probably some infection or allergic manifestation is present. If cleanliness and attention to digestion and elimination have no effect, ultraviolet or other radiation may help.

HAY FEVER ARTICLE.

D. N. B. writes: Every summer I am afflicted with an asthmatic condition which consists of a running nose and inflammation of the bronchial tubes. I find it difficult to sleep at night. A specialist told me the lining of my nose is very sensitive to irritation and that there was no cure for that. I read recently about lining the nose with a layer of zinc. Do you think this remedy is worth while?

REPLY.

You have hay fever. An article on plating the nasal mucosa appeared in this column on May 5, 1938. The plan is of value only to those who are not relieved by vaccines and with whom a filter against pollens is impracticable. Also, the year round sufferer is more likely to be relieved than the periodic one.

CANKER SORES.

J. B. writes: For some years I have been bothered with canker sores inside the mouth and on the tongue. What is the cause?

REPLY.

The cause generally is believed to be some disturbance in the gastrointestinal tract, possibly due to a food allergy. The first rule in treatment is to correct digestive disturbances. Constipation must be overcome and the diet confined to plain, wholesome food, without excess of sugars and starches. The diet should be adequate in vitamins. Mouth washes are of value and the sores may be cauterized with a 5 per cent solution of silver nitrate or with a small crystal of potassium alum.

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

A PRIZE STATESMAN.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—Mr. Roosevelt must be very proud of his man Barkley, who campaigned on such a statesmanlike issue as:

"If you want to swap all you're getting now from the federal government for a set of balanced books down in Washington, then vote for Happy Chandler. But if you want to keep on getting what you're getting and get some more, too, then vote to keep me in the senate."

Any comment is unnecessary, but I hope that this gem of political argument is read by every intelligent voter in the country.

DAVID P. MCLELLAND.

ARE THEY LETTING DOWN THE BARS?

Chicago, Aug. 9.—One of your Voice contributors wants to know why we should let refugees into this country when it will increase the relief rolls, which already contain millions.

I write to say that it is hardly possible for a refugee to become a burden to this country, because all wishing to enter must apply to the United States consul for a visa. This visa will be granted only on a guarantee from a responsible citizen that the refugee will not at any time become a public charge on this country.

According to reports, many refugees were German manufacturers, and with their knowledge they are starting up factories of their own and so are not only self-supporting, but also creating jobs for others.

FINDS COMPLAINT UNWARANTED.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 6.—I have noted a letter in your paper headed "Is Uncle Sam Prompter Pay?" The correspondent insists that WPA workers at the Chicago State hospital get better wages than state employés and that state hospital employés have not been paid since June 9, and are paid $63 per month and "receive it when we get it."

Let me say that employés of the state institutions are paid every thirty days. Pay day for the Chicago State hospital runs about the fifteenth of the month. The writer has failed to report the fact that, in addition to the money, he also receives board, room, laundry, and doctor's services when necessary.

A. L. BOWEN,
Director Department of Public Welfare.

A CREDIT TO ILLINOIS.

Wood, Wis., Aug. 8.—I wonder if the people of Illinois generally realize what a credit the Soldiers' Mothers and Widows' home [at Wilmington] is to the state. The kindness and consideration shown my mother during her recent illness and death at the hospital there will be always a sacred memory. Under the management of Mrs. C. H. Neiderfeldt, with the kind and competent nurses and assistants, it is a model institution.

CHARLES J. WHITE,
World War Veteran.

THE BANKING AMENDMENT.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—We thank you sincerely for the fine editorial indorsing the proposed constitutional amendment relating to our state banking system. We appreciate not only the fact that THE TRIBUNE has given editorial indorsement to our efforts but also the excellent quality of the editorial. You have given us some new ideas which we can use with effect in our campaign.

FLOYD E. THOMPSON,
Chairman Constitutional Amendment Committee.

FREE RIDES ON RAILROADS.

Champaign, Ill., Aug. 9.—One way to help maintain the present wage schedule for railroad workers: The figures given out at the conference last week show over 900,000 railroad employés. These employés, together with their dependents, perhaps number three million individuals who can ride free all over the United States.

Stockholders cannot ride free to the next station, and yet they are the owners. Sounds like C. I. O. [in Iowa] where the owners shall not say how to conduct their own business.

Uncle Sam will not permit his postal employés by reason of their employment to frank a letter across the street. Why not collect from railroad employés and dependents on pleasure trips and give the roads some needed revenue?

FORNEY WINGARD.

SUCKERS LEAVE THE FISH POND.

Postville, Ia., Aug. 8.—The Postville Herald has received from Keller, Wash., the following letter from J. A. Cook, former resident of Postville:

"Beginning with your next issue please mail the Herald to me at Republic, Wash., as we are moving there next week.

"The powers that be have decided they want this little valley for a fish pond, tributary to the Columbia river Coulee dam irrigation project, and have made it optional with us to become fish [we seem to be already suckers] or move up higher, so we're going back to the old town of Republic, the town we landed in back in 1910."

F. L. C.

KNEELING, PRAYING, AND SINGING.

Blue Island, Ill., Aug. 9.—I often find interesting topics discussed in your paper, but few of a religious nature. Here is one: Hearing singing one evening, I thought I would follow the sound and see what it was all about. I entered a building in a small city just south of Chicago and went up a stairway to a hall. Upon opening the door a scene greeted my eyes and ears which I shall never forget. Many people were kneeling while they prayed and sang. This was beautiful.

B. I.

THAT "MEDICAL TRUST" AGAIN.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—I am one of Chicago's "deserving poor" who recently received surgical treatment without cost at one of our finest hospitals. The doctors in charge were men of high standing who treated me with all the kindness and consideration "Mrs. John D. Astorbilt" would have expected. I am truly grateful to these able surgeons who gave so willingly of their time and skill to a stranger that she might be well.

MRS. E.

CHILDREN HUNGRY FOR BOOKS.

Louisville, Ill., Aug. 8.—I learned from a fellow teacher what a "Good Samaritan" you are, so here I make a similar appeal: My twenty pupils in a one room rural school are hungry for good used books. I know there are people who have a few books in the attic that will come to our rescue. Our boys and girls range in age from 7 to 14 years.

EMMETT FRY, Teacher.

OUTLAY FOR R. R. CROSSINGS.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—In regard to railroad crossing protection: Expenditures of class I railroads for crossing protection averaged $15,272,112 a year for the five year period of 1933-'37. Expenditures of class I railroads for the maintenance of crossings and signs during the four year period 1932-'35 averaged $6,742,230 a year. The foregoing figures do not include railway capital expenditures for the construction or improvement of railway crossings, or expenditures for the elimination of crossings.

THE WAGES AND HOURS LAW.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—When does the new wage and hour law, passed by the last session of congress and signed by the President, go into effect? What are the important parts of the law? C. S.

The wages and hours provisions become effective on Oct. 24, 1938, 120 days after the enactment of the act.

It will then become unlawful to employ a worker who is engaged in commerce, which is defined to mean "interstate commerce," at a wage less than 25 cents an hour or more than forty-four hours a week, unless such compensation is time and a half for overtime. After a year, the minimum wage becomes 30 cents an hour, and after forty-two hours, overtime rates must be paid. At the end of another year, the work week is reduced to forty hours, and seven years after the effective date of the act, the minimum wage rate becomes 40 cents an hour. Differentials as to age or sex are barred.

The child labor provisions follow closely the 1916 law, but the age limits are higher. "Oppressive child labor" is defined as a condition of employment in which any worker under the age of 16 is employed in any occupation, or an employé under the age of 18 is employed in any occupation which the chief of the children's bureau in the department of labor shall find to be particularly hazardous or detrimental to the well-being of such children.

Broad exemptions reduce the number of workers who will benefit from the act. Agricultural workers and workers not engaged in interstate commerce are exempt from the act, and even the child labor provisions. The wage and hour provisions do not apply to seamen, those engaged in fishing and related employment, including canning and curing of fish products, street railway employés and those within the area of production in the handling, packing, ginning, preparing or canning of agricultural products for market.

The maximum hour provisions are not applicable to workers in the first processing of milk, cream and dairy products; in the ginning or compressing of cotton, cottonseed, beet and cane sugar. The exemption of learners, apprentices and handicapped workers may be allowed under certain specifications.

WEST SIDE TEAM OF SINGERS FOR FESTIVAL CHOSEN

Ninety Voices Heard in Tryout Concert.

Festival Tickets!

Reserved seats for the Chicagoland Music Festival are now on sale at 50 cents and $1 each. They may be obtained by mail [make check or money order payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.] or by calling at the Chicago Tribune public service bureaus at 1 South Dearborn street and in Tribune Tower lobby.

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

And now the west side is ready for the Chicagoland Music Festival. The last of its team of six singers, a soprano, a mezzo-soprano, and a bass, were chosen last night at sectional auditions in the Chicago Woman's club.

Margaret Willem.

If the audience that filled the hot auditorium last night came for an amateur debut, they remained for a concert. Ninety voices were tried before them. When they were finished the music chairman, Mrs. Edmund J. Taylor, pronounced the singers the finest group ever assembled for a festival audition.

Mildred Brod.

73 Sopranos in Contest.

Seventy-three sopranos sang to a room fluttering with fans. Six were recalled for a second song. Three of them returned for a third time. When finally the decision of the judges came, it was unanimous. Miss Margaret Willem, 1731 North Whipple street, a lovely blonde, was the west side's excited soprano winner.

There were few contestants in the mezzo group, but the judging was no less difficult. Two of the twelve singers sang twice to test again the quality of their voices. Then the decision went to Mrs. Mildred Brod, 704 South Lawndale avenue, a dark haired young housewife. Mrs. Brod is 21 years old.

In the bass group Robert Laughlin Smith, 401 North Lombard avenue, Oak Park, won first place. Smith, who was a church soloist at 16, is 23 years old. He is an insurance clerk, and sings, he says, just for the fun of it.

Girl of 16 Is Second.

In a competition so closely contested, second and third place winners have unusual importance in the world of amateur music. Miss Charlotte Pomrenze, 4312 Washington boulevard, who won second place in the soprano section, is only 16 years old. Miss Gertrude Hildebrand, 4156 Francisco avenue, third, is 18. They're good. You'll hear from both of them next year.

As for the mezzos, Miss Sada R. Kirschner, 3634 Huron street, has been a familiar figure at Jewish charity concerts for several years. She is young, and still studying at the American Conservatory of Music. The third place winner, Mrs. Lena Solovey, 2738 Haddon avenue, is a mother and a housewife, who had studied violin till last year. Then she started singing.

The two placing basses are William J. Manthei, 4324 North Sawyer avenue, and William Vagenas, 1301 North California avenue. Manthei, a basso profundo, has been hearing festival tryouts for several years, and only last night developed the courage to enter. He pays for his lessons with money he makes slinging hamburgers to a night trade on the west side.

West side winners, having survived the sectional contest, hope they will be among the favored who will sing at the festival in Soldiers' field on the night of Saturday, Aug. 20.

Accuse Travel Agent

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Ruth Provus (left) and Lillian Stone, who appeared in court against Elmer H. Beinkemper, travel agent.

Two young women who expected to set out for Alaska on vacations yesterday wiped perspiring brows, moaned about the humidity, and went before Judge Thomas A. Green to ask warants for the arrest of a travel agent. When Judge Green learned from attaches he was in custody, he sent for him.

The girls still are not in Alaska, but the agent, Elmer H. Beinkemper, 43 years old, of 8752 South Marshfield avenue, is in the county jail, lacking $4,000 for bonds on two embezzlement charges. As president and treasurer of the Cosmopolitan Travel Service, Inc., 53 West Jackson boulevard, he took $189 and $217 for their tickets, but didn't produce the tickets, charged the women. The hearing was set for Friday.

They are Miss Ruth Provus, 25 years old, of 751 Brompton avenue, secretary to an attorney and a law student herself, and Miss Lillian Stone, 27 years old, of 4312 North Troy street, an elementary school teacher. Beinkemper was arrested in his home Tuesday night and locked up by 1st district police on complaint of Charles Galler, 3653 Leland avenue, and Miss Irene Walters, 11 North Sacramento boulevard. Galler said he paid Beinkemper $525 for tickets to Europe for himself, his wife and two children. Miss Walters had planned to go to Europe by way of the West Indies, turning over $325 for passage, she said.

BUSINESS CHIEFS UNITE TO COMBAT TRANSIT DELAYS

Call for Quick Action on Improvement Plans.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

A new civic organization formed by leading business men in the downtown district will open a campaign soon for transit improvement in Chicago, it was learned yesterday.

Temporarily the new organization has been called the Downtown council. The work of lining up business leaders has been going on quietly for the last month. Its membership already numbers about a hundred, including prominent figures in the manufacturing, trade, and transportation fields.

A spokesman for the organization said that a formal announcement soon will be made of the undertaking and its sponsors.

Want City to Keep Up.

Concern over the failure of Chicago to keep pace with local transportation advances in other cities, and the declining real estate values in some parts of Chicago, have prompted the group of business men to pool their influence in trying to get improvements started, it was said.

The organization has two main objectives: The improvement of local transportation and the rejuvenation of areas surrounding the loop. It has two subcommittees studying these problems.

The group will press for immediate transit rehabilitation. It will urge the construction of downtown subways and ask for unification of all transit systems with a big program of modernization and extension of traction facilities.

Reports Progress on Ordinance.

Preliminary drafts of several sections of a proposed transit unification ordinance will be completed within a week, Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the city council's local transportation committee, said yesterday.

Quinn heads a group of aldermen who are negotiating a new franchise with traction company officials. The ordinance would require unified operation of all transit systems.

Quinn said he would name special subcommittees in the next few days to consider several controversial issues which must be compromised before the ordinance can be completed. These include the amount of compensation to be paid to the city and the question of whether the new franchise will be for a specified number of years or in the nature of an indefinite grant.

PRIEST DROWNS IN VAIN EFFORT TO SAVE SWIMMER

Boy Dies; Neck Broken in Shallow Dive.

A young Chicago priest and a fellow member of his religious order drowned yesterday in Lake Michigan. The priest gave his life trying to save the life of the other, who became exhausted while swimming. The tragedy occurred at Long Beach, near Michigan City, Ind.

The two were the Rev. Roland Emout, 35 years old, of the Church of Notre Dame at 1335 Harrison street, and Brother Norman Richards, 25, of Cleveland, O. They were members of the Fathers of the Blessed Sacrament, and had arrived yesterday for a vacation at Julian cottage, maintained by the order.

Battle Choppy Waves.

Brother Norman was returning to shore after resting at a sand bar, 100 yards out in the lake, when he called for help. Father Emout plunged in to save him. He reached the drowning man and started back. Both became exhausted battling choppy waves kicked up by a strong wind and sank before help could get to them.

Joseph Sylvestra, 16 years old, 1023 South Peoria street, died in St. Therese hospital, Waukegan, last night. His neck was broken when he dived in shallow water off the Foss park pier in North Chicago Sunday.

Two Drown in City.

Joseph Pearson, 55 years old, walked into Lake Michigan at the 79th street beach yesterday and drowned. Policeman Walter O'Leary tried to save him, but reached him too late. Pearson's wife died three months ago in their home at 1517 West 79th street.

Later in the day life guards at the same beach recovered the body of a man believed to be C. Lou Petrus of San Francisco, Cal.

METEOR SHOWER TO FLASH ACROSS THE SKY TONIGHT

The annual pilgrimage of the meteoric display known as the Perseids is due in Chicagoland tonight and tomorrow night after midnight.

The Perseids will flash in the sky about one or two times a minute if they are in good form. This indicates that the impact of the earth's atmosphere heats these particles of matter until they become fireballs.

Astronomers have estimated that the Perseid meteors, which appear to come from the direction of the constellation of Perseus, are hardly larger than marbles, but their brightness makes them visible more than 50 miles above the earth's surface.

The explanation of the Perseids is that they are a cloud of dust left in the wake of Tuttle's comet, which was last seen in 1862. Every year at this time in August the earth sweeps into the orbit of the meteoric swarm that travels about the sun in an elliptical orbit.

REJECT AUTOISTS' PLEA TO USE CAR LINE SUBWAYS

Leslie Sorenson, city trafic engineer, yesterday rejected a suggestion that motorists use the street car tunnels under the Chicago river at La Salle street and at Van Buren street. The Van Buren tube has been idle for several years and the car trafic in La Salle street is light.

"The tunnels," said Mr. Sorenson, "have 10 per cent grades, too steep for Chicago drivers unaccustomed to hills. They would need new ventilating systems to remove carbon monoxide gas, and could handle only two lanes of automobiles.

"The Van Buren tunnel is going to be used in connection with the street car subway to be built in Jackson street. The La Salle street tunnel now accommodates street car trafic with cars five minutes apart during nonrush hours. It also serves as a detour for street cars whenever other bridges are tied up. The La Salle street bridge is adequate for La Salle motor trafic."

11 MILLION VALUE GIVEN ESTATE OF ARTHUR LEHMAN

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—A total value of $11,131,425 was reported today in the first accounting filed in Surrogate's court for the estate of Arthur Lehman, brother of the Gov. Herbert H. Lehman and senior partner of the investment banking firm of Lehman Brothers. He died May 16, 1936.

Of the total amount the federal estate tax has since taken $3,294,232 and the state tax $905,648, a total of $4,199,880. After payment of debts and legacies, of which the only large one was a $250,000 trust for the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies, the residue for the widow and three married daughters is now reported as $6,191,267, as appraised on the day of death. Current values are about one-quarter less.

Half of the income from the estate is to go for life to Mrs. Lehman. The other half is to be divided equally among her three daughters, Dorothy L. Bernhard, Frances L. Loeb, and Helen L. Buttenwieser. All these beneficiaries have complete disposal of the principal in their wills.

BAIN SON-IN-LAW, ON WPA, FILES IN BANKRUPTCY

W. Merle Fisher, son-in-law of John Bain and one of the heads of the Bain banking chain which failed in 1931 with a loss of $13,000,000, declared himself a bankrupt yesterday. Fisher, now a $150 a month WPA employé, listed liabilities of $628,892 and assets of $78,214.

He filed voluntary bankruptcy proceedings in federal court. His attorney said he lives at 8755 Harper avenue with his wife and three children. Fisher was an official of the West Englewood Trust and Savings bank when the twelve Bain banks failed. He was once under sentence of one to three years as a result of the banks' collapse, but the Illinois Supreme court set aside the conviction.

An American Airlines flagship will be assembled this morning in the Congress street plaza. The 21 passenger plane will be dismantled at Chicago airport and taken across the city in sections before dawn. It will remain on display, lighted at night, during Air week, which is being sponsored by Mayor Kelly's New Century committee.

Air week will be opened officially Saturday morning. City officials, representatives of civic organizations, and officials of various air lines will speak at a flag raising ceremony. Later there will be an aviation style revue and an exhibition of airplane luggage.

BECOMES A 3 GUN MAN TO SHOW HE IS NOT A MINOR

Russell Benn, who is 24 years old, became enraged yesterday when the owner of the Wagon Wheel tavern, in Norwood township, thought he looked too young and refused to sell him a drink. He left, but he soon was back with three revolvers demanding his rights. William Clark, the owner, disarmed him and turned him over to Morton Grove county highway police. To them Benn confessed the guns were part of a collection of his father, William Benn, 6012 Byron avenue. None of the weapons was loaded, two lacked hammers, and the third had a rusty lock. Young Benn was held for a justice of the peace.

Estate of L. H. McCormick Wins $238,320 Tax Appeal

The board of tax appeals ruled in Washington yesterday that the government could not collect a deficiency tax claim of $238,320 against the estate of the late L. Hamilton McCormick of Chicago, who died in 1934. The board upheld the claim made by the widow, Mrs. Constance McCormick, who died last June 26. She contended that a trust of $1,118,611 established by her husband in 1923 was not taxable as part of his estate at the time of his death.

STEALTHY THIEF WALKS AROUND IN 'ARTHUR'S SLEEP

Fools Arthur's Wife and Their Lodger.

Arthur Liebson.

And so Mrs. Margaret Liebson had to pinch herself to believe it really was her husband prowling around on his hands and knees at dawn yesterday in street clothes and a hat, looking under the twin beds in their home at 1509 Highland avenue.

"So you're putting on airs," she said. "Dressing to go walking in your sleep. Somnambulating, I suppose you'd say. Really, Arthur, this is going too far. Wake up now and go back to bed."

She Laughs Aloud.

And she fell back drowsily upon her pillow as the searcher turned without a word and crawled bear-like to the door. She laughed aloud when he got to his feet and vanished into the hall.

Her laughter awakened her husband, who was sleeping on the other twin bed as he should have been.

"O, it wasn't you!" cried Mrs. Leibson. "O!"

She noticed then that the $1.90 of household money she had left on the table was gone.

Sees Prowler Leave.

Her husband leaped from bed and followed just in time to see a man leaving by a window no one had ever been able to raise.

The Leibsons awakened their lodger, Irwin Rumbaugh, and told him they'd had a burglar in their home.

"Then he's the fellow who was in here and took my yellow sweater," said Rumbaugh. He looked at Leibson, an attorney, 30 years old. He yawned. And he told Liebson, as he went back to sleep:

"I thought it was you—sleepwalking."

GANGSTER GOES TO GRAVE TODAY AS A POOR MAN

Back in the lush days of prohibition gangsters counted their bootleg liquor income in big figures. And when a machine gun liquidated them their bank rolls provided lavish funerals. It was nothing for a dead gunman to journey to the graveyard in a $10,000 or $20,000 casket.

Nicky Kramer was one of the old bootleg crew. Never a big shot, Kramer managed to "make" the public enemy lists as a muscle man. Under the banner of Joe Saltis, south side gang boss, he made his pile.

On Tuesday Kramer died. No machine guns or a one-way ride for him. He died quietly from a long illness in his home at 4916 South Honore street. Last night in the chapel at 5218 South Kedzie avenue some of his old pals held his wake.

And this morning at 9:30 o'clock in St. Cyril's church his funeral services will be held. But when Kramer starts the ride to St. Mary's cemetery it will not be in an ornate casket as of old. His friends had to raffle off a radio to get enough money for the burial.

Anne Rickcords Is Engaged to William Galt

BY JUDITH CASS.

MR. AND MRS. FRANCIS STANLEY RICKCORDS of State parkway announce the engagement of their daughter, Anne, to William C. Galt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Galt of Astor street.

This is the formal announcement that the former Eleanor Hambleton and her husband are making concerning their only child. Being exceedingly quiet and conservative Mr. and Mrs. Rickcords would feel that this short announcement is all that is necessary to make known the romantic news, but the standing of the families and the popularity of the young couple make other details of interest.

Miss Rickcords did not make a formal debut after finishing school at the Girls' Latin, but her parents gave her a dinner-dance during the Christmas holidays two winters ago. Miss Rickcords is fond of music and often is seen at concerts and musicals with her parents or her aunt, Mrs. John C. Murphy [Peggy Hambleton] and Mr. Murphy.

Mr. Galt is the youngest of the Arthur Galts' three sons. He is studying at the University of Chicago, so no plans for his marriage to Miss Rickcords have been made. The Galts are spending the summer at their country place near Holland, Mich., and the Rickcords are summering at their farm near Millburn.

Cox of the Winnetka Congregational church will read the two ceremonies simultaneously. There will be no attendants.

Only relatives and close friends will attend the ceremony. There will be no reception, but Mr. and Mrs. Miner are serving a wedding supper to the seventy guests. These will include Mrs. Don V. Parker of Ashtabula, O., mother of one bridegroom, and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Ross of Detroit; Mrs. Miner's brother and sister-in-law, the Walter Dunshees of Cedar Rapids; Mrs. Robert Miner and Miss Betty and Miss Patty Miner; Miss Marjorie Klein and Mrs. Nall Candler [who was Miss Miner's roommate at Vassar] of Detroit; Miss Marcia Randall of Leland, Mich.; the Robert Wagners of Pittsburgh, and John Warren of Muncie, Ind.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

On Your Right Is the—

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 10.—So many readers who have never been to California write in asking for a description of the clubs where the movie stars congregate that today's piece will be sort of a guide to the Hollywood scene. "What does the Clover club look like," asks Eleanor Hansen of New York.

If you were driving from Beverly Hills to Los Angeles at night the Clover club would catch your eye high above Sunset boulevard on your left. The first thing that would attract your attention would be the number 8477 in blue Neon lights on the white walled entrance. Even when the Clover was shut down while Farmer Paige, one of the owners, redecorated the badminton court the blue lighted numbers continued to blaze through the night.

Turning left off Sunset [the entrance drive is directly on the street] you shift your car into first gear, because there is a steep roadway leading up to the door. You have to set your brakes to hold your car at the top of the roadway, where one uniformed boy takes it away, while a second gives you a check for it.

You walk up a flight of fifteen or twenty carpeted steps to the iron gates and if you are a member the man at the grille admits you. You walk through a softly lighted lobby to the dining room, where a small circular dance floor is surrounded by tables. Had you been there last night, as we came in, you would have seen tanned Charlie Farrell sitting at a tiny piano, near the bandstand, and warbling "Everything's Been Done Before" with Chic Endor. Strumming their fingers on a tabletop in accompaniment were Director Raoul Walsh, Director Leo McCarey, Director Bill Howard.

The big table, where a party was in progress, was Countess Dorothy Di Frasso's—being given a farewell party on the eve of leaving for a quick trip to New York. The chap taking pictures of that ringside table would be Hymie Fink, best known Hollywood photographer. Stars pose willingly for Fink, because if he takes an unflattering picture they know he'll destroy it. At the moment he's snapping tall and blonde Toby Wing and tanned Dick Merrill.

A few blocks away, toward Beverly, directly on Sunset, is the world famous Trocadero. Not long ago the Troc had its face lifted, so you now see a low, colonial building with white pillars that could be everything but a night club. Attendants take your car when you drive in and drive it downhill to the parking space in the rear. The entrance is cater-cornered, and generally twenty or thirty youngsters are standing there hopefully for autographs.

As you enter you find yourself in a narrow foyer, with lounges on the left side of it. If you'd continue to the end of this thin foyer you'd come to the steps that lead down to the oak and red cushioned bar.

Before arriving at these steps you turn to the right and look directly into the Trocadero proper. It is an exceptionally pretty night club, and across acres of tables, arranged in terraces, you see the bandstand at the far end. Beyond the bandstand and through the windows you can see the lights of the Wilshire section. If you'd been there last night with us you would have seen "A Star Is Born" come to flesh-and-blood life.

At a ringside table were the Mullicans of Indianola, Ia. You are more familiar with their radio and screen names, the Lane sisters. Twenty year old Priscilla Lane, who not so long ago was wearing braids down her back at Indianola High school, had just "stolen" "Four Daughters," which had been previewed at the Warner Hollywood theater, and now she was sipping a fruit orangeade and laughing gayly at something Sister Rosemary Lane had said.

The Mullicans have a faculty at achieving success in a hurry. Fred Waring signed them, Priscilla and Rosemary, the first time he ever met them in Bobby Crawford's office in New York and they sang with his band for four and a half years. They've clicked just as hurriedly in pictures, and Priscilla's grand make-believe in "Four Daughters" sends her stock skyrocketing.

If you'd turn your car north, you'd come to the House of Murphy, liveliest of the picture colony restaurants, because the bar and the narrow room have taken on some of the robustiousness of Bob Murphy, former vaudeville performer.

Mister Murphy, large of paunch and disposition, classified the world in two divisions: The "finks" and the "nice people," so I don't have to tell you that the "finks" are the doodlebugs of the human scale.

You call up in advance to get a table at the House of Murphy, or stand patiently in the narrow doorway until a table is vacated. Better still, you can squeeze in at the bar and pulmotor your sense of well being with a mint julep. Murphy then beckons imperiously and you go to your table, and he makes a great to do about the state of your health, inquires about mutual friends and in short makes you feel that the evening would have been desolate without your presence.

Later in the evening, when the rush has died down, Murphy and his singers stand on the stairs leading to the second [and last] floor, and sing "Sidewalks of New York" and other old favorites. Murphy then composes a rhyme about the patrons at each of the tables. Last night, had you been there, you would have heard Murphy being heckled by W. C. Fields, an habitué of the place. "This is the first time I've ever bit the hand that fed me," said Fields, "But my patience is sorely taxed."

Next week we'll make a tour of some of the other Hollywood hot spots, but my space is running short, and this is where you get off, my little chickadees.

Guide Dog Has Leading Role in 'Blind Alibi'

"BLIND ALIBI."
Produced by RKO-Radio.
Directed by Lew Landers.
Presented at the State-Lake theater.

THE PLAYERS.

Richard Dix	Walter Miller
Whitney Bourne	Frank M. Thomas
Eduardo Ciannelli	Solly Ward
Frances Mercer	Tommy Bupp
Paul Guilfoyle	George Irving and
Richard Lane	Ace, the Wonder Dog
Jack Arnold

BY ANNA NANGLE.

The star of this movie is not exactly a collar ad, but he has plenty of sleek good looks, an alert, intelligent face, four legs and a tail. His name is Ace and he seemed to be getting most of the attention from the audience over at the State-Lake.

He's one of those famous dogs trained to lead the blind, and any actor who permits himself to be cast with this smart fellow is sure to have to take second place. Mr. Dix and Whitney Bourne don't seem to mind their relative unimportance, however, and they collaborate with Ace to make "Blind Alibi" a fairly interesting tale.

In an effort to regain a packet of important letters hidden somewhere in a museum, Mr. Dix assumes blindness and Ace becomes his guide and helper. There are gangsters in search of the same prize; a beautiful assistant curator, a murder and some shooting before the happy ending. The story is involved and has a couple of weak spots, but there are occasional amusing touches here and there, and if you like dogs you'll enjoy seeing Ace in action.

Being Dainty Should Become a Daily Habit

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Personal daintiness should be as automatic as tying one's shoestrings and as little of a strain. It should be as habitual as getting dressed every morning. The rules for personal daintiness would make a long list. They would sound like a lot of things to do, a strenuous program. But once they become a habit, you do them without thinking and without effort.

Cleanliness is the basis for a woman's personal daintiness. First of all, it means the inner cleanliness that brings a good complexion and a sweet breath. It implies a daily bath and the use of deodorants. Shampoos come under this rule for cleanliness, and also daily brushing of the hair. Regular use of the hairbrush keeps the hair clean between washings.

Stockings and underthings should be changed daily. It is easy to get the habit of rinsing them out nightly. For some reason, women, otherwise fastidious, neglect to wash girdles very often. Perhaps it is because they take time drying, but that problem is easily solved by always buying them in twos.

Clean nails are as important as the weekly manicure. A pretty pink or coral polish only shows up a rim of black. Every time you wash your hands, accustom yourself to using a nail brush and orange stick—or a white nail pencil—as automatically as you reach for the soap. Pushing the cuticle back after washing isn't a matter of cleanliness, but it makes your fingers tidier and prettier, too.

The removal or bleaching of unsightly hair on legs and arms makes you look cleaner, so that comes under the program, too.

It sounds like a lot of details to keep in mind. But if every woman makes them a habit, they will become more or less automatic, reflex action, second nature rather than a strain. Then, if she care to, she may add bath salts, beautiful frocks, finger waves, and her favorite perfume to make her even more charming.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Here's one way to correct rough hand skin and to prevent the common hand ills of winter. Begin now on a simple but efficient lubricating program, using a lotion during the day and a rich cream at night.

While it's true that we have much less trouble keeping our hands in order in this sort of weather than we do in the winter months it's equally true that a year 'round hand grooming program is the only one that pays. If you never neglect your hands you never have to put on one of those frantic efforts at rehabilitation.

There are two preparations, companion pieces, that encourage hand skin beauty most efficiently. No reason in the world why you shouldn't use them now to ward off winter troubles.

One is a new lotion, snowy white and quick drying, that not only softens the hands but protects them as well. This is to be used after each hand washing, worked in well to the cuticle and under the nails. It acts as a sort of invisible sheath that protects soil from working in. When the hands are washed after a grimy chore they'll wash white, smooth, and clean.

Companion to this is a cream to be used at night. Its job is to soften and it does this with a vengeance. It's not quick drying. The way to use it is to apply it fairly generously and to work it in well, massaging the fingers as you do so, using the precise motions you'd use if you were putting on a glove. The excess cream is to be wiped off with tissue.

If you're consistent about using the lotion by day and the rich lubricating cream by night you won't be weeping and wailing about rough, red hands when winter comes. Both these hand beauty aids are definitly inexpensive. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Sally to Take Her Guests to See Film Today

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

All washed and combed and ready for our party this afternoon, boys and girls? Shirley Temple, Jimmy Durante, George Murphy, and all the other stars in "Little Miss Broadway" will be ready and waiting to entertain us. Every one please try to be on time. You know, we can't keep a party of 100 boys and girls waiting for a few stragglers.

If you're late you just might miss some of the picture. Wouldn't that be a calamity? Every child must bring his or her invitation.

One week from today another group of party winners will be excited about seeing "A Letter of Introduction" at the Palace theater. The movie features Charlie McCarthy and the stage show is a good one. I'm going to pick the winners today from the huge stack of mail on my desk. Fifty boys and fifty girls who have written the most enthusiastic letters about the party will be chosen. They will see their names in next SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE.

Parish Carnival.

A ten day carnival to raise funds for a new convent will open tomorrow at St. Bonaventure's church, 1615 Diversey avenue. The program will be supervised by the Rev. V. J. Moran, pastor; the Rev. J. A. Carton, and the Rev. F. J. Buck, assistant pastors.

Colored Suede a Favorite of Fall Fashions

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Early fall hints give soft colored suede a high place in fashion plans. Suede hats with wide, wide brims and tall peaked crowns are matched to swashbuckling long gloves that are worn wrinkled around the wrists.

Suede sleeveless waistcoat jackets will be worn with thin wool one piece dresses, with sweaters and skirts, and with thin linen shirts and wool skirts. Suede jackets with long sleeves have snugly belted waists and a profusion of flap pockets. These come in bright colors as well as stunning copper tones, sooty blacks, deep rose red, and forest green.

The suede butcher boy jackets are perfect copies of the linen butcher jackets, down to the pockets and casual swank in every seam. Some suede jackets have ribbed knit effect fabric sleeves. Wind breakers, ending smartly at the beltline, are other buys in suede.

Wide suede belts promise lots of decoration and contrast for the first slim wool dresses. New belts are so wide they'll take your breath away. Other wide belts are handsomely studded with brass, silver, or gold metal nail heads.

Black with gold as contrast will be one of the smartest combines for fall, whether you spike dull black outfits with gleaming gold costume jewelry or wear gold colored wool or suede with linings or bands providing the color accent.

Even the smartest fur duets feature red fox, a tawny gold colored fox, with slim black suits or dresses. Gold colored suede in jackets, boleros, belts, gloves, bags, and hats are brand new arrivals to use for smart contrast tricks.

Designer Declares Co-Eds Will Abandon Era of Casual Dress

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Prediction: This fall's crop of co-eds will discard their anklets, sport shirts and beer jackets for long stockings, cardigans and fashionable dresses.

Mrs. Victor based her forecast on an increased interest in new fall hats, which she had observed among young women of college age.

Mrs. Victor said that "when a woman goes hatless she has a tendency to dress haphazardly and casually. Conversely, when she takes an interest in her hat, she dresses accordingly.

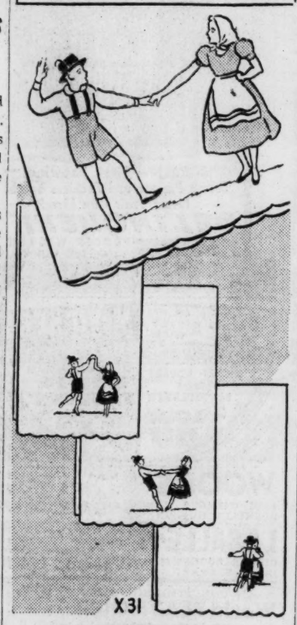
Peasant Dancers Do Their Steps in Transfer Pattern



BY NANCY CABOT.

Here is something new for your bath that guests certainly will admire. One! Two! Three! Four! Peasant dancers doing their steps right on your towel rack. This hot iron transfer pattern shows the simple stitches used to complete the attractive set. The pattern also provides larger figures for pillow tops or picture framing.

For a pattern of the above design No. X31, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Speakers for Three Faiths Attack Nazi Bible as Travesty

As rewritten by German preachers to conform with their new neo-paganism, the Nazi Bible is a travesty on the foundation of religion. This was the consensus last night of three speakers—a Catholic, a Protestant, and a Jew.

The speakers are Dr. James Yard, the Protestant; Rabbi David Weiss of Omaha, Neb., and Dr. John A. Lapp. They spoke at a round table discussion before 200 ministers attending the Pastors' institute of the University of Chicago.

Park Crowded for Symphony by Beethoven

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Grant park was the least steamy spot in the whole steaming city last night. This fact, combined with the lure of the Chicago Symphony orchestra and the promise that the program would include the immoderately loved fifth symphony of Beethoven, drew thousands to the lake front band shell.

Neither lightning nor thunder nor a patter of rain stayed the Bach B minor suite, which opened the program, from the swift completion of its appointed course. A small fraction of the audience was lost when the elements began acting up, but the majority sat tight on the theory—a sound one as things turned out—that the threatened storm would blow over as rapidly as it had come.

The fifth symphony, the principal item of the evening, was part of the Beethoven cycle which Hans Lange and the Chicago Symphony orchestra are contributing to this summer's Grant park series. The work received a performance which was eloquent and expressive, yet which retained the air of restraint which all of Beethoven's works require; that is, the slow movement was tonally rich without ever becoming mellifluous, the finale triumphant without overreaching itself and becoming strident.

After the intermission Mr. Lange devoted himself to the sort of program which Orchestra hall used to hear in the early days of the "pop" concerts. Here were fine fiery excerpts from "Carmen," the prelude to Saint-Saëns' "Le Déluge" and the same composer's "Danse Macabre," and the first "Peer Gynt" suite of Grieg. The evening ended with Tschaikowsky's "Romeo and Juliet." John Weicher was roundly applauded for his violin solos in the two Saint-Saëns pieces.

Tenderfoot's Inheritance

By Marie De Nervaud

SYNOPSIS.

Jobless, Anne Claxton leaves New York to make a living on the ranch she has inherited in Wyoming. She refuses the last minute proposal of her city beau, Gerald. Getting off the train Anne accidentally meets Steve Hayward, a neighbor ranch owner, who invites her to lunch so that he can explain to her the situation at her ranch, which is heavily mortgaged. Jake Collins, who owns the adjoining ranch, expects to buy her out, but her uncle never would sell to him. Anne determines to stay and fight. She insists on going to the ranch that night.

INSTALMENT IV.

JEALOUSY.

Steve voiced his misgivings.

"That's a crazy thing to do. You'll find the ranch house in an ungodly mess, and Tim Salter'll give you a mighty slim welcome."

"Who's Tim Salter?" Anne demanded. "I'm not going to have any more people against me, am I?"

"Tim's the X Bar Nine foreman. He's been with your uncle for the last thirty years or more. I've got a hunch he was kind of expecting to inherit the ranch from him. Figured the Old Man would have no one else to leave it to. When you turned up in the will he was madder than a wounded grizzly."

"Didn't he know anything about me before?" Anne looked more disturbed by this piece of news than she had about the warning against Jake Collins.

"Nobody did; your uncle never let on that he had a relative in the world!"

"I wonder why he remembered after all those years, and left it to me?" Anne speculated, then added with understanding sympathy. "Poor old Tim! I hope I can make it up to him some way."

"You——" Whatever Steve had meant to say, and whether or not it would have matched the expression in his eyes, Anne never knew, for at that moment a girl's voice with a deep husky quality to it that was at once arresting and slightly unpleasant rang out from the door behind her.

"Hello there, Steve! I thought I might find you here. Giving your aunt a good——" the intruding voice broke off abruptly as Anne glanced over her shoulder.

Her eyes met the astonished gaze of the newcomer. She had all the trappings of the traditional cowgirl, high heeled boots, short lether skirt, checked blouse with a scarlet bandana about her neck, and in her hand a broad brimmed hat, with a rattlesnake band around it.

She was lithe and wiry, with a quick grace in her arrested pose. The surprise in her black eyes was already giving way to one of snapping anger. A deep color came into her cheeks.

Steve rose to his feet with a look of embarrassed exasperation. "You known darn well this isn't my aunt, Gwen. It is Anne Claxton. Anne, this is Gwen Collins, your new neighbor.'

At the name of Claxton an interested and calculating gleam lighted up the newcomer's smouldering eyes, but anger was still riding her. She turned once more to Steve.

"You said you were meeting your aunt!"

"So I was," Steve defended, "but she didn't come; Anne Claxton turned up instead."

Gwen Collins came forward. She held out her hand to Anne with a difficult smile of welcome.

"We were all so surprised to hear you were coming out," she said. "Are you planning to make a long visit?"

"I'm not making a visit," Anne tried to keep her instinctive dislike of this new acquaintance out of her voice. "I've come to stay."

Gwen made no comment. She turned instead to Steve with a brooding, possessive look that Anne was quick to note.

"How about riding over for dinner?"

"Sorry," Steve answered shortly. "Can't do it. My aunt may come yet. I've got to hang around."

Gwen's lips tightened. With a slight shrug she turned back to Anne. "I hope we'll meet again soon. I imagine my father will be in to see you in a day or two. You're staying here at the hotel, of course?"

"No, I'm going out to the ranch," Anne answered quietly. "I'll be glad to see him there. I hope you'll come, too."

"Thanks." For a long moment the two girls measured each other with their eyes. Gwen turned sharply away.

Anne looked interrogatingly at Steve.

"That was Jake Collins' daughter, I suppose?"

Steve nodded.

Somehow Anne's pleasure in the intimate little lunch had evaporated. Her one desire now was to be off. "I must get started as soon as possible." It was clear that for Steve, too, the charm had been broken.

"If you're bound to go I suppose the sooner we get started the better," he announced, beckoning to the waitress to bring his bill.

"We?" Anne echoed, with an inner glow of excitement.

"Sure," Steve answered easily. "You didn't suppose I'd let you buck Tim Salter alone, did you?"

"But you said you'd have to stay around to meet your aunt?"

Steve chuckled. He pulled a crumpled telegram out of his pocket. "That's one for Gwen. I got this when I went out to return the car." He spread the yellow paper out for Anne to see. "Delayed by business. Stop. Won't be out for another month. Aunt Sarah." "That's just like the old girl," he remarked cheerily.

Anne laughed. Everything was suddenly all right again.

"You can get a room here to change to your riding things. You can send one of the boys in with the buckboard to get your bags and trunk tomorrow if you decide to stay. I'll pick up a cayuse for you."

Anne stared at him with wide eyed dismay.

"But—but—I don't ride," she managed to bring out, with a sudden horrifying sense of the enormity of the admission.

"Don't ride!" Steve stopped short to gaze at her with an expression that couldn't have been more astonished if Anne had announced "I don't eat," or "I don't breathe." "Don't ride!" he repeated.

"No," Anne admitted miserably. "I've never had any chance to, you see. But I'm going to learn right away," she added eagerly.

To Anne's relief Steve's look of horrified unbelief had given way to an amused twinkle. "I'll have to borrow another car! You wait here!"

Never in her life would Anne forget that ride out to the ranch. The magic of the mesa and the weird fantastic buttes keyed her to a high pitch of admiration.

Anne learned that Steve's father had owned a small cattle ranch about ten miles to the south of the X Bar 9, but through a run of bad luck had lost it ten years ago when Steve was 15.

"He took it pretty hard," Steve said, in answer to Anne's sympathetic exclamation. "We both had to turn to and get punching jobs. When he got thrown and killed the next year in a stampede I always figured he wouldn't have minded so much except for leaving me."

Anne took a quick look at the strong set profile.

"Didn't you—weren't there—didn't you have any other family?"

Steve shook his head. "No. My mother died when I was born. Dad and I always went it alone."

Anne's heart ached so for the lonely, bewildered Steve of 16 her imagination evoked that it was all she could do to bring out her next question.

"What did you do?"

"Drifted around on different punching jobs. I saved every cent I could so's I could have a spread of my own. A thousand acres of our old ranch came into the market at a bargain about two years ago. Luckily I got wind of it before Jake Collins did and picked it up for a small down payment and a whale of a mortgage.

"He's a strange cuss, Collins is. A natural born grabber; hard boiled as they make them. His one good point is the way he's wrapped up in Gwen. She's not a bad kid. We went to the same district school before I had to quit and get a job. She's a spitfire, but, boy, can she ride!"

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

We often think of dried fruits as winter fare, particularly when our markets are so crammed with beautifully ripened fresh fruits. But dried prunes and dried apricots are so rich in those elements which contribute to health, that these two dried fruits, at least, shouldn't be forgotten in the summertime.

Apricots, because of their beautiful color, make many of our most attractive desserts. New methods of drying make long soaking periods before cooking unnecessary.

Apricot Meringue Pie.

FILLING.

½ pound dried apricots, cooked and drained
1-3 cup sugar
1 package orange gelatin
2 cups hot apricot juice and water
¼ teaspoon salt

MERINGUE.

2 unbeaten egg whites
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons water
Few drops vanilla or almond extract
Baked pie shell

Combine apricots and sugar. Dissolve gelatin in hot water and apricot juice. Add salt, and pour over apricots, stirring occasionally as the mixture cools. Chill until slightly thickened, and turn into the cold pie shell. Chill until firm. Cover with the meringue.

To make the meringue, put the egg whites, sugar, salt and water in the upper part of a double boiler. Beat with rotary beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water and beat for 1 minute. Remove from heat and continue beating 2 minutes longer, or until the mixture will stand in peaks. Add flavoring. Beat well and spread over the top of the pie.

Spiced Apricot Whip.

[Serves six.]

1½ cups cooked dried apricots [drained]
6 tablespoons sugar
⅛ teaspoon cloves
⅛ teaspoon ginger
9 marshmallows
¾ cup whipping cream

Mash hot apricots to a pulp, add sugar and spices, and cool. Cut marshmallows into small pieces, add to the cooled apricots and mix. Whip cream until thick and fold the fruit mixture into the cream, a small portion at a time. Chill before serving.

Pinecot Meringues.

[Serves eight.]

MERINGUES.

3 egg whites
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup sugar
4 drops lemon extract

FILLING.

1½ cups uncooked dried apricots
½ cup crushed pineapple
¾ cup water
4 tablespoons honey
2 tablespoons sugar

To make meringue nests, add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff. Add sugar by tablespoons, beating well between additions. Fold in lemon extract. Drop the meringue onto heavy paper which has been placed on a cookie sheet, making eight "nests" to hold the filling. Bake in a slow oven, 275 degrees, for 50 minutes. Remove nests from paper while warm. Cool and fill.

Wash apricots and grind in the food chopper. Combine with other ingredients and cook for 8 to 10 minutes, stirring to prevent scorching. When mixture is thick, remove from heat, cool, and fill nests. Whipped cream may be used to garnish the meringues, if desired.

Smart for Household Wear

WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOME FROCK.

You'll look smart for all your home tasks if you wear this stunning house frock with its square neckline, puffed sleeves cuffed to match, princess lines and two generous sized pockets. This is a delightfully simple frock to sew, and a marvel to fit, for the coatlike styling hugs the figure. Buttons march all the way down the front. The original of this versatile dress, which is plenty smart enough for hostessing, is fashioned of polka dotted cotton of fine quality with a silklike finish. The plaited ruffling at neckline, sleeves and pockets is of organdy to harmonize.

You may want a more utilitarian looking dress. In that case make it as styled in the version at the right. The sleeves are "wings," and the neckline is built up for a shirtwaist collar. Pockets are omitted and a belt is found at the waistline.

Style No. 3385 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 4¼ yards of 39 inch material, with 2¼ yards of plaited edging.

Girls Should Band Together to Win Beaux

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Get together, girls! If a dozen or even half a dozen of you combine in a definite social effort you'll be able to solve this problem of how to meet new men. Your married friends are too absorbed in their own interests to help you. It is up to yourselves to banish the bugaboo of loneliness. Use a little coöperation. Have a little sisterly trust in your girl friends.

Share your boy friends and you'll get more. There is nothing men admire more than generosity in a woman. They are much more likely to stick to a girl who shows no fear that they will leave.

Say each of you in turn gives a party. Suppose each of you fearlessly contributes the nicest man she knows—or even two. If you have no devoted suitor pluck up your courage. "A friend of mine is giving a party. Don't you want to come?" is all it takes. With each of you wholeheartedly doing her share you'll have a lively evening.

If you give the men a swell time it will start your telephones ringing. They will want to keep in with such a delightful set of girls. Your enterprise and fun will inspire them to do their stuff and invite you out in return. Before your series of entertainments is over you'll have a grand crowd.

One girl alone can't do it. If there is a scarcity of men a hostess needs some help.

"I don't know a single man to ask" is likely to be the wail when the party giver asks her guests to bring a man along.

*

The guest can't ask Tom because he hasn't called her recently. She doesn't know George well enough. She is afraid Howard wouldn't mix well. And Norman might turn her down. There are always dozens of excuses—and no men. If she shared her hostess' responsibility and forgot herself she could soon dig up a presentable escort.

It will take unselfishness and courage. Maybe your girl friends will steal your beau if you expose him to their charms. But just because you don't introduce him to your friends doesn't mean he is living a monk's life. If he is going to stray he has plenty of chances. Anyhow, you might as well be getting an evening's fun and other boy friends out of it.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

The number of contracts thrown away on the very first play is simply amazing! And the saddest part of it is that this type of error usually springs from the insistence of the average declarer to "get in and start cashing tricks." In short, many players are cursed with an immediacy complex. I greatly fear that the contract in today's hand would be muffed from Portland, Me., to San Diego, Cal.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 spades	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
4 spades	Pass	5 diamonds	Pass
6 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

The contract certainly was sound, and it was too bad that declarer's play left something to be desired.

West opened the heart king and declarer, without a moment's thought, pounced on it with the spade nine and drew trumps. He then blithely laid down the ace and king of clubs, only to be brutally awakened from his dream by West's failure to follow to the second round. Unfortunately there was nothing declarer could do at this stage to save his skin. For want of anything better, he doggedly cashed the rest of his trumps, but no miraculous squeeze could develop. East, of course, held grimly to his club protection, his hand matching declarer's with three diamonds and two clubs, while West also kept three diamonds and the ace and one heart.

As mentioned earlier, the contract had been lost on the very first play. I grant that it is a "natural" thing for the declarer to ruff the opening lead, but in bridge the natural impulse often must be resisted. There was nothing remote about the break declarer found in the club suit—indeed, mathematically stated, there were 32 chances in 100 that the suit would not break 3-2. The point is, however, that declarer had a losing diamond in both hands which, obviously, he would have to concede at the end. Then, why not concede it immediately? The result of such concession could not be accurately predicted, but it could do no harm and might be extremely valuable. Actually, it would have salvaged the contract. Let us follow this line of play.

Declarer throws a diamond on the heart king. West shifts to a diamond and dummy wins. Declarer draws the outstanding trumps, then starts to cash the clubs. On the second round West shows out. Declarer persists in cashing the club queen and all his trumps but one. This stage is automatically reached: declarer has one trump, one diamond, and one low club. West must keep the heart ace and, therefore, can keep only the Q-10 of diamonds. Dummy has the heart queen and the A-5 of diamonds. East must hold the club jack and his other cards are the J-10 of diamonds. Declarer now cashes the last trump. West cannot let go the heart ace, hence must reduce to one diamond. Dummy thereupon lets go the heart queen. East cannot relinquish the club jack, hence also must reduce to one diamond. Dummy's five of diamonds becomes good.

For informal dining nothing is prettier than place mats. But some provision must be made for hot dishes if they are served at the table rather than in the kitchen. You can't put a covered dish of hot creamed potatoes or a casserole of scalloped vegetables on a mahogany or walnut or maple table without injuring the finish.

To protect the surface of your table use heat resisting mats. They come in sets of four or more and in pastel colors: Green with a little trim of peach; blue and peach ivory, or all silver. And they are not a bit expensive. They are rectangular. They solve the problem of hot dishes versus bare table. EDITH WEIGLE.

Wise Parents Know Gentle Boy's No Sissy

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

I have a great deal of sympathy for the boy who doesn't care for competitive sports, who doesn't want to fight, who isn't aggressive, who isn't rough—and who has a father who is obsessed with the fear that his boy will be a sissy because of it. A boy may be normally masculine, he may grow into a fine and manly man and still not be rough, aggressive or "regular boy" to the nth degree.

Letters come to me that express the misgivings I've just described.

"My boy is the gentle type and I'd like to make him more rough and ready," is a feeling often expressed by mothers, either in these words or in much like them. It's a feeling that often causes parents to have an underlying sense of dissatisfaction with their child. It isn't alone that they think it would be for his good to be rough and ready; it's also that they have a conventional mental image which they call "boy"—and "rough and ready."

Now, I will admit I think every boy should have the opportunity for lots of vigorous outdoor play, for fun and friends and athletics. He needs them, and if he is going to be rough and ready it gives him his chance, either when he's quite a small boy or later when he gets into his teens, for this quality doesn't always develop early.

But it may be he's never going to be one of the rough and ready kind. Maybe he's the gentle type. Maybe he's never going to be aggressive, or a fighter, or an athlete. If he's not, then accept him as he is.

I think the life stories of well known men either of today or of the past are among the greatest aids parents can have to help them to accept the temperament they see showing itself in their own children. For instance, this man as a child, his biography reveals, was physically timid; another disliked school work; another one was always drawing when he should have been studying or doing chores; another spent his spare time bringing home injured animals.

The gentle type of boy may be the exception while he's a boy, but when he reaches manhood his gentleness has its place. He may prove to be the thinker, the musician, the inventor, the poet, the devoted husband and father—or he may be just the understanding soul.

And whether they make their mark or not, the world is always the richer for these last. We can't have too many understanding hearts. If your boy is the gentle type that doesn't mean he will be any the less a man for it.

"Understanding the Adolescent" is a booklet sent on request on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed, large envelope. Address Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

SUBURBAN WATER OFFICIAL JAILED; SHORTAGE FOUND

Arrested in Missouri by Elmwood Park Police.

Thomas E. Butler, superintendent of the Elmwood Park water works, was in jail in the suburb last night on a charge of embezzling $1,761 from water receipts. Butler is 43 years old and lives at 2123 72d court.

He was arrested at home yesterday on a warant issued by Justice of the Peace Alvin J. Kvistad at the request of Harold E. Hommersand, village clerk. His bail was fixed at $5,000.

According to Hommersand, Butler's alleged embezzlement was discovered through the annual audit of the water department for the year ending last April 30. He had been in the village service for three years and was made superintendent of the department about a year ago.

Butler was arrested a week ago in St. Joseph, Mo., on complaint of his wife. She said he had abandoned her. Elmwood Park police took the warant to St. Joseph and served it personally. Butler waived extradition. No disposition has been made of the wife's charge.

With Butler when he was arrested in St. Joseph was Miss Millie Siewert, 22 years old, who worked as a biller in his department. She was returned with him, but has not been implicated in the alleged shortage.

KILLER IS SAVED FROM CHAIR ON A TECHNICALITY

Michigan City, Ind., Aug. 11 [Thursday].—[Special.]—James Swain, 18 years old, colored, a condemned killer, was saved from the electric chair in the Indiana state prison here early today on a technicality forty minutes before his scheduled electrocution.

Last November Swain was sentenced to death for slaying Christ Bredenkamp, 70, an Evansville grocer, during a robbery. An accomplice drew a life sentence.

At 11:30 o'clock last night his attorney obtained a writ of habeas corpus from Judge Russell W. Smith which was served on Warden Alfred Dowd at 12:20 a. m. The writ was based on an error in the commitment papers which ordered Warden Lewis E. Kunkel to execute Swain. Dowd replaced Kunkel three months ago.

ARRAIGN FIRST ERRATIC CYCLIST UNDER NEW LAW

Joseph Justick, 19 years old, yesterday became the first person to be arraigned on the new ordinance which prohibits reckless driving by bicyclists. Judge Lambert K. Hayes of the Boys' court set Sept. 7 for a hearing. Justick, who lives at 2855 Keeley street, was arrested Tuesday night at Cermak road and Indiana avenue. Riding on the sidewalk with a friend on the handlebars, Justick's bicycle struck Miss Margaret Bendick, 30, of 6622 South Sangamon street. The bicycle knocked her down and broke her right ankle.

CITY'S FLUSHER TRUCKS IDLE FOR WANT OF FUNDS

The city street department has twenty-seven flusher trucks for use in warm weather to clean the streets and lay the dust. But they're not being used. This summer, for the first time in recent years, they're standing idle in city garages. There is no money to pay drivers and helpers to operate them, Commissioner of Public Works Oscar E. Hewitt said yesterday.

Drivers are paid $190 a month, Hewitt said, and the scale for helpers is $6 a day. This woud mean an expenditure of more than $20,000 for the two hottest months, July and August.

HE'D RATHER QUIT JOB THAN PAY WIFE; SO HE DOES--TO GO TO JAIL

Oliver Susemiehl, a telephone company employé, told Judge Philip Finnegan yesterday that he'd rather quit work than pay separate maintenance to his wife, Ann. So he is quitting work for six months. During that time he'll be in the county jail.

Oliver Susemiehl.

Mrs. Susemiehl, who lives at 6530 Kimbark avenue, was awarded $20 a week as maintenance for herself and her daughter, Betty, 10 years old, at a hearing on July 8. Yesterday her attorney, Norman Becker, had Susemiehl brought to court for being $30 in arrears on the payments.

"I'll give her a divorce and alimony," Susemiehl told Judge Finnegan. "Or I'll take her and the child back and support them. But I won't pay separate maintenance."

"You're asking for a jail sentence," the judge warned him.

"Whatever you say, judge," Susemiehl replied, and the judge obliged.

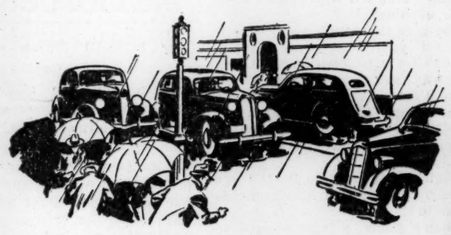
Take a look at the tire that SCOOPS them all!

YOU bet it's a thrill to have this stalwart handsome new 1938 edition of the famous Goodyear "G-3" All-Weather on your wheels.

Think of the "lift" in having all that thick, tough, springy rubber under you . . . smoothing out the miles . . . soaking up the bumps . . . banishing tire worries.



But the biggest kick of all is the feeling of priceless security you get from the matchless nonskid safety of its All-Weather CENTER-TRACTION tread!

For over a quarter of a century tire makers have been trying to duplicate the All-Weather's positive safety—its road-holding, sure-braking, quick-stopping traction on any road surface.

HERE'S THE GREAT 1938 EDITION "G3" ALL-WEATHER BUILT FOR 1938 DRIVING NEEDS WITH

stepped up in a new 1938 edition that gives you more of everything.

Now—the tread is wider and flatter—to give more road contact, greater gripping area.

Now—there are more of those sturdy diamonds, nested closer together. That means more "bite," more "hold" when you step on the brakes—more "get up and go" when you step on the gas!

Now—even the rubber itself is tougher—an exclusive new Goodyear compound that wears like iron under the grindstone action of high speeds on modern roads.

THIS INFALLIBLE SAFETY MEMBER COMPLETES THE MODERN TIRE

The only sure protection against dangerous accidents caused by blowouts is the GOODYEAR LIFEGUARD—an invulnerable reserve tire that replaces the conventional inner tube inside your casing. When a blowout occurs the LifeGuard keeps enough air under you to carry the car to a safe normal stop without the slightest lurch or swerve.

But the All-Weather is still boss of 'em all as evidenced by the fact that it outsells any other tire in the world—and has for 23 consecutive years!

Now—to meet 1938 motoring needs—this basically correct design has been

More people ride on Goodyear tires than on any other kind

Last, but not least, this great tire costs no more than others—so why not give yourself the treat of riding on the finest tire money can buy!

Well Done, Bo

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—President Herman B. Wells of Indiana university today sent the following telegram to Bo McMillin, Indiana football coach, congratulating him on his election as head coach of the college All-Star football team.

"Indiana university and Indiana men and women everywhere rejoice in the honor that has come to you. We who know you best are confident you and your associates will produce an All-Star team that will play hard football and a team that will expect to win, but if defeated will offer no alibis. We also know that your selection assures for the fans a great football game on the night of Aug. 31. Best of luck."

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The vanguard of the All-American football squad, which will start training tomorrow in Dyche stadium for the fifth annual charity game with the champions of the professional league, Washington's Redskins, in Soldiers' field Aug. 31, has arrived. Bunny McCormick, Notre Dame half back, who arrived from Livermore, Cal., was the first of the sixty-six players to report.

Joe Kilgrow, half back, and Jim Ryba, tackle, both of whom were members of Alabama's southeastern championship team that played in the Rose bowl against California last New Year's day, arrived from their homes in Montgomery, Ala., yesterday. They checked in at Northwestern university, where all the boys will be quartered in the Hinman house and the Goodrich house during the training period.

More Are Due Today.

Others are scheduled to arrive today, including Clay Calhoun of New Orleans, full back on the 1937 Loyola university eleven, and Bob Swisher, Northwestern half back, whose home is in Farmer City, Ill.

Jim Benton, great pass catching end from Arkansas, also will report today. He is coming from his home in Fordyce, Ark.

Several members of the squad are motoring to Chicago and the exact time of their arrival is not known. Quite a number of the boys also live in Chicago. All must report tomorrow, however, and the entire squad is expected to be ready to receive equipment and start work for the annual gridiron battle, which this year promises to exceed all previous games in interest.

Washington is the first eastern eleven to win the professional championship since the series was inaugurated, and more important, since Washington has Sammy Baugh, star of last year's collegiate victory over the Green Bay Packers, 6 to 0, and since this group of all-stars is rated higher than any previous squad, the game has increased in stature in the minds of the fans.

Coaches Take the Air.

The coaching staf of the All-American football squad was heard by the fans of the nation last night over the Mutual Broadcasting system. In a program broadcast from Chicago, Detroit, and New York, the five members of the staf, elected in the greatest sports poll ever held in the United States, thanked their constituents for the honors accorded them and assured the fans that they were ready and eager to lead the all-star players to another victory over the professional champions.

Last night's program, which was aired from 8:15 to 8:30, Chicago daylight time, started in the studios of

Make Yourselves at Home, Boys

BY ARCH WARD.

THE congratulations of football followers everywhere are due Bo McMillin, Harry Kipke, Ducky Pond, Elmer Layden, and A. J. Robertson, who were elected to the All-Star coaching staf in a record breaking poll that attracted 16,451,409 votes. . . . The two leaders, McMillin and Kipke, received more than 9,000,000 between them. . . . McMillin's workers are holding the votes cast for him at the campaign headquarters in Bloomington. . . . The ballots marked for Kipke are available for public inspection in Detroit. . . . Unsuccessful candidates or others who question the accuracy of the count are welcome to investigate for themselves. . . . Tomorrow morning the five coaches will be presented with the finest football player talent college gridirons can provide. . . . They have nearly three weeks to develop a winning combination. . . . That isn't as difficult as it seems, because the fans have been kind enough to name the starting lineup for them. . . . All the coaches have to do is devise a defense for Sammy Baugh's forward pass and the Redskins' running game and build an offense strong enough to score a couple touchdowns. . . . They won't have alumni coaches to worry about, but they hadn't better throw down those 16,451,409 grandstand managers, each of whom probably feels he could turn in victory with sixty-seven of the finest players in the land at his disposal. . . .

This department conducted the poll out of which came the sixty-seven All-Stars. . . . It also directed the voting for coaches. . . . We are now turning over the enterprise to McMillin and his assistants. . . . They are strictly on their own. . . . In case the going gets too tough, however, we are holding back a couple of sure fire scoring plays which they can use when and if occasion demands. . . . We want to be on record in case the All-Stars run up and down the field with the Redskins. . . . Keep in mind the boys are using our plays. . . . If the collegians make no headway on offense you can rest assured they are monkeying around with plays devised by McMillin, Layden, Kipke, Pond, and Robertson. . . . Every once in a while you will find a coach or group of coaches who think they know more about technical football than the sports writers who expert for the Monday morning papers. . . . Okay, Bo, let's see what you can do!

Anything for a Friend.

This is just to let you know that the Wake is breaking up our home. The missus wants to know what I am doing with my money. When I tell her I am sending contribs to you she doesn't believe me because, she says, she never sees anything of mine in the Wake.

Good Night.

Good night, my sweet! May angels watch above you
Through silent stretches of the starlit night,
And may your white dreams whisper that I love you
Who turned my life's deep darkness into light;
Good night! And if we meet again tomorrow
The rapture of our hearts will be complete;
Not all the shadows of impending sorrow
Will cloud our sunny path—good night, my sweet!
Good night! But if this parting be forever
I shall not soon forget our long farewell,
What though the years our lips and hands may sever,
Your spirit like a far off sounding bell
Will call across the waning world to me

M'LIN CAPTURES HAMBLETONIAN BEFORE 40,000

Earle's Princess Martha Runs Second.

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Lawrence B. Sheppard proved the wisdom of his $20,000 investment today when McLin trotted to a straight heat victory in the Hambletonian, leading event of light harness racing.

At home on Good Time park's triangular track, where he received his preparation for the race, the bay son of Mr. McElwyn-Ethelinda turned back the bid of nine other high ranking 3 year olds, including Long Key, the heavily played favorite owned by E. J. Merkle of Columbus, O.

It Was a Bargain.

Just ten days ago McLin was quartered in W. H. Cane's nearby Good Time stable. He had finished last in five starts as a 2 year old, but jumped into prominence by whipping Long Key in one heat of the American Stakes at Agawam. Sheppard offered Cane $20,000 for the horse. The offer was accepted. Today McLin earned nearly all that back for the winner's share of the $38,692 purse, amounting to $19,944.30.

The crowd of more than 40,000 made Long Key the even money favorite and McLin the second choice at 3 to 1. The favorite faded badly, while Henry Thomas drove McLin home in 2:02¼ in the first heat and 2:02¾ in the second. Long Key, with Trainer-Driver Ben White seeking his third victory, received fifth money because of his fourth in the final mile after finishing eighth in the first.

Earl's Princess Martha Second.

Second money went to Earl F. Shropshire's Earl's Princess Martha of St. Petersburg, Fla., a filly so lightly regarded that she was included in the unique system of auction betting. She finished second in the first mile and seventh in the second. Champlain, owned by William Hughes of Cleveland, was third in the final reckoning; fourth went to Royal Spencer, flying the silks of Homer Biery of Butler, Pa., and sixth and last to The Duchess, representing Count Mangelli of Milan, Italy.

McLin, showing no tendency to break under Thomas' steady hand, did not leave the issue long in doubt in either heat. Royal Spencer showed the way around the first turn in the first heat, then Thomas gave McLin his head for a few strides and the blue and orange silks of Hanover were out in front, never to be headed.

PAYS $22,000 FOR YEARLING AT SARATOGA

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 10.—(AP)—With the largest crowd of the Saratoga yearling sales on hand, Mrs. Dodge Sloane paid the record individual price of the season tonight when she went to $22,000 to take a bay colt by the French stallion Ksar out of Duration. Mrs. Ethel V. Mars was a competitor in the bidding for the W. H. Lipscomb offering.

Brisk trading for the two Ksar colts enlivened the sales, which saw forty-eight head sold for $172,150, an average of $3,586, the second highest average of the season. The A. B. Hancock consignment averaged $3,943.

Mrs. Mars got a dark bay colt by Bull Dog-Wild Waters for $21,500, the second highest price of the night, while the other Ksar colt, a chestnut out of Cinema, appropriately enough went to the W. L. ranch owned by the movie executive, Harry Warner.

Warner also was in the bidding for the $22,000 colt. This is the first year that colts sired by the French stallion have been offered for sale in this country. The opening bid on the top priced colt was $5,000. C. B. Shaffer's Coldstream stud sold ten head featured by nine of the imported Bulldog's get. The lot brought $63,000, with the Bulldog's get accounting for $58,600.

Kenosha Woman Picks Seven Winners and Collects $3,000

BY FRENCH LANE.

The champion amateur handicapper of the Washington Park season came to the front yesterday afternoon. She is Miss June Marks, 6022 Sheridan road, Kenosha, Wis. She turned her handicapping wizardry loose and picked the winners of the first seven races.

June Marks.

The first winner to deliver for the Kenosha girl was Dark Beauty, which was at 3½ to 1 in the betting. Agotaras won the second at 6 to 1, getting the decision in a camera finish. Mayjo was an easy winner in the third, and so was Gay May in the fourth. Sir Jim James was pulling away from his field when he won the mile and seventy yard fifth race; so was Birdlea in the sixth.

Wilda, Miss Marks' pick in the seventh, came from behind and got up in the last strides to beat Barbara A. by a length and a half. Achieve was third.

There was a total of 8,896 sets of selections made at the track yesterday. The failure of all to pick seven winners on Monday and Tuesday had thrown $3,000 into the pool.

Still alive after the first race were 1,810, after the second race 207, and after the third 36. Thirty of these were eliminated in the fourth race, leaving but six eligible to the prize. Three of these fell by the wayside in the fifth. All three survivors had picked Birdlea in the sixth.

Two Pick Spanish Babe.

Going into the seventh two of the amateur selectors had picked Spanish Babe. Miss Marks placed her hopes on Wilda. Spanish Babe, appearing sore going to the post, finished out of the money.

The two that dropped out when Spanish Babe was beaten were Beatrice Kuchner, 3738 Irving Park road, Chicago, and Mrs. Helen Costello, 2404 Green street, Racine, Wis.

The winner of the $3,000 is a daughter of Fred A. Marks, one time major league pitcher and outfielder. She manages a knit goods store in Kenosha. She not only picked the seven winners, but made small bets on all seven of them and won the daily double, which paid $68.80.

Washington Park racegoers have elected Jocky Kenneth McCombs their hero. It may spoil the price on some horses that should be longshots, but the McCombs backers say "what difference does it make as long as he wins."

To capture the fancy of the Chicago racegoers McCombs has ridden at least one winner every afternoon at Washington Park. For the last six days he has been on a two a day average. His backers are increasing. They are beginning to believe that

Armstrong, Ambers Bout Is Postponed

Advance Sale $25,000.

Jacobs at first considered putting on the title match in the rain, dispensing with the preliminaries to do so, but he was overruled by his associates as well as by the gathering intensity of the downpour. It had been raining hard for nearly a half hour when the promoter at 7:30 p. m. [eastern standard time] announced the postponement to a crowd of approximately 8,000, including about 1,500 ringside ticket holders who had taken shelter in the lower sections of the grand stand.

Already a big financial disappointment, the bout had drawn in advance sale estimated at $25,000, notwithstanding the attraction of seeing Armstrong seek his third world championship within less than ten months. The sensational colored boxer already holds the world featherweight and welterweight crowns.

Promoter Jacobs announced the cash customers, paying as high as $16.50 for ringside chairs, could get their money back or exchange their rain checks for tickets to the match under the Garden roof one week from tonight.

Back to Camp.

Both principals will return to their New Jersey training camps tomorrow, Ambers to Summit and Armstrong to Pompton Lakes. They will weigh in again next Wednesday. Ambers just made the class limit, 135 pounds, on the official scales today. Armstrong weighed 133¼.

DUROCHER FINED $50 FOR ROW WITH UMPIRE PARKER

New York, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Shortstop Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers was fined $50 today by National League President Ford Frick for a run-in with Umpire Tiny Parker in yesterday's Dodgers-Phillies game.

Durocher explained that he was "needling" Catcher Spud Davis of the Phils from the bench during the game, and that Parker must have thought the remarks Durocher was passing were addressed to him, instead. The umpire banished Durocher, and, in appealing the ejection, the Brooklyn shortstop said several things Parker didn't like.

Garcia Posts $2,000 for Title Bout with Armstrong

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—George Parnassus, manager of Cafetino Garcia, today appeared before the New York State Athletic commission to challenge Champion Henry Armstrong for a welterweight title match. Parnassus posted $2,000 with the commission. The check was accepted, but the commission pointed out that Armstrong won the title from Barney Ross on May 31 and has six months to defend it under the commission's ruling.

SURPRISE! SOX GET 15 HITS AND BEAT TIGERS, 8-7

More News: Gee Walker Smashes a Homer.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox dug deep into their skimpy bag of tricks yesterday and came up with fifteen assorted hits, a great total in itself but none too many for the occasion. Their fifteen wallops, ranging from singles up to a homer by Jerry Walker, and few of which were wasted, proved just enough to inflict an 8 to 7 beating on the Detroit Tigers.

The Sox started their bombarding early and kept it up so steadily that they precipitated a regular review of Tiger pitchers. Elden Auker, George Coffman, Harry Eisenstat, and Vern Kennedy all took a hand.

Lee Works Too Hard.

Although Thornton [Lefty] Lee was given a three run lead in the first inning and saw this edge swell to 6 to 2 in four innings, he wasn't present for the final ceremonies. As a result of the heat the energy he expended in making a triple in the seventh and the consternation caused by Rudy York's twenty-fourth homer with a Tiger on base in the eighth, Lee had to give up before finishing the inning. Rookie Harry Boyles relieved him.

The Sox got a lot of value out of their hits in the first four innings because of the consistency of Luke Appling and Mike Kreevich. They assisted with singles in the first inning when three scored. They supplied another pair of one basers in the third, one run getting home. They did the same in the fourth when two more registered. They also figured in the two run seventh.

Sox Delay Attack.

The Sox didn't start their three run operation in the first inning until after two men had been retired. Walker launched the affair with his season's tenth homer, which dropped into the upper deck in left. Radcliff scratched a single past Gehringer and Appling singled to left. Kreevich also beat out a hit past Gehringer to score Radcliff. Kuhel beat out an infield hit to score Appling, who had gone to third on Kreevich's single. Rensa fouled to Christman for the third out.

York set the Tigers' two run sec-

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 10.—The Cubs, advised that the Pirates and the Giants had lost, broke loose against Johnny Vander Meer in the eighth inning for four runs and an eventual 6 to 3 victory over the Reds today. The rally, staged after Vander Meer had held them to three hits in the first seven innings, enabled the Chicagoans to advance to within half a game of the second place Giants and narrow the Pirate lead to seven games.

Vance Page made his second start for the Cubs and though the Reds made a dozen hits off him, including a pair of doubles which knocked him out in the ninth, his skill was adequate in the earlier jams, of which there were several. Charley Root got the side out in the ninth after those two doubles had scored a run.

Hartnett Adds Punch.

The Cubs had two scoring innings, the first and the aforesaid eighth. Manager Gabby Hartnett contributed a double to each foray and scored what proved to be the winning run after his eighth inning swat.

The victory eighth included, prior to Gabby's double, a single by Stan Hack, a sacrifice by Bill Herman, and a single by Rip Collins that broke a 2 all tie which had been effected when Dusty Cooke led off the fifth with a homer. Collins was out trying to reach second on his single, then the Hartnett double, a single by Carl Reynolds, which scored the skipper, and a homer by Frank Demaree, which was good for two runs.

The outcome today, the second victory over the Reds, who were tied with the Cubs when the lads came here from the east, lifted the Cubs to a .500 mark on their trip and made Gabby Hartnett a bit better than a .500 manager. The team has won eleven and lost eight under his direction. The Cubs' season record against the Reds shows nine victories for the Cubs and five for the Reds.

Cubs Score in First.

The Cubs grabbed two runs in the first inning before Vander Meer settled down. He walked Hack after a three and two count, then Herman followed up with a single to right which put Stan on third. Collins flied to Craft, Hack scoring. Hartnett doubled to right, scoring Herman. Hartnett took third while Vander Meer was tossing out Reynolds and died there on Demaree's foul to McCormick.

The Reds made a run in their half of the first. Berger walked with one down. Cooke rolled a double play ball to Collins but Rip sparred with it until it was too late to get Berger at second. He did, however, pick up the ball in time to retire Cooke. McCormick singled to left, scoring Berger and took third on Lombardi's single to right. The inning ended with Craft's fly to Marty.

Reds Tie Score.

Cooke led off the Cincinnati fifth with a score tying homer into the right field stands. McCormick followed up with a Texas leaguer to right, his third straight hit. Lombardi hit into a double play launched by Hack and Jurges threw out Craft.

Hack opened the eighth with the fourth Chicago hit, a single to center, and advanced on Herman's sacri-

MISS BERG RACES AWAY TO 13 SHOT MARGIN IN DERBY

Scores Third Round 75; May Set Record.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The annual Derby tournament of the Women's Western Golf association is a seventy-two hole event, the longest medal play show in the world for women players. Yet last night, at the conclusion of fifty-four holes, it was practically over, due to the running of Patty Berg, the red-haired Minneapolis miss of the multitudinous freckles.

Shooting her third consecutive round under par for the first two nines of the Butterfield Country club course, Miss Berg reached the three-quarters mark with a total of 226 and a thirteen stroke lead on the field. The sturdy Minnesotan appeared to be on the way, not only to the championship, but also to a new tournament record. If she shoots below 83 in today's final round, she will better the Derby mark of 309 established by Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., at Onwentsia last year.

Starts Fast, Keeps It Up.

Patty started the Derby with the fastest round it ever had seen—a 73, seven under women's par and only three above men's figures—in Monday's first eighteen. She was still under par with a 78 on Tuesday. Yesterday she put together nines of 38 and 37 for a 75. Her first round 73 left her five shots ahead of the field and Tuesday night found her seven strokes up. Going into today's final eighteen, she holds one of the most commanding advantages in Derby history. At fifty-four holes last year, Miss Miley, the leader, was five shots in front of Miss Berg.

Only four in the field were able to break par of 80 yesterday. One of these was Beatrice Barrett, western open champion from Minneapolis, who fired a 78 to give her a total of 239 and second place at fifty-four holes. Miss Miley was even par for the fifty-four holes, shooting a 79 yesterday for 240 and third position. She was followed by Ellamae Williams of Medinah, with an 84 for 242, and Edith Estabrooks of Dubuque, Ia., who turned in an 82 for 242. The only other in the field to break 80 yesterday was Eleanor Dudley of Ridge, who submitted a 79 or 246.

Falters on First Hole.

Miss Berg's third round card:

Par—Out	555	535	463—41
Miss Berg—Out	654	533	462—38
Par—In	535	453	545—39—80
Miss Berg—In	445	453	444—37—75

Patty faltered at the first hole, where she missed her second shot. Twenty-five foot putts fell at the third and sixth, and a 12 foot try fell at the ninth, enabling her to make the turn in 38, three under par. She failed to connect with the green at the short eleventh, the wind catching her tee shot. A chip shot of about 40 yards rolled into the hole for a birdie at the sixteenth, and she approached within a foot of the eighteenth flag for another thrust at par. Scores for 54 holes:

Halas Wants to Be Fair— but He Still Picks Pros

BY GEORGE HALAS.

[Head Coach, Chicago Bears.]

People who can read tell me that a certain Wilfrid Smith, a man of letters, challenged recent statements of mine in THE TRIBUNE about the coming game between the All-Stars and the Washington Redskins. This pained me no end, for he is one of my favorite authors and it has always been, "Hiyah, Will," and "Howya doing, George," between us.

After I had gone into a corner and had a good cry over "man's inhumanity to man," the Halas blood began to run red hot. I took my pen in hand and have gripped it until the knuckles now show white under my tan. By heaven, I'll see justice done, even if I have to wrestle Smith on the 50 yard line between halves of the All-Star game.

They're Both Too Fair.

I was doubly shocked because Wilfrid's attitude has been precisely that of his boss, the collegians' athletic director, one Arch Ward. Their attitude has been one of absolute, dispassionate fairness. Neither Arch or Will cares who wins the game, just so it is the All-Stars. I am equally unprejudiced, merely hoping that the Redskins chase the college boys clear out of Soldiers' field.

The spirit of fairness has been evident since the start of the series of games. For instance, Arch Ward has had no preference as to whether the game shall be played under collegiate or National league rules, merely insisting that the collegiate code shall be in effect.

O, Come Now, Wilfrid.

The same sense of fairness led Wilfrid Smith to write that I predicted that the Bears would win by five touchdowns in the first game of the All-Star series way back in 1934. If Will cares to check the files of THE TRIBUNE, he will find that I hesitantly stated that the Bears might win. Only three of us in the entire Bear squad took the collegians seriously. Red Grange, Link Lyman, and I expected the worst and warned the squad again and again, but we were merely voices crying in the wilderness.

When this former friend of mine, Wilfrid Smith, intimated that I was constructing a pre-game alibi when I commented that the Redskins lacked the defensive strength of at least four other clubs in the National Football league, I am sure his motive was pure, but I am afraid he missed my point. I was merely hinting that even though the Redskin line is far from being the strongest in the circuit, it will not be pushed around by the brawniest front wall the collegiate brain trust can erect.

Herber Was Unlucky.

Similar purity of purpose was reflected in the account of last year's game between Green Bay and the All-Stars. The reader gathered that Arnold Herber of the Packers was bested in a forward passing duel with Sammy Baugh but one simple little fact was lost in the shuffle, namely, that the duel endured for slightly more than one quarter. At that point Herber was forced out of the game, and incapacitated for weeks with a dislocated shoulder.

In his savage attack upon me, my ex-companion, Smith, intimates that my loyalty to the National league entry is grossly commercial. Halas commercial! My, my, my.

George Says Bo Will Do.

Seriously, however, it seems to me that the All-Star squad got a great break in the election of Bo McMillin as head coach. Bo is one of the ablest, smartest, and finest coaches in the country. He will not underestimate the Redskins and the Redskins, in turn, will not underestimate the brilliant attack Bo will whip up with the All-Stars. He is inventive, daring, and resourceful and there won't be a dull minute in this game. Look at the assistants he'll have: Kipke, Pond, Layden, and Robertson, a big section of Who's Who in football.

It's Ray Flaherty of the Redskins against the pack.

All-Americans Mobilize to Battle Pros

W-G-N, where Bob Elson introduced first of all, Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, originator of the game. A. J. Robertson of Bradley Tech, Peoria, Ill., the first coach from a so-called small school to be elected to the squad, was the next speaker. He was followed by Elmer Layden of Notre Dame, who finished fourth in the national poll conducted by THE TRIBUNE and 150 associated newspapers and radio stations. More than sixteen million votes, an astounding record, were cast.

Pond Speaks from East.

The program then was heard from New York, where Raymond W. Pond of Yale, first coach of the eastern Big Three universities to be chosen in the national election, spoke from the Broadway studios of station WOR. Harry Kipke, former coach at the University of Michigan, who polled more than four million votes and was only beaten for first place in the final day's tabulations, speaking from station WJR, Detroit, then was heard over the Mutual network.

Kipke was introduced by Harry Wismer, who had served as chairman of the Kipke campaign committee. Kipke thanked the voters for their support and assured them that he considered his election to the staf a high honor and that he will leave Detroit tonight for Chicago to help direct the All-Americans. Pond will arrive tomorrow.

Bo Expresses Gratitude.

The last speaker on the national hookup was A. N. [Bo] McMillin of Indiana university, head coach of the All-Americans. After thanking his friends and the students and alumni of Indiana university who had campaigned for his election as head of the staf, McMillin said that he considered this annual game "the greatest sports event in the nation."

He continued, "I believe this because it arouses sectional interests and enthusiasms which are climaxed in the game between the greatest collegiate players and the championship professional team. The fans in Texas will be watching their boys, whom they helped elect. The easterners will be particularly interested in the boys from that territory. This is true of all parts of the country.

Promises to Give All.

"I want to pledge now that I will give everything I have to develop these All-Americans into a winning team. I am gratified at the selection of the assistants, all of whom I know personally and who have just assured you of their coöperation in this great promotional event. The material at our disposal is splendid. It is a splendid squad and I am highly optimistic that the college boys will carry on to a successful climax."

Today McMillin will complete his study of the personnel of the All-Star squad. The fundamental plays with which he will start his instructions will be mimeographed and ready for distribution immediately, although for the first few days the physicial activities of the squad will be curtailed until the boys are ready for hard work. McMillin was an assistant on the 1936 All-American coaching staf directed by Bernie Bierman of Minnesota.

FORECASTS 1938 PHEASANT LAWS IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Becker Lists Dates and Bag Limit.

BY BOB BECKER.

If the inquiries about the South Dakota pheasant season that already have come to our desk are an indication of the interest in upland game shooting in the northwest, there are going to be a lot of Illinois shooters heading for the prairies this fall. Although August is a month in which outdoor fans are primarily interested in fishing, sportsmen apparently can't keep hunting out of their minds even though the seasons for shooting still are weeks ahead.

Here is the first flash on what you may expect South Dakota to do about the 1938 pheasant season. No official announcement about the season will be made by the state for several days, but the dates which we are listing below and the bag limits specified may be relied upon. We expect the official regulations next week to confirm our forecast of the season.

This Schedule Should Help.

Therefore, Mr. Sportsman, if you are figuring on taking time off for a South Dakota pheasant and duck hunting trip, you can just about bank on this schedule:

SEASONS—It looks like two seasons of not less than six days each and not longer than twelve days each.

TIME—Our dope sheet says that the first season will start on Oct. 1, also the opening of the South Dakota duck season, and the second season [the usual procedure out there] doubtless will start on Oct. 25.

LIMIT—The daily limit very likely will be four birds with a possession limit of eight. [Note that we say "very likely." But we doubt that we'll have to back down on these figures when the official regulations are issued.]

Waterfowl Crop Good.

We have just looked over the warden reports on the hatch of birds in South Dakota. Nearly all of the wardens report a fine hatch of ducks and bigger crop of pheasants. The duck hatch is up at least 35 per cent. Ample rains filled up the lakes and pot holes and gave the ducks a dandy chance to nest and raise their young.

PIRATES MEET WARNEKE AND THEY LOSE, 5-0

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Lon Warneke held the Pirates to four hits for seven innings today to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 5 to 0 triumph. Rain cut the first game of the scheduled double-header and forced cancelation of the second.

Aided by Enos Slaughter's triple, the Cards scored three times in the first inning and they continued to turn their hits into runs—one in the fifth and another in the sixth—until Bob Klinger finally gave way to Mace Brown in the seventh.

Golfers' Slices Drive These Property Owners to Court

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Golf as played by some members of the Audubon Country club, near Louisville, brought court action today. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Gering asked an injunction to prevent players from driving golf balls onto their property adjoining the course. Bob Craigs, club pro, commented he's been trying for years to cure members' slicing and he'll consider taking a law course, if that'll help.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL ELECTRIC

Sox Pound 15 Hits to Beat Tigers, 8 to 7

ond inning splurge in motion by doubling to the left field scoreboard with one out. Morgan dumped a single in center and when Kreevich fumbled on his recovery of the ball, York went to third and Morgan to second. The remainder of the damage was represented by Lee's wild pitch. It let York score and put Morgan on third, whence he scored on Rogell's infield out to Appling.

A Threat Misses Fire.

The Sox had Auker staggering again in the second, but the attack wasn't quite severe enough to shake him loose from a run. Owen singled and went to third on Walker's single. The hits came after two were out and Radcliff followed with a fly to Morgan. There was another jolt for Auker in the third, one run scoring. Appling led off with a single to center and limped to third on Kreevich's single to right. On Kuhel's fly to White, Appling hiked to the plate.

Berger, tired of being embarrassed by strikeouts in two previous efforts against Auker, decided to be a little tricky when he opened the fourth. He beat out a bunt and two runs followed. Owen flied to right, Walker walked, and Radcliff lofted to center. Appling slapped a single through short to count Berger and put Walker on third. Auker was removed from action and his successor, Coffman, was rapped for a single by Kreevich, Walker crossing the plate.

Kreevich Gets a Workout.

The run off Lee in the sixth wasn't exactly the result of a violent attack. With one out, Gehringer walked and Greenberg singled. York dispatched a long fly, which, with a tail wind, went almost to the center field wall, where Kreevich pulled it in. Morgan also flied to center but it was a short tap which Kreevich couldn't reach so it fell for a double, Gehringer scoring. Rogell lined to Radcliff for the third out. The Tigers added two more in the seventh on Christman's single, a double by Pinch Batter Tony Piet and a couple of outs.

Despite a display of dumbness on the base lines the Sox improved their lead by two runs in the seventh against Eisenstat. Appling walked and scored on singles by Kreevich and Kuhel. Rensa tapped to the pitcher and this was where the dumbness occurred. Kreevich was out at the plate and Kuhel was doubled off second. Lee then tripled to right center, Rensa scoring. The Tigers climbed to within one run of a tie in the eighth when York hit his twenty-fourth homer after Greenberg had singled.

PLAY FOR LEAGUE LEAD.

The lead in the Tri-State Semi-pro league will be at stake Sunday when the Chicago Mills play a double-header in the Mills stadium with the league-leading Madison [Wis.] Blues.

Stratton Faces Tigers Today; Bids for No. 12

Monty Stratton will shoot for his season's twelfth victory today in the final with the Tigers in Comiskey park. Roxy Lawson will oppose the Sox.

One third of the Sox crippled squad gradually is arriving at the one hundred per cent recovered mark. Henry Steinbacher is almost ready to play after being out for a week with a twisted wrist. Jack Hayes still is complaining that the knee, injured a month ago, is giving him trouble. And Luke Sewell, victim of a split finger, may need another ten days.

Boze Berger has collected quite an assortment of strikes in his last two days of work. He fanned in his first two appearances yesterday. He did the same in two of his last three attempts in Tuesday's game.

fice. Collins singled to center, scoring Hack but was out trying to take second, Craft to Lombardi to Frey. Hartnett banged his second double, a terrific shot off the center field fence and scored on Reynolds' single to center. Demaree knocked a homer over the left field wall, his No. 5, scoring behind Reynolds. Marty fouled to Lombardi.

BEARS ACCEPT INVITATION FOR CHARITY GAME

George Halas, owner and coach of the Chicago Bears, yesterday accepted an invitation to send his team against a colored all-star eleven in a charity football game in Soldiers' field the night of Sept. 23. The United Charities, Hull house, and Abraham Lincoln center will share in the proceeds.

The all-stars will be selected not only from schools for colored people but from other colleges as well. The squad will be coached by E. P. Hurt of Morgan college.

Bryant to Pitch for Cubs Today Against Reds

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 10.—Clay Bryant will pitch the final game for the Cubs against the Reds tomorrow. Clay virtually has recovered from the injury to his left wrist and forearm when he was hit with a line drive Sunday in Boston. Whitey Moore probably will pitch for the Reds.

A cloudburst which broke loose shortly after yesterday's game put three feet of water in the dugouts and otherwise moistened the premises. But the sizzling hours this morning dried things to the point that all evidences of precipitation were destroyed.

Franky Grayson, veteran Cincinnati baseball writer whom even ball players like, was presented with a huge birthday cake before today's game. It had 66 candles on it.

Manager Hartnett continues to say that Dizzy Dean will not be used before the Cubs' return to Chicago. Gabby says he doesn't think Diz is able to work.

GIANTS TO PLAY CRACKERS.

Chicago's American Giants will play a four game series this week-end, when the Atlanta Black Crackers invade the Giants' park at 39th street and Wentworth avenue. Single games are scheduled Saturday and Monday, with a double-header Sunday.

Rides Like a Veteran.

That's not quite true, but anyone who played all of McCombs' mounts would have lost little because the lad has galloped home on numerous longshots.

McCombs is a young fellow, but rides like a thoroughly seasoned veteran. He is alert at the post. He is a careful judge of a safe racing path although it does not show and carry him through some very narrow openings. He is a stout finisher and has made but few mistakes when it came time to start a winning drive.

McCombs comes from Detroit. He is a lad without a contract. He prefers to ride free lance. For a time the Lemar Stock farm had first call on his services. The call was cancelled and as a result McCombs is getting his pick of the best mounts in racing in nearly every race.

Wins in Close Finish.

He made sure that he would not go scoreless in the second race yesterday when his hard riding in the stretch made it possible for R. C. Thatcher's Agotaras to get a neck decision in a photo finish from Dixiana stable's Cup Defender and the early pacemaker, Usay.

But that wasn't the end of his afternoon's good work. He rode the favorite Birdlea in the sixth race. When Torchy and Her Reigh outfooted Birdlea in the early stages McCombs' job did not look encouraging.

He brought the daughter of Blue Larkspur around on the outside and was up in plenty of time to win from Torchy in a driving finish by a length and a half.

U. S. INCREASES CORN ESTIMATE; QUOTA AVOIDED

2,566,221,000 Bushel Crop Forecast.

The department of agriculture yesterday forecast 1938 corn production would be 2,566,221,000 bushels. This is 84 million bushels more than was forecast a month earlier. Soon afterward, Secretary Wallace announced that no steps would be taken to set up marketing quotas on the crop.

Secretary Wallace.

The 1938 crop and the estimated 320 million bushels carried over from last year do not constitute an excessive supply as defined in the present farm act, the department said.

The act provides that if prospective supplies on Aug. 1 amount to 117 per cent of "normal" consumption and exports, a referendum must be called among farmers to decide on marketing quotas.

The supply level at which the referendum would be necessary was placed by the department at 2,913,000,000 bushels. This year's prospective crop together with the carryover indicates total supplies of 2,886,000,000 bushels, or 27 million bushels below the supply requiring a referendum, the department said.

Ten year average consumption and exports are used as the basis in determining the "normal supply."

The government faced a borderline decision on the question of a referendum. Some private statisticians figured that the crop forecast by the department would make a referendum mandatory. On the basis of earlier figures it had been estimated that a supply of 2,823,000,000 bushels would be sufficient to require a referendum. The government, however, is said to have been anxious to avoid a poll of corn growers this year if possible because of the possible political effects.

Producers Free to Sell.

The decision not to call a referendum on markting quotas means that corn producers are free to sell or feed all the grain they produce this year. Under the quota system, if two-thirds of the growers approved, each producer would be required to store his share of the surplus or pay a penalty tax of 15 cents a bushel.

This year's indicated corn crop is about 79 million bushels less than was harvested last year. The 1937 crop of 2,645,000,000 was the first large crop harvested in the United States since 1934.

The department of agriculture estimated on July 10 this year that the 1938 crop would amount to 2,482,000,000 bushels. The upward revision in its estimate follows a month of favorable growing conditions over most of the midwestern corn belt.

Wheat production was estimated in the government report at 955,989,000 bushels, compared with last year's lead of 873,993,000 bushels. The 1938 winter wheat crop was placed at 688,458,000 bushels, compared with 715,425,000 bushels forecast a month ago. Last year winter production totaled 685,102,000 and over the last ten years has averaged 546,396,000 bushels.

Boost Spring Wheat Figure.

The 1938 spring wheat crop was estimated at 267,531,000 bushels, compared with 251,987,000 estimated in July. Spring wheat production in 1937 totaled 188,891,000 bushels. It has averaged 206,494,000 over the last ten year period.

The 1938 oats crop was estimated by the government at 1,041,000,000 bushels, against 1,146,000,000 in 1937 and 1,042,000,000 in the last ten years. The estimated production of oats is 41,000,000 millions less than the July 1 forecast.

RUSH FOR GOLD SLACKENS IN LONDON MARKET

Demand for gold in the London market tapered off yesterday. The American dollar declined in relation to other currencies in the foreign exchange market.

The British pound gained ⅝ cent to $4.88¼ after selling at a new low for more than a year on Tuesday. The French franc closed 0.00375 cent higher at 2.73 cents.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported the engagement of gold valued at $1,100,000 in England for shipment to this country. Earlier engagements of $760,000 in England, not previously reported, also were announced.

Wheat Prices Are Lifted by Active Buying

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Tuesday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$ .64½	$ .63¼	$1.13⅝
Corn	.51⅝	.51⅛	1.00⅜
Oats	.23	.23⅝	.29½
Rye	.42½	.41⅞	.82¾
*Soy beans	.80½	.79¼	.98¾

*October delivery.

Active buying of wheat futures attributed to millers and export interests yesterday advanced prices 1⅛ to 1¼ cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade. Closing sales were at the top. Some buying was done by speculators who were evening up their position in the market.

Export interests were buyers of September corn which closed ¼ cent a bushel higher. The new crop deliveries of corn were unchanged to ¼ cent a bushel lower. The oats market showed unusual activity and closed ⅜ to ⅝ cent higher on reports Chicago shippers had sold about 300,000 bushels to eastern markets, the largest single day's business in more than three years.

Flour Sales Fairly Large.

Fairly large sales of flour by northwestern and southwestern mills were reported. There were indications of a good export business in North American cash wheat, but sale of only 500,000 bushels was confirmed.

Belief that the government estimate on the American wheat crop scheduled to be issued late yesterday might show a yield smaller than anticipated was said to have been responsible for much professional short covering in futures.

Winnipeg closed ⅝ to ⅞ cent higher. Liverpool wheat futures were ⅝ to 1⅞ cent higher.

Crop Condition Ignored.

Corn traders paid little attention to the weather bureau's weekly report indicating the corn crop was deteriorating in a large area in the west and southwest.

Small receipts of cash corn at leading terminal markets, only 481,000 bushels yesterday, combined with a persistent export demand tended to strengthen the September option. The supply of corn at leading markets is expected to show a fairly large decrease this week.

LUDLUM STEEL AND ALLEGHANY VOTE TO MERGE

Pompton Lakes, N. J., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The Ludlum Steel company announced today its stockholders and those of the Alleghany Steel company of Pennsylvania had voted to merge the two alloy steel manufacturing companies into the Alleghany Ludlum Steel corporation.

W. F. Detweiler, chairman of the Alleghany Steel company, said the merger represented "a true merger of the assets and personnel of our respective companies."

The statement, given out at the registered office of the Ludlum Steel company here, said no elimination of plants was contemplated. It said the Alleghany plants were at Brackenridge and West Leechburg, Pa., and the Ludlum plants at Watervliet and Dunkirk, N. Y. The Ludlum company has two subsidiaries, the Wallingford Steel company at Wallingford, Conn., and the Forging and Casting corporation at Detroit, Mich.

The statement listed the combined assets of the two companies as $31,815,000 as of Dec. 31, 1937.

WARD SALES DIP 4.48 PCT. IN JULY UNDER YEAR AGO

Montgomery Ward & Co. sold 4.48 per cent less merchandise in July than in the same month a year ago, executives of the mail order house said yesterday. Sales in the six months ended July 31 were 6.49 per cent below those of the corresponding 1937 period.

July sales totaled $29,075,336, compared with $30,438,710 last year. For the six months sales amounted to $190,593,738, against a total of $203,825,772 reported for the six months of 1937.

The federal reserve board reported yesterday that department store sales in the United States during July were 12 per cent lower than a year ago.

MEDIATION BOARD TO OPEN RAILROAD PAY HEARING TODAY

Mediation of the railroad wage dispute will begin at 11 a. m. today at the Drake hotel. The entire national mediation board is scheduled to hear the arguments between railroad managements and labor on the managements' proposal to cut wages 15 per cent.

The board consists of Dr. William M. Leiserson, chairman; George A. Cook, and Otto S. Beyer.

The railroads, as the plaintif, will present their arguments first. H. A. Enochs, chairman of the carriers joint conference committee, will tell the board that the railroads' revenues have declined so much that the carriers are unable to continue the present wage rates regardless of their desire to do so.

Railroad labor is represented by two groups in its front against the wage cut. Eighteen unions will be represented by the Railway Labor Executives association of which George M. Harrison is chairman. The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, of which A. F. Whitney is president, is acting independently. The meetings will be held behind closed doors.

Cheese Glut Hits Wisconsin; Asks U. S. Aid

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Aug. 10.—Faced with one of the most serious cheese surpluses in recent years, Wisconsin today asked help from the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation. A request that the FSCC purchase American, Swiss, brick, munster, and limburger cheese for relief purposes was sent by Ralph E. Ammon, acting director of the state department of agriculture and markets.

The request was made upon authorization of the department's advisory board. His letter, Ammon said, cited the present supply and the trend of production as basis for the request.

Storage Holdings Large.

Department of markets officials disclosed that present cold storage holdings of American cheese are in excess of 100 million pounds. The surplus storage holdings of American cheese in the United States on July 1, 1938, the department revealed, were 10,491,000 pounds larger than a year ago, and about 25 million pounds over the 1933-37 average.

Ammon confirmed reports that cheese warehouses in Wisconsin are full and he said it "possibly is true" that railroad refrigerator cars also are being used to store the present surplus. He insisted he had heard nothing about a reported "holiday" in cheese production.

Meanwhile, it was learned on good authority that the recently launched Wisconsin agricultural authority, a quasi private corporation which operates with an annual state appropriation of $100,000, is considering the advisability of lending its efforts immediately toward finding new outlets and wider distribution for Wisconsin's cheese industry.

Farmers Consider Holiday.

Monroe, Wis., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Cheese makers in this area today talked about the possibility of a cheese making "holiday." The reason is a large surplus of cheese which the market has not yet been able to absorb. One plan suggested was for farmers to skim their milk and sell the cream. It is believed that the farmers would be able to get more for the cream than they can for cheese in the present glutted market.

CHICAGO HOUSES COMMENT.

Chicago commodity houses yesterday commented on the seriousness of the cheese surplus in Wisconsin. Thomson & McKinnon, large commodity and security house, advised its customers:

"We have the following from our Madison, Wis., office: 'Just talked to butter and cheese man. Says no way to avoid a cheese holiday. Cheese storage space in this section all filled, refrigerator cars standing on track filled with cheese and no place to ship.'"

One Chicago commodity dealer linked the present cheese situation with the failure of the government to go through with a cheese buying program. He declared that the government bought 3,000,000 pounds of cheese for persons on relief and then "pulled out of the market." He said that Wisconsin cheese holdings on Aug. 1 were the largest in the history of the state.

10 MILLION ISSUE OF UTILITY BONDS PUT ON MARKET

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—A Public Service Electric and Gas company issue of $10,000,000 of first and refunding mortgage bonds, 3¼ per cent series due in 1968, will be offered tomorrow. The underwriting group is headed by Morgan Stanley & Co. The bonds are priced at 104¾ and accrued interest.

The proceeds will be added to the cash funds of the company to be expended for property additions and improvements. The company's construction budget authorized for 1938 is $20,000,000. The company operates New Jersey.

The Phillips Petroleum company today informed stockholders they will be given the right to subscribe to the company's new issue of $25,000,000 of 3 per cent convertible debentures at 100 per cent of par value. The debentures will be dated Sept. 1, 1938. The right to subscribe, which will be given to holders of record Aug. 19, will expire Sept. 2. Stockholders will have the right to purchase $5.62 principal amount of the debentures for each share of stock held.

CONGRESS APPROVES COSTA RICAN BILL TO SEIZE U. S. UTILITY

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Congress passed by a vote of 40 to 1 today a measure authorizing the government to expropriate properties of the Electric Bond and Share company.

The measure includes a grant of power to negotiate a loan to pay indemnity. Earlier a congressional commission approved the proposal, which was advanced by communist representatives.

The commission said this was the only way to end difficulties over unification contracts which it asserted extend the period of new rate schedules until 1980. There have been several disputes betwen the company and the national electric board.

The organization in Costa Rica is the Costa Rica Electric Light and Traction Company, Ltd., owned by American and Foregin Power, an affiliate in Electric Bond and Share. It operates in San Jose and 32 adjacent communities, and has $3,300,000 in assets.

Out of total revenue of $56,371,000 in 1936 of American and Foreign Power, the Costa Rica company accounted for only $519,000.

POWER OUTPUT IS INCREASED BY HOT WEATHER

Production of electricity in the United States during the week ended Aug. 6 increased 1 per cent over output of the preceding week, the Edison Electric institute reported yesterday. Production also showed the smallest decline from the like period a year ago of any week since that ended Feb. 5.

A total of 2,155,847,000 kilowatt hours of power was generated, compared with 2,093,907,000 in the week ended July 30. The output in the week ended Aug. 6 was only 6.4 per cent less than in the corresponding week last year.

The widespread hot weather, which caused increased use of electric fans, refrigerating machinery, and electric driven irrigating pumps in drouth areas, was chiefly responsible for the gain in power production, according to the institute.

Output of the Commonwealth Edison company group increased. These companies, which serves the Chicago district, produced 128,902,000 kilowatt hours, against only 124,997,000 in the week ended July 30.

DENIES RAILROAD CAPITALIZATION IS TOO LARGE

Statements that America's railroads are over capitalized are untrue, Donald D. Conn told the Waukegan Chamber of Commerce yesterday. He is executive vice president of the Transportation Association of America.

Conn said that many of these statements are being made by labor leaders and politicians and they are the most harmful propaganda entering the whole transportation crisis. Actually, he said, the burden of fixed charges on the railroads has been declining instead of increasing.

"Today, the burden offixed charges, in spite of the depression," Conn said, "requires fewer cents out of every dollar paid by shippers than during the first eight years of the century, when the railroads were at the peak of their prosperity. During those years approximately 24 cents out of a dollar of revenue was required to service fixed charges. In 1937, only 15 cents was required."

Chicago Great Western Asks to Buy Short Line

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Trustees of the Chicago Great Western Railroad company asked the interstate commerce commission today for authority to purchase 3.71 miles of line from the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway company. The line runs between Beverly and Stillings Junction, in Platte county, Mo. The Great Western proposes to pay the Rock Island $5,000 and to release it from certain obligations.

New Haven Road to Offer $1,640,000 of Certificates

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission authorized the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company today to issue $1,640,000 of trustees equipment certificates. They will be sold at 100.14 per cent of par and accrued dividends.

Young, Bank Near Accord in C. & O. Row

New York, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Robert R. Young and the powerful Wall street banking group against which he fought bitterly in and out of court for control of the Chesapeake & Ohio railway have in effect agreed to a truce, well informed Wall street circles said today.

Robert R. Young.

Young and his erstwhile chief foes, W. C. Potter, chairman of Guaranty Trust company, and Earle Baille, partner of J. and W. Seligman & Co., were said to be in substantial agreement on the main points involved in dissolution of Chesapeake corporation. Chesapeake corporation is the former middle holding company of the system built up by the late Van Sweringen brothers, O. P. and M. J. It is corporate owner of a large block of C. & O. stock.

Young Now on Vacation.

Young is now vacationing in Newport, R. I., leaving attorneys and associates of Bailie to work out details of the truce.

Chief factors still unsolved, it was learned, are matters affecting the tax liability of directors of Chesapeake corporation, and its parent, Alleghany corporation, and possibly also affecting stockholders of the two corporations.

The legal report is due next week, after which it will be decided whether a special meeting of stockholders of Chesapeake corporation is necessary for final approval of the plan.

Control and management policy of the C. & O. is not immediately affected by the Chesapeake corporation dissolution plan, it was said.

Price Is Main Problem.

Although Chesapeake corporation owns a large block of C. & O. preference stock which must be disposed of in the dissolution, and although that class of stock has the right to elect two directors of C. & O., the immediate problem is primarily one of satisfactory disposal price rather than potential control power, informed sources explained.

It is understood that there is no indication in the near future of any major expansion of the C. & O. This contradicts earlier reports that the C. & O. management had plans to enlarge the road along the lines of the old Van Sweringen plans.

The C. & O., it was said, will actively operate the Nickel Plate road as an integral part of its system only if virtually all of the holders of the Nickel Plate's 6 per cent unsecured notes, which mature Oct. 1, agree before that date to a three-year extension.

No plans for active integration and operation of the Erie as a part of the C. & O. system are at present contemplated, nor are likely to be until the Erie is out of its reorganization, it was explained.

Court Fight Won By Bankers.

When Young, in June, lost his fight in the Federal courts for the right to vote control stock in Chesapeake corporation, owned by Alleghany corporation, which he controls, but in possession of Guaranty, as trustee for collateral pledged against Alleghany bonds, Guaranty voted the stock to unseat Young as chairman of Chesapeake corporation.

The directors opposed to Young selected a committee headed by Bailie to draw up a plan for dissolution of the corporation. The committee considered a plan of dissolution presented by Young, but rejected it.

Eventually the two groups reached a tentative agreement on main points, but the directors declined without full legal advice to take the personal liability that might ensue. This advice will be included in the report due next week.

New York Central Loss in June Is $2,178,000

The New York Central had a loss of $2,178,000 in June after all charges against losses of $1,978,379 in May and $1,174,307 in June, 1937. For the six months ended June 30 the road had a loss of $17,293,000, against a net income of $6,495,124, equal to $1.01 a share, in the first six months of last year.

STOCK PRICES SLIP LOWER IN DULL SESSION

Prices Close Near Day's Lows.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—Stock market prices slipped lower today in continued quiet trading. Losses in the leaders ranged from fractions to around 2 points. A total of 809,880 shares moved.

Several feeble rallies failed to raise the list. Entering the final hour, many pivotal issues showed substantial gains, but moderately heavy selling wiped out most of the improvements. Closing prices were near the day's lows.

Traders displayed extreme wariness in the face of conflicting trade developments. Sentiment was dampened by the United States Steel corporation statement on shipments of finished products in July and the omission of the common dividend by American Sugar Refining.

Steels and Motors Weak.

Steels, motors, coppers, and rubbers were ir free supply in the industrial section. Losses of fractions to one point or more were chalked up by General Motors, Chrysler, United States Steel, Bethlehem, United States Rubber, Anaconda, Kennecott, and International Nickel. Kindred issues weakened in sympathy.

One of the bright spots of the day was the continued good demand for Gillette. That stock was most active issue and advanced ⅞ point to 10¾. Radio corporation also was active and higher. Other communication shares were mixed.

In the aviations, Bendix found good support and added ½ point. Douglas, Boeing, and Curtiss-Wright stocks cased. Railroads gave the best performance in the early trading, with leaders rising a point or so. The gains were wiped out, however, when the selling became general.

Utility Shares Are Slow.

Power and light shares dragged throughout the session. International Harvester was a weak spot among the machinery stocks. It dropped 1¾ points.

Several preferred issues showed conspicuous price changes on both sides in nominal trading. American Smelting was up 3¾ points and Curtis Publishing climbed 5½ points. On the other hand, American Waterworks slumped 5¾ points and Paramount convertible first preferred dropped almost as much.

GERMAN SHARES FALL

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—(AP)—A slump on the Berlin boerse which began Monday continued today. More shares were dumped on the market, chiefly by Jews in the process of liquidating their holdings.

The Berliner Boersenzeitung said the international situation, particularly as affected by the conflict in the far east and the situation in Czechoslovakia, accounted for the slump.

Compared with April 1, when the policy of credit expansion ended, the following losses are typical:

General Electric, 15 per cent; Schuckert, 21; Siemens, 22; I. G. Farben, 14; Rhenist Steel Works, 20; United Steel Works, 16; Daimler, 22; Bavarian Motor Works, 20; Rheinmetallborsig, 21;, and German Oil, 25.

EXEMPT UTILITY FROM FILING OF 37 MILLION ISSUE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—The Securities and Exchange commission announced today it would approve a request by the Indianapolis Light and Power company that the company not be required to file a declaration in connection with a financing proposal. The request concerned issuance of $32,000,000 in thirty year 3¾ per cent first mortgage bonds and $5,500,000 in ten year serial notes.

The bonds are to be issued under a mortgage and deed of trust with the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company of Chicago. The serial notes are to be issued under an agreement with the Bankers Trust Company of New York as trustee. The notes will not be secured by a lien, but will be general obligations of the applicant.

Olney, Ill., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The Pure Oil company announced today completion of its thirteenth well in the Clay and Richland county pools. It said the well had a big flow. The company is ready to drill at nine new locations, eight in the Clay City township field. The Fortney company announced completion of two producers near Olney. Exchange Cuts Listing Charge to Aid Business

The Chicago Stock exchange yesterday reduced stock listing fees by about 50 per cent in an effort to increase its business. The exchange also set Sept. 19 as the time limit for free listings.

The board of governors approved a joint recommendation of the executive committee and the committee on new business and public relations for the reduced fees. The board set a minimum of $1,000 and a maximum of $10,000 for original listings, with a graduated scale based on shares outstanding.

The schedule [per share] follows:

	New Rate.	Old Rate.
Up to 250,000 shares	⅜c	1 c
250,000 to 500,000 shares	½c	1 c
500,000 to 1,000,000 shares	¼c	½c
1,000,000 to 3,000,000 shares	¼c	¾c
Over 3,000,000 shares	¼c	⅛c

Betts Explains Time Limit.

In an effort to attract business, the Chicago exchange has been listing, without a fee, stocks which are also listed on the New York stock exchange. Explaining the setting of a time limit for free listings, Arthur M. Betts, chairman of the exchange, said:

"Our campaign to obtain the listings of large national issues having important middle western interests, both as to business and stockholders, has been a successful one and of great importance to our exchange. There are a number of additional corporations which have the matter of listing up for consideration and it is expected a decision will be reached before Sept. 19. It will not be necessary to complete the details of listing by that date, but a notice of bona fide intention to list must be given."

Chrysler Application Approved.

The board approved the applications of the Chrysler corporation to list 4,528,484 shares of $5 par value common stock, and of the Stewart-Warner corporation to list 1,300,582 shares of $5 par common stock.

The board approved the application of Albert M. Schmelzle, a partner of Fusz-Schmelzle & Co., St. Louis, for membership.

Percy Graham Jr. was suspended for one year for insolvency. Lawrence N. Purcell was suspended for a year for violation of the exchange rule which prohibits members from being employed by corporations dealing in securities with the public.

U. S. STEEL CORP. SHIPMENTS ARE LOWEST SINCE '34

Finished steel products shipped during July by the United States Steel corporation totaled 441,570 tons, compared with 478,057 tons in June, the company reported yesterday. In July last year the corporation shipped 1,186,752 tons of finished products.

July shipments were the smallest for any month since December, 1934, when shipments totaled 418,630 tons. The high for this year was registered in March, when the figure was 572,199, against a 1938 low in May of 465,081 tons.

Part of the decrease in July shipments was attributed by executives to the fact that there were only 25 working days in that month compared with 26 in June. Average daily shipments in July for the 25 working days were 17,663 tons. June daily shipments for the 26 working days were 18,387 tons.

Workers' Cost of Living Slightly Lower in July

New York, Aug. 10.—(AP)—The cost of living of wage earners in the United States declined .02 per cent from June to July, said a report made public today by the national industrial conference board. Living costs in July were 20.6 per cent higher than the 1933 depression low; 13.8 per cent lower than in July, 1929, and 2.7 per cent lower than in July a year ago.

Profits of Eastman Kodak Decline.

Lower earnings were reported yesterday in interim statements issued to stockholders by the International Nickel company and Eastman Kodak company.

Several other corporations reported profits for the June quarter and the first half of the year which were below earnings in the corresponding 1937 periods. Fairchild Aviation corporation was an exception, reporting a gain in profits for the first half of 1938. Western Union Telegraph company operated at a loss in the June quarter. The United States Rubber company reported a loss for the first half of 1938.

International Nickel's profit in the June quarter was less than half that of a year earlier, amounting to $6,618,487 against $14,199,395. For the six months ended June 30 net profit was $16,732,251 compared with $25,914,352 in the first half of last year.

Kodak's 24 Week Net $7,051,763.

Sales of photographic products, the company said, were not seriously affected by the curtailment in the nation's business during the first half of 1938.

"Income from operations, however," the company statement added, "was reduced considerably because of higher operating costs."

Fairchild Aviation's net profit for the six months ended June 30 was $159,508, equal to 47 cents a share, compared with $85,059 or 25 cents a share in the corresponding 1937 period. The company manufactures aerial photographic and surveying equipment.

Western Union Loss $438,957.

Western Union Telegraph company operated at a loss of $438,957 in the quarter ended June 30, stockholders were informed. This was smaller than the $1,079,744 loss incurred in the preceding three months. Net income in the second quarter last year amounted to $687,861, equal to 66 cents a share.

United States Rubber company and subsidiaries had consolidated net loss of $239,213 in the six months ended June 30. This was after charges, including inventory adjustments of $1,775,365, and deductions of income applicable to minority interests in subsidiaries. For the first time the company included its thirty-nine subsidiaries in a consolidated financial report. Comparative figures, therefore, are unavailable.

VALUE OF HOGS CUT MILLIONS BY MARKET BREAKS

Quotations Slip Another 25 to 50 Cents.

The aggregate value of all hogs on farms was reduced more than 50 million dollars during the last two days of price slashing at all markets in the country, it was estimated yesterday. The total value is more than 100 million dollars below that of a month ago, trade interests said.

Yesterday's prices at Chicago were cut 25 to 50 cents per 100 pounds, and not all offerings were sold.

Top grades brought $8.85, compared with $9.35 the preceding day and $9.60 Monday. Two weeks ago the same kinds were sold at $10.25. Losses were even larger at many of the other markets. Best grades in Kansas City and St. Joseph brought $8.55; in Omaha, Sioux City, and St. Paul, $8.50, and in Indianapolis, $8.65.

Average Lowest of Year.

The decline brought the Chicago average down to $7.55, the lowest of the year and the lowest for August since 1934. A year ago yesterday hogs averaged $12.20.

Fear that the fall break is in progress caused farmers to continue the heavy selling. Eleven markets during the first three days of this week received 156,000 head, an increase of 17,000 over a week ago and 65,000 more than arrived a year ago.

Only one load of prime 224 pound light butchers brought the $8.85 top, with the bulk of 175 to 250 pound averages within a range of $8.35 to $8.70.

Other Live Stock Declines.

Drastic price cuts also occurred in other branches of the live stock markets. A liberal run of fed steers was sent in, and these slumped mostly 25 cents, selling 25 to 50 cents and more under last week's close. The top fell to $12.50 and the bulk sold from $8.50 to $12.00.

Slaughter lambs sold at the lowest prices of the season. Losses of 25 cents were general, with top kinds at $8.50. Feeders were strong to higher, one load of ewe lambs going to the country at $8.25, only 25 cents under top fat stock.

DEFINITE UPTURN IN BUSINESS SEEN BY SECY. ROPER

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Secretary of Commerce Roper said a checkup of economic statistics today showed "that the improved business morale which was in evidence a month ago has been translated into definite business progress."

Returning to his desk after a month's trip to England, he told reporters:

"Gradual improvement is appearing all along the line and indications point to further momentum through the fall. It is neither expected nor desired that the upward trend will reach boom proportions, but that the advance will be on a safe and sound foundation.

"There has been a contraseasonal advance in industrial output and construction activity, expansion in freight trafic, and less than seasonal contraction in retail sales of general merchandise. The significance of this improvement has been increased employment and larger pay rolls in numerous industries."

General Motors to Appeal New Jersey's Assessment

Linden, N. J., Aug. 9.—(AP)—General Motors corporation moved today to appeal the $5,000,000 valuation placed on its auto assembly plant here by local tax assessors. City Clerk Thomas Weiser's aids said a copy of the appeal had been served on him, but Joseph T. Conroy, president of the Union county board of taxation which would hear the appeal, said it had not reached him. It was understood the appeal charged that the assessment was discriminatory with other Linden industrial valuations.

This action was decided upon after a hearing of a creditor's petition for the sale. The trustee of the company reported its assets were $370,000 in real estate and $86,827 in machinery and other property. The principal creditor is the Reconstruction Finance corporation, to which $266,000 is owed on a note for $300,000.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Tangled Oats Harvested.

August 10, 1938.

OUT in the Du Page county farm neighborhood farmers are completing the harvesting of one of the worst tangled oat crops they have handled in recent years. Every man was called on to contribute ideas on the best way of harvesting to get the greatest amount of high quality oats and straw.

The oats had been whipped by the winds, pounded into the ground by heavy rains during the ripening period, and left in a tangled mass for the harvesters. Different methods were used successfully on the various farms, some using a combination of schemes to save the crop.

Two Methods Used.

On the E. D. Rice farm, two miles south of Wheaton, two methods were followed in harvesting this year's oat crop. The harvesters started by cutting the earliest ripening oats with an ordinary binder. The bundle carrier was removed and no twine was used, so that the loose grain could be kicked out of the binder directly onto the stubble.

The untreshed grain was left on the tops of the stubble to dry. In some cases it required two days for the grain to dry out enough to be threshed. Then with a pick-up attachment fastened to the side of the combine thresher the oats were elevated into the machine and threshed. The straw was blown out in windrows and later baled. This method made it possible to get the grain cut and threshed several days earlier than would have been possible if the harvesters had waited for the grain to ripen enough to be handled with the combine harvester. Usually grain that is to be combined is allowed to remain in the field ten days after it is ready to be cut with a binder.

In the second plan followed on the Rice farm last week—after the oats had become ripe enough to be combined — the harvesters cut and threshed the grain all in one operation.

Under both plans the straw was blown out of the combine harvester in windrows. Then with a pick-up attachment the straw was elevated from the tops of the stubble into the baler in which it was pressed and wired. The bales were forced out of the baler directly on to a wagon and hauled to the barn.

On another farm adjoining the Du Page county place the first grain cut was harvested with a binder, shocked, and threshed in an ordinary threshing machine.

Runs Cutter Bar Low.

The manager of the Tribune farm has been able to do a clean job of picking up all the tangled oats by running the cutter bar on the combine close to the ground. A high percentage of the oats was flat on the ground or badly tangled near the surface. Fortunately the oats were grown on rolling, well drained land or on tiled ground where water does not stand for any length of time. The grain and straw dried out readily so that the crop was not damaged.

By cutting the oats low, a big crop of straw was saved. The straw was blown out onto the stubble and allowed to fall in windrows instead of being scattered evenly over the ground to rot in the field. With a bull or long Tom rake following the combine the straw was raked up and immediately baled and hauled in and stored.

The work of combining grain has been an unusually slow and tedious job at the farm this season. The straw was so badly tangled it was necessary to drive the combine with a tractor running at its lowest speed.

Damage Is Reported in Many Areas.

Soaking rains are needed in a large area west of the Mississippi river to prevent serious damage to the corn crop. The weather bureau reported yesterday that drouth prevailed in southern Missuori, northern Minnesota, and parts of the plains states. Soaking rains last week relieved southern Iowa.

Temperatures in the leading agricultural states last week were the highest of the season. They averaged 6 to 10 degrees above normal in the larger part of the grain belt. Some points in Kansas and western Missouri reported a weekly mean of 88 degrees.

STEEL PLANTS' PRODUCTION IS ABOUT STEADY

The nation's steel mills will operate again this week at 40 per cent of their theoretical capacity, Iron Age said yesterday. Although ingot production in the Chicago district is scheduled four points lower at only 34 per cent of capacity, and in the Pittsburgh area one point lower at 30 per cent, the magazine estimated that upward trends in other steel-making districts will offset these downward movements.

The 40 per cent operating schedule, which was attained last week, is the highest since last November. Influential in maintaining it are the production increases in Detroit and the Cleveland-Lorain area. In the former district, where the Ford Motor company this week resumed steel making, the production rate lifted from 39 per cent to 46½ per cent.

New Business Gains.

Iron Age asserted that new business thus far in August is running in excess of the July weekly average, which in turn exceeded that of June. The bulk of the current buying of steel was attributed to inventory depletion. Automobile manufacturers, among the largest consumers, have not entered the steel market in force.

The magazine declared that production must rise well above present levels to wipe out steel companies' losses. Analyses of July billings of three central district producers show that net prices in July were approximately $7 a ton below those of June.

Scrap Prices Advance.

Steel scrap continues to rise. Prices of the scrap, often termed a barometer of the industry, are up $1 at Chicago, $1.50 at Cleveland, $1 at Buffalo, and 50 cents at Philadelphia. Pittsburgh quotations are unchanged. The advances stepped the Iron Age scrap composite price up 50 cents to $14.83 this week, the highest since last October.

Structural steel contracts awarded this week totaled almost 17,500 tons, Iron Age said. A bridge in Washington will take 4,500 tons. Railroad buying, although light, is scheduled to rise if the New York Central road is granted permission by the Interstate Commerce commission to float a proposed $5,000,000 loan.

Sources of Bank Funds.

Just how does a bank operate? What are the sources of its funds? How does it make money by the use of such sums and at the same time protect the persons who provided the funds?

There are two principal sources of a bank's funds. First, the money put up by the bank's owners, the shareholders. Second, the money put into the bank by depositors. The money invested by the shareholders ordinarily averages between 10 and 15 per cent of the bank's total funds. This sum is carried on the bank's balance sheets as "capital stock," "undivided profits," and "surplus."

The remaining 85 to 90 per cent of the bank's funds is largely money placed in the bank by depositors. Such depositors range from the child who puts in $1 to get a bank book with his name on it to corporations and various public bodies which put in millions of dollars. All depositors in a very real sense "lend" to the bank such sums as they deposit. The interest they receive on their deposits is the interest on a loan.

It thus becomes the bank's problem to make as much money as possible in order to [1] pay large earnings to its owners, the shareholders, and [2] pay interest on the money it has "borrowed" from its creditors, the depositors. At the same time, the bank must protect the funds of both by not taking undue risks.

REFRIGERATOR SALES FALL.
